

3. Moved by Rev. JAMES THOMSON, and seconded by Rev. A. CAMPBELL:

That this Meeting has learned with heartfelt satisfaction, from the Committee's Report, the continued and rapidly advancing prosperity of the Parent Institution, and contemplates, with lively faith and hope, the period of its final and complete accomplishment of its infinitely important objects.

4. Moved by Rev. Mr. ROBINSON, and seconded by ROBERT PAYNE, Esquire:

That the prevalence of spiritual ignorance and vice and misery and indifference to the concerns of eternity in the state of society around us, call loudly upon us to encrease our efforts in more widely diffusing the Holy Scriptures, as the means by which these evils can, by the blessing of God, be most effectually remedied, and immortal souls gathered into the Kingdom of the Redeemer.

5. Moved by Rev. ROBERT WILSON, and seconded by N. S. DEMILL, Esquire:

That this Meeting, recognising the Ladies' Associations, as the most valuable tributaries to this Auxiliary, desire, most cordially, to thank them for their very efficient exertions; not forgetting those smaller rills of contribution, the Branch Societies, to which, also, an expression of gratitude is due, for the measure of exertion which they have employed.

6. Moved by the Rev. Mr. SCOVIL, and seconded by the Rev. Mr. STEWART:

That the following Gentlemen be the Committee for the ensuing year.—(See list of Office-Bearers in a preceding page.)

After the third Resolution, the following Hymn was sung:

Oh! send God's holy Book where'er
Or winds can waft, or waters bear,
Let India's sons its page revere,
Let Afric's land the blessing share.

Send it to where, expanded wide,
The South Sea rolls its farthest tide,
To ev'ry island's distant shore,
Make known the Saviour's grace and pow'r.

Send it to every dungeon's gloom,
Send it to every poor man's room;
Nor cease the woe-worn to befriend,
Nor cease the heav'nly gift to send.
