NO FRAUD WAS PROVED.

Osgoode Hall, Nov. 12, 1895.

At the non-judy sittings judgment was reserved in Dance v. Morrison, The next case was Moirs v. Davey, an action to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent made by the defendant James Davey to his wife the co-defendant Jane Davey. In March, 1894, the defendant James Davey brought an action against Moir McColl, contractors, the present plaintiffs, but his action was dismissed with costs taxed at $200. These costs have not been paid and the plaintiff in order to obtain them, sue on behalf of themselves and all other creditors of defendant James Davey to set aside a parcels of land in Toronto. The conveyance was made in January, 1894, and the plaintiffs say the defendant James Davey then contemplated bringing an action against them and so put the property in his wife's name. They also say he was insolvent and his wife knew it. Both defendants deny all unlawful conduct and say that the husband held the property always in trust for his wife, as it was paid for with her own money. Wallace Nesbitt and George Ross for plaintiff. Lobb for defendants. The case was settled almost as soon as called, the plaintiff accepting $50 without costs. Dr. Zuleinski's action against the College of Physicians and Surgeons was dismissed with costs. The foctor not being able to produce a discoma from any university nor able to parcels of land in Toronto. The contor not being able to produce a disoma from any university nor able to prove that the defendants ever passed a by-law allowing eclectics practising in 1870 to register. M. H. East for plaintiff; H. S. Osler for defendants. Mitchell v. Mitchell. The plaintiffs are the Dominion Waterproof Company, and claim that the defendant Adam B. Mitchell is infringing their Dominion patent of certain improvements in the manufacture of waterproof collars, cuffs, and shirt fronts. The defendant says that the alleged proof collars, cuffs, and shirt fronts. The defendant says that the alleged invention is not new, but has been already the subject matter of three different United States patents; that the laying of a transparent waterproof film of celluloid or other similar compound over certain patterns of goods is not capable of being patented, such a process being quite old. Clute. Q.C., and Frank C. Cooke for plaintiff; J. A. Patterson for defendant. The case was not concluded when the court rose.

A case of interest to shareholders of corporations was Smith v. Walker-ville Malleable Iron Co., heard before the full Court of Appeal. The defendants complained of the judgment of MacMahon, J., directing them to pay $550 and costs of action to plaintiff, under the following circumstances: On January 28th, 1893, the defendants duly issued their stock certificate, No. 47, certifying that H. F. White is entitled to twenty-two $25 shares of the capital stock of the iron company and dants complained of the judgment of MacMahon, J., directing them to pay $550 and costs of action to plaintiff, under the following circumstances:
On January 28th, 1893, the defendants duly issued their stock certificate, No. 47, certifying that H. F. White is entitled to twenty-two $25 shares of the capital stock of the iron company and that the stock is "transferable only on the books of the company in person or by attorney on the surrender of this certificate." On April 3, 1893, White sold the shares to plaintiff, and on the back of the certificate which was delivered to plaintiff is endorsed a transfer of the stock to him signed by White, and appointing plaintiff White's attorney to transfer the same on the books of the company. When in February, 1894, plaintiff presented the certificate to the president of the company and asked for a new one in his (plaintiff's) name, and that the transfer to him be entered in company's books, it appeared that White, who was secretary-treasurer of the company, had issued all the capital stock of the company. Other stock to which White was entitled had been issued by the company, and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company, and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company, and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company, and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company and to the extent at least of plaintiff's 22 shares there had been accepted by the company

It also gave a decrease in Europe of 392,000 bushels. In the latter part of the session the market strengthened up a little, December selling at 57½c to 57½c, and closing at 57½c. This was caused principally by the covering of shorts and the larger clearances. New York was a seller of wheat.
