FALL WHEAT HAS

Cent., Despite Severity of Weather.

Ottawa, May 15.—The first crop report of the season of 1920 was issued today by the Dominion rureau of statistics. It deals with the winter killing of fall sown wheat, the condition of fall wheat and of hay and clover meadows and the progress of spring seeding, the report being compiled from the returns of crops correspondents from all parts of Canada for April. Notwithstanding the severity of the past winter, the proportion, of fall sown wheat that has been killed is reported to very small, amounting, in fact, to not more than 4 per cent. of the area sown. amounting, in fact, to not more than 4 per cent. of the area sown. This is the smallest proportion on record, and compared with five per cent. last year, after an extraordinary mild winter and with 52 per cent. in 1918, after the severe winter of 1917-18. The small proportion this year is due to the depth of the snow and the late spring, as usually fall sown wheat in Canada is damaged more by alternating frosts and thaws during March and April, than by cold in the depth of the winter, when the ground is covered with snow.

Deducting the areas reported as winter killed, representing four per cent. or 28,700 acres in Ontario, one per cent. or 400 acres in British Columbia, the total reduction by winter killing is 29,700 acres, leaving 740,800 acres as the area of fall wheat to be harvested for 1920, as compared with 672,792 acres, the finally estimated harvest area for 1919.
