THE ST. LAWRENCE MARKET

When, let us ask, is the St. Lawrence Market muddle to be straightened out? Why don't the aldermen act as business men would act if they were face to face with similar conditions? The members of the Property Committee are here qualified to judge of the engineering problems involved in the construction of the building. And yet they presume to give opinions as to the brick work, piling and other details of which they have no technical knowledge. The expert evidence is unanimously in favor of having the piles cut off below the water line. At present they extend from 8 to 9 feet above the water level and they are, therefore, liable to rot and weak. This is the testimony of the various experts to whom this detail has been referred. In the face of this opinion, tendered by some of the leading engineers of the continent, it is surely ridiculous for the aldermen to urge that the piles be allowed to remain as they are. Are we going to have this important building constructed according to Ald. Lamb's theories or according to the expert knowledge of the City Engineer? The latter is the only sensible way. The great defect in the Toronto railway system is that they have too small a mileage for the traffic handled. More tracks are as badly needed as more cars.

A BIG CONTRACT ON HAND.
The Globe at the present time has undertaken the task of defending the political inequities of the Liberals in Ontario, of the Liberals in Dominion politics, the Green party in Manitoba, and any and everything with a Liberal favor, no matter how bad it may be proved to be. But the Canadian people, we take it, are in the mood of smashing corruptionists as fast as they are exposed to view, and neither The Globe nor any other engine can save them from the public wrath.

WHITBY HAD A BLAZE.

Mr. C. Tod's Stables and Icehouse Burned. Also, Considerable Other Property.
Whitby, Ont., May 24.—(Special.)—What might have proved a frightful fire occurred here this afternoon. A stable in the centre of the town, owned by Banker Tod and owned by the Cullen estate, was discovered about 2:30. Adjoining this was the driving shed of Rev. Matthew Gold, and in less time than it takes to tell it, both a mass of flames. What broke there was fortunately drove the flames away from Mr. Gold's handsome residence and the extensive buildings of the Martin Manufacturing Company, which are situated on the west and south of the stables. In less than half an hour, and while the firemen were still fighting the fire, a half a dozen other fires, caused by falling cinders, had broken out, and only the presence and exertions of the townspeople prevented a large portion of the town being wiped out. The roofs of the houses adjacent to the burning stables, and the burning of the stables, were at one time a scene, and in some cases a mass of flames. The firemen put out before much damage was done.

THE BOER DELEGATES' PROGRAM.

Mr. Fischer is Preparing for an Itinerary. But Details Are Not Yet Arranged.
Washington, May 24.—The plan of campaign of the Boer peace commissioners has not yet been fully outlined. They probably will remain in Washington until next Tuesday, after which they will begin a tour of the West, as has been previously intimated. Mr. Fischer of the delegation is now being outlined the itinerary, but he said today that it was too early to give any definite details of that plan.

Presbyterians Rushed Business.

The delegates have not yet decided whether or not they will issue an official statement before leaving Washington. They go to the city under the circumstances that would be a delicate undertaking, and no matter how carefully it was worded, would be liable to misinterpretation. Therefore, it is quite probable that their statements will be confined to the pro-Boer meeting which are being arranged for their coming tour of the country.

At Balm Beach.

The Church of England Pavilion Tent, that has been a prominent part of the past eight years at Balm Beach, has been put in order, and services will commence there on Sunday evening next. Arrangements are being made to form a strong choir, and no doubt the crowds that made their way there last year will do the same this year. The same person will be in charge that has had it since first started.

HOW TO RELIEVE THE CONGESTION.

It is time some earnest efforts were made to remove the congestion of the railway to the city limits. Yesterday the railway company was taxed to its wit's end to carry passengers to the Woodbine, Munro Park and other points in the eastern suburbs. A wait of an hour or two for a seat was the order of the day. The defect in the street car service to the east end lies in the fact that there is only a single route along which the traffic can be handled. Passengers going to the west end have the choice of four routes—King-street, Queen-street, Dundas-street and College-street. The whole traffic to and from the east end is concentrated on the King-street line.

The entire traffic of the city west of College-street is turned over to the King-street line, which consequently has to do the service of two or three ordinary routes. There is greater traffic along King-street eastward than on any other route. On holidays it is phenomenally large and quite beyond the capacity of the Railway Company. Nothing short of a new line of street cars to the east end will relieve the congestion. Two locations are possible for such a line. Starting in the west at Arthur-street, a route could be laid out via St. Patrick's street and Wilton-avenue, crossing the Don by a new bridge and running along the extension of that avenue as far east as Munro Park. The other alternative is to extend the Carlton and College line north to the Kingston-road, and thence southerly down to Woodbine and Munro Parks. The latter seems to be the more feasible scheme. The extension of the Carlton and College line would fill a long felt want, in dependence of the city traffic to and from the east end. This extension would have for its objective point the growing town of East Toronto and the highlands along the Kingston-road. For people living up town, there is no way of reaching this district except by a very circuitous route, and a large part of the district is not accessible at all. East of Greenwood-avenue there is no street running east and west between Danforth-avenue in the north and Queen-street in the south, an distance of a mile and a quarter. Everything is in first-class shape for the extension of the
