INTERESTING LETTER PROM REV. JOHN SCOTT.

Under date 31st December Mr. Scott writes as follows to the Napauce Beaver; I have been here about two months, and I have been here about two months, and can now form an idea of the country, its climate, people, prospects, etc. I can truly say that the land it wast beyond conception. God alone knows all about it; just mak of plains alone in British America with an area of 205.000 square miles, strotching from the Lake of the Woods to the Rocky Mountains, and from the United States boundary to the Arctic Ocean. States boundary to the Arctic Ocean. Manitoba is but a small part of this immense region. There are three vast stoppes of prairies, the one rising above the other until they reach their Western limits at the base of the Rocky Mountains. The Red River Valley, one of the three, has an area of 58,600 square miles. Of this the Lokas Winninga, Winningasis. Manitoba Lakes Winnipeg, Winnipegesis, Manitoba, Cedar and St. Martins, occupy about 18,900 square miles. The Southern part of Red River Valley has an area of 6,900 square miles; it is the most fertile of all the plains of the West, and easiest of access to a peo-ple coming in from the east Supposing that the half of this, or 8,400 square miles (2,176,000 acres) wore sown with wheat, even at the average of Minnesota, seventeen bushels to the acro, the crops of the Red River Valley would be almost 41,000,000 of bushels. A field on the Pembina River near this, which this year escaped the grasshoppers, yielded 1800 bushels or fortyfive to the acre.

The prairie here has the appearance of a perfect level, but has actually a declension of half a foot to the mile, enough to drain off the water. This depression is to the North. In the trough of this valley the Red River flows into Lake Winnipeg, thence by the Nelson River into Hudson's Bay. Red Lake, Pembina, Assimeboine and other smaller rivers flows into it, the banks of which are fringed by woods of oak, poplar, asp, willow, and box alder, or the ash leaved maple, one of which variety may be seen growing in the garden of the Presbyterian Manse, Napanee. The soil on its banks has a depth of about two feet black loom, six feet yellow sand, and from forty to eighty feet of blue mud, this extends all over the prairie and seems in-exhaustable. Patches of this land have been cropped without manure for thirty years, by the Indians and Half-Breeds, and are yet as fertile as ever. For nearly all the grains grown in Ontario it is the finest soil on this Continent, perhaps in the the world. Farmers in Minnesota have found this out, and in great numbers fare selling out and coming to Manitoba.
Spring wheat grown here, weighs sometimes as high as seventeen pounds to the bushel. A specimen of this has been sent to the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia. Potatoes reach perfection here, you see them sometimes weighing two pounds each, and 450 bushels to the acre. At Moorhead, on the same soil as Red River, a patch of turnips that escaped the "hoppers" yielded 1000 bushels to the acre. So we were information

For grazing this country can hardly be surpassed. Even after the "hoppers" had destroyed the grain of the settlers, and swopt over, the prairies, there was plenty of grass for the cattle. One woman from Ontario told me that from two cows she made eighteen pounds of butter per week, and sold it at the door for thirty cents per pound. Hay can be gathered in summer —hundreds of tons of it—for the cutting. For settlers there is a perfect contrast between this and the region back of the Bald Mountains. I do not see anything to pro-vent a man from getting on here whon he can get a farm of 160 acres for settling up-on it. There is wood yet on the banks of the streams. Oak wood sells here at from $8 to $4 a cord. If wood should fail, there is farther west 80,000 square mile of Lignite.* At the Souris river the beds are seven feet thick. At Porcupine creek they are eighteen feet thick. The Lord provides for the homes of millions of

As to climate, I have found the winter clear, dry and pleasant. It is colder than some parts of Ontario, but on account of the dry atmosphere it is not so much felt. It is very healthy; women having poor health in Ontario often becoming strong and vigorous out here. Stouter, healthier children I never saw anywhere. I have not seen a funeral since coming here. Spring opens quite as soon as on the Bay of Quinte. Winter sets in about the begin-ning of November. The fall of snow is much lighter here than on the St. Lawrence. We have just enough to make good sleigh-We have just enough to make good sleighing. For four years the country has been swept by grasshoppers, but God that sent them can just as easily keep them away. The impression here is that they will not return for a series of years. If so there will be a great emigration westwards. Let people come; there is a stretch of one thousand miles from this to Peace River yet to be possessed. Wheat and barleyriponed there this season on the 12th of August. In the Peace River Valley there are millions of acros ready Valley there are millions of acros ready for the plough. At how River, 800 miles west of here, there are plains where cattle west of here, there are plains where cattle graze all winter. This place is on the great highway. Seven steamboats with barges pass weekly, and in one season 400 flat boats with cargoes valued at $5,000 cach passed down from Minnesota to Winnipeg. Lest I weary your readers I will stop here. Any parties wishing further information I will be happy to aid. My addresss is Emerson, Manitoba.

