Dr. Bryce has called the attention of The World to some interesting statistics relating to the efficacy of anti-toxine in a barry and oct. 1, 1895, 438 recovered and 155 died—a mortality of 26.14 per cent. During the same period of nine months in 1894, before the anti-toxine treatment was introduced, out of 469 patients, 304 recovered and 155 died—a mortality of 35.18 per cent. That is to say the death rate was reduced nine per cent. under the use of anti-toxine.

The flures alluded to also indicate that in the earliest as well as in the latest stages of diphtheria, the serum is more effective than the methods employed during the pre-anti-toxine period.

Writs were yesterday issued at Osgoode Hall by Nellie McCann to recover $3000 damages from the city for injuries received in a fall; by Charles and Mabel Shannon, to recover $2500 for alleged negligence against D. H.

The county of the statistics is that the treatment when applied in general practice outside the hospitals, brings even better results than in the wards of those institutions. In the words of those institutions. In the mortality has been reduced to about 16 per cent. through anti-toxine. From germany also comes returns proving the undoubted value of anti-toxine. In statistics gathered from all quarters of the empire by the Imperial Health Office at Berlin, 2228 cases are dealt with. The returns show an average mortality of 17.3 per cent. Formerly the death rate exceeded 30 per cent.

These figures further show the respective results obtained, according to whether the cases were treated at the outset or not. The mortality of those treated by anti-toxine on the first day of attack was 6.9 per cent.; second day 7.4 per cent.; third day 15.5 per cent.; seventh day 31.7 per cent. If the day 35.4 per cent.; seventh day 31.7 per cent.
