Sir Wilfrid's Preference Is to Get Session thru And Then Arm For Fray

Premier Not Inclined to Be Hurried Into a Premature Appeal to the Country—Opposition Determined to Obstruct.

OTTAWA, May 29.—(Special.)—The house resumed its sessions to-day, and the situation may be described as one of marking time and likely to be so until a week from Monday, when the provincial elections are over in Ontario and Quebec.

There are indications that the government may decide to break the deadlock by a dissolution and an appeal to the country before the middle of July; it is even said that the Liberal organizers in every one of the provinces are now busy at the work of getting ready for such an eventuality.

But that is not what Sir Wilfrid Laurier desires or seeks; anyone who has watched him closely must know that he has no love for being forced to drop his ministers who have landed him in trouble. He prefers even in their case that his own party should be the public opinion should force them out of political life rather than that he should ask for resignations. And this kind of elimination is slowly but surely going on.

If he can have his own way it is evident now that he would prefer to fight the situation in the house and then to re-arrange his cabinet on rather sweeping lines, to widen his platform, to take in a number of progressive planks and to appeal to the country at his own time with his new material and his new battle cries. He is credited with having two or three rather striking shafts in his quiver which he will shoot when he thinks the time ripe, and the bow well strung.

Creating Deadlocks. In the meantime the opposition are dugged and determined, and if some kind of a truce or settlement is patched up between the two forces on any one question, the opposition will break any deadlock and force a vote on supply or on anything else. For what is bent on having its way? It might be illegal, but if it is done, it is done and there you are.

Sir Wilfrid, however, is credited with having little sympathy with this suggestion. Nevertheless it is the general opinion that no matter what complexion will be to change the rules so that the majority may control as now, but in most all modern popular assemblies save in Canada.

The results in Ontario and Quebec will be important factors in the decision, but they will not be decisive, nevertheless another ten days will likely see the direction which the fighting lines are to take.

One indication of the situation is that the governor-general will be here on Sunday morning, but it was his intention to be retained in Toronto until the middle of next week.

In the meantime the house at this writing, after a long discussion over the St. John cold storage scandal with the prospect of the talk keeping up all night, the minister has added to the complication.

Prosperity Coming. In the meantime the crops are growing and the water works is running and the hard working Canadians are watching their improved prospect and returning prosperity with patriotic more interest than the fight of the politicians at the capital.

REGULATIONS REVOKED. Change Made in Importation of Live Stock.

OTTAWA, May 29.—(Special.)—The regulations established in 1887 respecting animals for the improvement of stock have been revoked by order-in-council, and it is now provided that no animal imported for the improvement of stock shall be admitted free of duty unless the importer is domiciled in Canada or is a British subject, and furnishes a certificate of the record and pedigree in a list of registered descendants from time to time by the minister of customs, showing that the animal is pure-bred and has been admitted to full registry in a book of record established for that breed.

QUEBEC CONSERVATIVES TO CONTEST EVERY SEAT

French Papers Giving Unheard of Prominence to Tory Speeches and Grit Prospect Look Sinister.

MONTREAL, May 29.—(Special.)—As the nomination day in the Province of Quebec approaches it becomes certain that when the leader, the Hon. P. E. LeBlanc, declared at the opening of the campaign that no seats would be uncontested by the opposition, he knew pretty well what he was talking about.

It looks, in fact, as if the gaps in this district, save one perhaps, would be filled up on the eve of the nomination, and as the candidates are all in the field in the Quebec district, the fact that Sir Wilfrid will certainly not be uncontested by the opposition, he knew pretty well what he was talking about.

On the other hand, Hon. L. P. Pelletier wires here that not only will he carry his County of Dorchester, and that Sir Wilfrid says so, too, but that the opposition will elect ten members from the district of Quebec. If, in fact, Mr. Pelletier is able to bring six men with him from that district, it is sure that 25 oppositionists will be elected in all, and if this be done, Liberals and Conservatives alike avowedly are doomed.

Here Bourassa's candidature has been received with the greatest enthusiasm and the premier has hastened home from Quebec to enter upon his campaign, which to-day is any man's fight. During the present contest it can be said that the French press throughout the opposition a fair show, inasmuch as all Conservatives speeches have got before the people as they never did before in any other campaign.

Mr. Fielding replied that the Bank Act provided in such cases the Bankers' Association takes hold and appoints a liquidator. These two proceedings had been taken, and he was afraid the situation was a grave one, but the moment had not arrived for the government to take action.

MILNER'S VIEWS ON EMPIRE'S FUTURE

Calls for "a Wider Patriotism"—Critiques the Constant Protestations of Loyalty Between Britain and Canada.

