JOHN CATTO & SON
55 to 61 King St. E., Toronto

Visitors to the Exhibition and citizens generally should not fail to secure a copy of this week's Toronto Sunday World. The art section has many views of Canada's greatest Fair, and the eight pages of this section are replete with pictures of current events and various phases of our national life.

The Sunday World is now recognized as Canada's greatest week-end newspaper, and so far in advance of any other Canadian paper of a similar character that the patronage extended justifies the assumption that it is being appreciated.

The colored sections are again enlarged this week. The magazine section has as a frontispiece a group of college girls, showing the costumes and surroundings in their natural colors. Another page in this section, also printed in colors, shows the costumes for school girls of various ages, and contains some excellent suggestions for the lady school teachers in the matter of dress.

The literary sections have not been neglected, and the pages devoted to literature, science, and education contain some interesting features, including review of the book, "William Adolphus Turnpike," by Wm. Banks, a local writer, and the new school song by Rudyard Kipling. There are two columns of notes on the new books and some interesting comments on the old ones. This section also contains some fine drawings by "Nell Brinkley".

In Kit's Column is a weekly letter of comment, and an article by Margaret Bell, entitled "Labor Days and Others". The comic section is always funny, and this week includes "Jimmy", "Housan Lot" and "Happy Hooligan".

For sale by all newsdealers, newsboys and on all railway trains.

Sea Leather.
There are several varieties of leather made from the skin of the sea—the shark, the sturgeon and the well-known fishy leather-producing fishes. We find an interesting description of some of these products in an exchange.

The skin of sharks is a beautiful burnished gray or bluish color. The surface resembles finely-grained leather, inasmuch as it shows many tiny prickles set all one way.

ders it especially valuable to the manufacture of "shagreen." Since the skin is at once tough and easy to work, it can be used for many purposes where decorative effects are desired.

In spite of its lumpy armor, the sturgeon furnishes a valuable and attractive leather. It has been found that when the bony plates are removed, the patterns remain on the skin, just as the patterns of alligator scales remain on alligator leather, a circumstance that adds greatly to the value of the product. From the sturgeon that abounds on the Pacific coast and in the Great Lakes, we get a tough leather that is used for the making of shoes to join leather belting for machinery. It is said that the Indian frequently wears the belting itself.

There is found in Turkish waters a strikingly unattractive fish called the angel-fish, classed among the littoral sharks. This fish yields an extremely high quality of green leather, much esteemed in the Ottoman dominions.

In Russia certain peasant costumes are trimmed with the skins of a food fish, the turbot, and in Egypt men wear sandals made from the skins of fish caught in the Red Sea. In the United States, too, the cod has been used in a similar manner, for in bygone days a good many shoes and gloves have been made in Gloucester from the skin of the cod.

Elkskin is used for many purposes, among them the manufacture of leather binding for books, and for braiding into whips.

The garfish has a skin that can be polished till it resembles ivory. It is used in making picture-frames and jewel-caskets. The skin of this fish was used by certain Indian tribes to make a sort of armor. It is so tough and hard that, according to some accounts, a breast-plate made of it will turn a knife or a spear.

Peacock, lately pastor of Beach Avenue Methodist Church, received many expressions of good-will and kind regard from his congregation on the eve of his departure to a new charge at Steelton. Whilst out driving, Miss Nellie Pitman of Buffalo met with a serious accident, which will confine her to bed for a week. She, with W. Stoneman, were driving a three-year-old ivory horse, which kicked the harness to horse, near Hartman's corner, which kicked the harness to shreds, broke both shafts and bolted into a fence, smashing the buggy between a tree and the fence and throwing both occupants out. Miss Pitman had two ribs broken and may be hurt internally. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Browning and is under medical attention. Mr. Stoneman also received severe injuries about the head and eyes.

Klink Evans met with a painful accident by running the prongs of a hayfork thru his foot, which will lay him up for some time.

Rev. Canon Hartley of Hayward, near Manchester, England, preached in St. John's Church on Sunday.

Canon Hartley is interested in missions in the northwest and in the course of his remarks said that the mother church in England was alive to the need of the gospel in the new lands now being settled. He regretted that in old Ontario the church had not followed her sons, with the result that many had drifted away from her into other societies.

Lightning struck the barn of Enoch Seton, concession 2, King, during the electric storm on Wednesday morning, and consumed all his crop and both barns. He intended to thresh his grain in the morning, and the threshing outfit of Thomas Cannon was at the barn ready to begin operations. ## An Evening of Opera at Home on a Gourlay-Angelus

The evening at home becomes a delightful occasion for grand opera and concert if you are the proud possessor of a Gourlay-Angelus. Through this wonderful musical medium of human touch you can enjoy to the utmost in your own home a thrilling recital by Paderewski, or by Hofmann, or a pleasing aria from Faust or Carmen.

The Marvellous Phrasing Lever

This is the heart of the Angelus. It throbs with every note played and by it you can render selections that reflect your own personal expression.

It is said by artists that this marvellous Lever is to the Angelus what the baton of a conductor is to a symphony orchestra. This exemplifies the wonderful control it has over notes, expression, and variations in tempo.

The performer himself feels the unique sensation of conducting a grand opera as he expresses his own interpretation and musical temperament on a Gourlay-Angelus.

The Power of the Melodant

This is another clever device which absolutely controls the accompaniment to emphasize solo parts. Melody buttons sustain the melody notes throughout most difficult movements, and perfect dramatic effects can be obtained according to the varying individual mood of the performer.

Investigate the human possibilities of the Gourlay-Angelus and you will see why it is the musical ideal of every refined home.