It is the only point on the Red River of the North between Moorhead and Winnipeg that is touched by a railroad. It must be come the great wheat market of the Red River Valley, because of the competition of the two railways (the one Canadian and the other American) running thence to Lake Superior. It is already an important lumber market. The Dominion Lands Office is here, also the Dominion Custom House. The "Dufferin" emigrant sheds (terhaps the most commodious in the North West), are close by. Mr. Froude, the historian, has left the Cape, and has arrived in England. Our readers will remember that he went out in order to arrange if possible, for the confederation of the British colonies in that part of the world His report will be looked forward to with much interest. From our last accounts it would appear that the Cape Legislature is not very much inclined to entertain the scheme of the Imperial Government. It is remarked by a con-temporary that, what with the South African Dominion that is to be, the protectorate in Zanzibar, and the grasp of Disraeli fastened on Egypt, Africa bids fair, ere long, to become in a political as well as in a zoological sense, the "Land of the Lian" and Lian" and Lian to the Lian to th of the Lion"—and the Unicorn.

Information of Lieut. Cameron has reached us to the effect that he has remained some time at Loanda, until he could find an opportunity to send his fiftyseven east coast men round by the Cape to their homes. He is said to have ac-cumulated a vast mass of important information which will be looked forward to with great interest. It appears that he followed a large river flowing out of Lake Tanganyika in a south-westerly direction, tracing its whole course till he came upon a new lake which he called "Livingstone." From this body of water a second large river runs westward, which the Lieutenant, having traced it for a considerable part of its length, believes to be the Congo. He was unable to continue along the river on account of meeting with a tribe of hostile natives. He had to choose between fighting his way through these unfriendly tribes, with the risk of losing all his journals and papers, or of taking a different direction. He preferred doing the latter, and though it prevented his verifying the important discovery, he has no doubt that the stream flowing out of the Livingstone Lake, and the Congo, are one and the same river.

The Note containing the project of pacification drawn up by the three Northern powers, is about to be sent to the British, French, and Italian governments, with an invitation to support it. The Sultan's firman, anticipating the reforms and the general scheme of the three powers, embraces everything those powers are expected to demand. But the question is as to their being carried out. The Firman is said to be only the Hatti-Sherif of 1839, and the Hatti-Humayoun of 1856 over again, and that it may, like those famous documents, be acted upon just when, where, and as much as may be thought convenient. The question then may arise about an effectual guarantee being required for the performance of all these promises. And in this respect a great change has come over European views, especially in England, during the last year or two. By the treaty of 1856 it was stipulated that other powers had no right to interfere in the relations of the Sultan with Humayoun of 1856 over again, and that fere in the relations of the Sultan with his subjects. But now the feeling in England is what we have remarked it ought to have been long ago, that this proviso of the Treaty should be rescinded, that "the powers should interfere if necessary, in the common interest, and that the Turkish State should be considered as needing the tutelage of Europe." Strange, passing strange, that several ages of the most abominable misrule in the very heart of Christendom should have been going on, and the wisest and best minds of Europe should only now have arrived at so elementary a principle. Had such oppression of Christians existed in the South Seas or in Central Africa, scarcely a nation in Europe would have hesitated to send an expedition for their relief long ago.

FATHER HECKER is credited with saying "that five-sixths of all the Protestant children attending Roman Catholic schools become converts." He might have added that the remaining one-sixth are utterly spoiled for all effective work as Protestant Caristians.

THE discontented native tribes of Liberia have lately made another attempt on the settiors, but by the latest accounts have been repulsed. The fact that President Roberts is not of pure African blood is said to be the main cause of the troubles in blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in camedias, and began to look upon medicine and doc-tors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it enrefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you understood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pollets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise, I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pollets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three mouths ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectation of some of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for the blessing I have received at your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medi-cines will master the worst forms of that odious disease, Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lang Diseases. I have recommended them to vory many, and shall ever speak in Gratefully yours, WM. H. SPENCER. their praise.
