The turf in Canada is now truly or trial at the capital. Racing is a curse to the country or is absolutely necessary to the breeding interests of Canada, according to the evidence that is being presented. A pleasant variation is the fact that Jake Saunders does not figure as the defendant,

General dissatisfaction over the terms of the new contracts which the major baseball organizations are sending out to the players has started talk of the formation of a union among the men who play the U. Referee: J. B. McArthur. The Summary.

During the past few years, or ever since the National and American Leagues signed an agreement calling off the baseball war, the men behind baseball have ruled matters with an iron hand. The players have been compelled to submit to whatever terms were offered by the magnates. In case of refusal the players were suspended and put out of organized baseball, Wherever the big league players congregate in the various cities, the talk of a strong union has sprung up. Many of the leading lights in the game have been sounded, and a round robin petition is now being prepared.

The plans for the organization of the new union have been going on quietly for several months. There was much talk about the matter before the close of the season last fall, when the magnates were commencing to draw the line tighter. Many of the stars who went to the big leagues in the war times are at the head of the proposed organization. These players, who were under long-term contracts, and received large salaries, now find themselves compelled to play for whatever is offered by the managements of the respective clubs. Most of the old contracts have run out, and the salaries offered are not as large as those formerly paid.

Unionist Journals Refer to the Personalities Involved—Liberals Are Jubilant.

LONDON, Jan. 18.-The London norning papers to-day on the Unionist side concern themselves more with the personal victories at the polls than the general results, which are admitted to be scarcely up to expectations. They point, however, to such contrasts as the enormous vote recorded for Mr. Balfour and the reduced majority for John Saturday night, will give the Cliffsides a Burns, and to the greatly increased merry battle. majorities received by the Unionists even where they failed to vanquist their Liberal opponents, as proving splendid leadership. The Morning Post considers the Unionists' decisive supremacy in the Midlands as showing that the who country will sooner or later be broug. under the inspiration of Mr. Josep Chamberlain's policy.

The Daily Graphic sees looming th danger of Socialism in the heavy poll ings of the working class constituen cies, which, it says, ought to serve as a. "lurid warning" to the middle classes. The Liberal papers, on the other hand, are all jubilant and predict that hand, are all jubilant and predict that the government majority, while it will be smaller than in 1906, will be larger than Gladstone's in 1885. They are greatly encouraged by the staunchness of big cities, like Leeds, Sheffield, Blackburn, Oldham, Stockton and Wissan, to Liberalism and free trade.

The Chronicle, however, reads the Liberals a warning not to indulge in over-confidence, as much will depend on the size of the majority by which the government is returned.

McIntosh is confident that Tommy can beat the Michigan Lion handily, and if his dope is correct he will return to this country with Burns in time to have the latter challenge the winner of the Jeffries-Johnson fight on July 4. The Detroiter realizes that Jeff will not fight again if he bests the negro, but he thinks that the black man will win.

Assuming that Jack is able to go thru with his part of the program, McIntosh believes that he cannot afford to refuse to give Burns another fight.
