FUR TRADERS OF THE GREAT NORTHWEST IN 1879.

Thirty years ago a long caravan such as the above was a common sight at the close of the trapping season.

A TORONTO COW BOY. FRED ELLIOTT, JR., SON OF FRED ELLIOTT, LIPPINCOTT ST.

Can This Be So?
 "This is the worst blow yet."
 "How now?"
 "Some ruthless scientist declares that deep breathing isn't good for anything in particular."
 "I see the Thanksgiving numbers of the various weeklies are out. Must be hard to get suitable material year after year."
 "Oh, I don't know. All they have to have is a football story and a cover design depicting a turkey."
