The woman who was 65 years of age and who had been melancholy for some time, took her own life during the night while, it is believed, mentally deranged.

BIJON, France, Aug. 15.—The municipal council of Dijon has adopted a resolution calling upon the Chamber of Deputies to pass a law requiring all children between the ages of 12 and 18 to work. The resolution also asks a law under which the populations of prisons and these convicted of crimes and misdemeanors may be sent to the own life during the night while, it is believed, mentally deranged.

Mrs. Brooks had been visiting at the home of her son and left in the evening presumably for her own home. She was not missed until this morning, her husband believing that she had stayed all night at the son's home. When a search was started the body was found in the drinking trough.
