

of doing everything possible to develop a sense of community and partnership, and which also takes into account the necessity of acting effectively to promote greater human welfare is, I believe, one that should and will command the support of all parties in this House and of the great majority of the Canadian people, in the future as it has in the past.

---

s/c