

A COMMON SIGHT ALONG THE RAILWAY.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S ATTRACTIONS

For Travelers, Tourists, Health Seekers and Sportsmen

TO A VERY LARGE NUMBER in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, and other countries, the summer season, as well as the spring and autumn, is looked forward to as the one bright spot in the year, when for a brief space the cares of business are cast aside and life is given up to enjoyment; there are also those less trammled and free to seek out these pleasures wherever they may be found. To either class these pages will not appeal in vain, for the daily improvements and increased facilities of modern travel, the easy accessibility of places which, until recently, were considered out of the way, render it constantly more difficult to determine which place will prove to be the most enjoyable.

During the last few years Newfoundland and Labrador have been appealing to the tourist, health seeker and sportsman, and every year witnesses an increasing number of tourists in search of the picturesque. Travelers, explorers, health seekers, anglers and hunters carry back glowing reports of the wonderful attractions of Newfoundland and Labrador, and all have pronounced them the "Gems of the Western World," and "Sportsman's Paradise."

The Reid Newfoundland Company's system of railway and steamers affords easy access to all parts of Newfoundland and Labrador, presenting unrivaled facilities for hunting, fishing and camping. The spirit of the most enthusiastic angler rises with the elevating influence of the scene, for his trained eye can take
