Kola Tonic Wine

Made from Kola, Celery
and Pepsin

The Kola nut is grown in the Western Territories of Africa, and is not likely to remain much longer in obscurity, if the properties, which of good authority it is said to possess are found to be as stated from information communicated to the Pfg. Agricultural Association, by Sir Thos. H. Thurston and Mr. Thos. Christy, F. C. S., who have proven that Kola feeds the muscular system and prevents a rapid waste of tissues. The British Government have been making experiments with the pure paste of the Kola nut in order to ascertain how far it would meet the difficulty of transporting provisions in time of war as a concentrated sustainer of human life. Mr. Christy strongly advises planters to grow it more extensively, as its use when its properties become better known, the usefulness of Kola in hot climates when water frequently contains the germs of various diseases, should be great, as a small quantity added purifies and changes foul water that would be dangerous to drink unless it were first boiled or treated in this way.

Dr. Nachtigall, from personal experience, gives some interesting information regarding Kola. He states it has a marvellous effect when taken into the human system; it is agreeable, stimulating and nourishing. In some places where Kola happens to be scarce, such value is set upon it that for the dry powder of the nut an equal weight of gold dust is given in exchange. This wonderful nut has risen into such request as a medicine that for the public good the authorities are investigating its many properties, and there is a satisfaction in knowing the same is being done in this country and elsewhere, and evidence has been already collected to prove that Kola has an extraordinary influence in counteracting the effects of alcohol, and that it acts as a powerful Tonic in cases where the digestive organs are defective; that it purifies foul water, and that it sustains hard workers with very little food.

The Kola Tree grows to a height of 20 or 30 feet; two crops are obtained in the year; in June and November. Medical men prescribe the Kola before meals to people who have reason to feel anxious about the state of their Liver and Kidneys. As a Medicine, Kola will undoubtedly take an important place in the future. It seems admirably suited to the case of Invalids who require something strengthening without having an appetite or taste food.

Kola Tonic Wine is manufactured from Kola, Celery and Pepsin, and in this combination the Hygiene Kola Co. have accomplished a scientific triumph, because it has been proven that not only diseases of almost every kind give way to its health giving properties, but it puts the system into such a condition of perfect healthfulness that it is a practical proof against all diseases. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Rheumatism, and all nervous troubles can be cured by using Kola Tonic Wine; thousands have been cured when all other remedies have failed. To enjoy good health keep your stomach right and the use of Kola Tonic Wine will do that. Physicians all state that Kola, Celery and Pepsin is the best combination of any remedy ever offered for sale.