MONTREAL, May 29.—Lord Milner has contributed a striking article, of particular interest to Canadians, to the new weekly paper, The Standard of Empire, which will appear in Canada on Monday.

Writing on the text, "The Wider Patriotism," Lord Milner declares that empire can be defined in two ways. He defines "Wider Patriotism" as the point of view of those whose patriotism is not limited to the particular portion of the empire in which they live, to Canada, to Australia, to New Zealand, or even to the United Kingdom, but who recognize that the empire as a whole has the highest claim to their allegiance.

Lord Milner regards the word "Empire" in some respects as unfortunate and a misnomer, especially in regard to the idea which it conveys as to the ascendancy and domination of the mother country over the great dominions. "The unprofitable discussion," he writes, "breaks out from time to time, especially in Canada, over the question of 'loyalty' to the mother country. 'What matters,' he writes, 'is not that we are loyal to the mother country, but that we are loyal to the British Empire against being constantly regarded as minor satellites revolving round the mother country.'"

He maintains that the future of the whole empire depends upon the willingness of the self-governing dominions to be loyal to Great Britain, the strongest influence is that of race. Dealing with the future of the empire, he declares that it is no aspersions of the loyalty to the empire of the French in Canada to say that "there are social and political reasons which make it preferable British citizenship to the alternative of absorption into the United States. And even thus, French citizenship in Canada can hardly be regarded as contributing to the growth of imperial sentiment in that Dominion."

UNITE SMALL COLLEGES AS ONE 'UNIVERSITY' Principal Peterson of McGill Outlines a Proposition for the Maritime Provinces.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 29.—(Special.)—Principal Peterson of McGill University, who delivered the alumni address at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, gave out a statement in which he said:

What I believe is needed in these maritime provinces is something to bring about a union of colleges so as to bring them together as one great university, with one board to give a final degree.

Principal Peterson said one of the changes he thought necessary was a reduction in the length of the course at such small colleges as King's College, Windsor, N.S. Under the plan he had in mind, a board which governed component colleges need not have any particular place of meeting, but could meet at different places each year.

THE ONLY MAN. The university of the people, of the masses, is the public library in a community or municipality. The more the influence widespread, make it national. If the people laugh to hear of a library? Are they even taught to use a library? The time has long passed when the chief requirement in a librarian was scholarly knowledge of books and the direction of the cataloguing assistants. The librarian of today must not only know books; he must also be a man who has been active in affecting public opinion, in directing the people by his open utterances in the press or on the platform—a man who can teach the masses the proper value and use of such institutions as the public library. To get a man of this calibre may involve a revision of the regulations attaching to the office. But whatever is necessary should be done to secure that the new institution will not only be worthy of the city but in all its departments reach the highest ideals of public service.

A SECRET SUBSIDY TO SIR FRED'S FRIENDS

Late N. B. Government Had Granted $30,000 to the St. John Cold Storage Co.—Another Live Debate.

OTTAWA, May 29.—(Special.)—The debate on the St. John cold storage deal was resumed to-day by George W. Fowler.

He expressed surprise that the minister of militia should have sneered at Mr. Williams, one of the leading merchants of St. John, "as an unworthy man, who tried to get something for nothing." "Surely, if Sir Frederick had himself got something for nothing," said Mr. Fowler, "he at least might have forgiven Mr. Williams for having been his rival."

He thought that if, as Sir Frederick Bowen said, he had now no financial interest in the transaction, he was displaying an unwonted interest in the enterprise. As a result of activities, the company appeared to have got 30 per cent. on the supposed cost of the plant, including doubtless the value of the land, which the company got for nothing, as well as the promotion stock allotted to the New Brunswick shareholders. Then a time came when the New Brunswick Cold Storage Company, with a provincial guarantee, was taken over by a federal bonus, the one having Premier Pugsley and the other Sir Frederick Bowen, as its protector, concluded to join forces and divide the spoil. As a matter of fact, the Ottawa concern absorbed the other about the time that Mr. Pugsley transferred himself to Ottawa.

Secret Guarantees. To show how the matter was requested, St. John cold storage plant is located, Mr. Fowler read from an editorial in The St. John Telegraph as follows:

In an evil moment Hon. Sydney Fisher wrote a letter. He says a careless phrase slipped into it. Unfortunately the phrase he now regrets as 'loose' referred to his friend and colleague Sir Frederick Bowen, and the latter's interest in a cold storage plant. A company of which New Brunswick has heard much, and to which it has contributed more money than it likes to think about, and the editorial goes on to tell how the late government of New Brunswick, by secret order-in-council, granted an additional $30,000 worth of its bonds. Then came the change of government, and Sir Frederick came to St. John and mentioned the guarantee to Premier Hazen, who declared it was the first he had heard of it.

If the people laugh to hear of a library? Are they even taught to use a library?
