CITY BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS ON BLACK'S ALLEYS

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter and John Thornton Officiate—Nationals Win.

Following an eloquent and witty address by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, honorary president, and remarks by John Thornton, honorary vice-president, and Harry Sullivan, president, the City Bowling League got away to a good start on Black's alleys last evening. Shortly before 8 o'clock President Sullivan announced that the league was about to start its 17th year with eight teams competing. He then called on the honorary president to make a few remarks. Dr. Baxter told of the pleasure it afforded him to be present and explained that he was ready for his annual trimming by the vice-president. He paid a tribute to the game and the sportsmanlike spirit displayed by the participants. He expressed confidence that the league would be as successful this season as heretofore and said he was ready to demonstrate to the players just how the game should be played. John Thornton then made a few remarks and said he was ready to give a demonstration of his ability. While a large number of fans sought points of vantage the honorary president and vice-president doffed their coats and started in to loosen up the pins for the members of the contesting teams. Dr. Baxter represented the Nationals and John Thornton the Sweeps. The former got away to a good start, sending down one of his famous curve balls which crashed into the king pin and tore down nine. The remaining one was in a corner and despite two good tries Dr. Baxter failed to topple it over. In the second box he chopped out six pins. His opponent was also making a good showing and it was evident that the result would be in doubt until the final frame. Twice Dr. Baxter came close to making a strike, but luck was against him and he had to be content with 10. When the string ended John Thornton was declared a winner by a few pins. Both were given hearty applause as they declared the league officially opened.

The contesting teams were the Nationals and Sweeps and the former won three of the four points. Clark of the Nationals quietly scored a good shot, making 137 in the first string and a grand total of 327.

BOSTON CANNOT SIGN U.S. PLAYERS

Remarkable Situation Arises in the National Hockey League.

A rather remarkable situation exists in professional hockey, in the fact that Boston, latest entrant in the National League, and the only American club in professional hockey now that Seattle and Portland are out, is deprived of the right to sign up players in United States. It is a peculiar situation, but true nevertheless, for Boston must respect the agreement of the N. H. L. with the Western Canada league, in which it is provided that U. S. A. material belongs to the west.

If western clubs waive their right to United States players, then Boston can go ahead, but up until such time as the league and coast teams sanction the signing, American hockey talent is not at the Bean Town moguls' disposal.

This condition arises from the fact that at the time the league agreement was made, the only American teams in professional hockey were Portland and Seattle. Both these have now withdrawn, but the league agreement holds good despite the fact that it is now the east instead of the west which is now international in scope.

Hey, Fans! What About This?

Here is an extract from a London letter to the Times-Star, referring to the visit of the White Sox and Giants baseball teams—

"Their tour in this country must be rapidly disillusioning the American baseball players, who jauntily assured the Stamford Bridge football manager that their game would out on his own ground next winter. Not only have the crowds been very small, but the exhibitions games, but the American sport makes no appeal here. This may be partly due to the shape of our grounds being wrong for good baseball, but mainly because its niceties are not understood by non-experts."

"At Chelsea the stentorian bawling of the professional American fan, whose legitimate task is to rattle the players, received unexpected support from a typical soccer crowd, who earnestly appealed to the Americans not to ruin the turf for 'a real game'."

"Yet American baseball at its best is undoubtedly a most fast and thrilling sport. The holding surpasses the most brilliant feats of our best cricketers, both in the throw-in and the catch-out. The pitching is wonderful. Apart from its deadly accuracy and speed, the ball is sometimes made to dip suddenly after traveling in a curve. How the batsman ever hits such a delivery with a mere club is a mystery. The New York Giants and Chicago White Sox, who are giving up the present exhibition games, are exceptionally handsome athletes, and mainly University men. Baseball pays better than being a secretary of state."

BIG "BABY" IN ARMS CAUSED SUSPICION

Furrier Followed Woman Who Now Faces Charge of Stealing Coat.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—A "baby" wrapped in a shawl, an innocent expression and a quick pair of hands are the police allege, the properties used by Mary Heikal, aged 24, giving an address in St. Lambert, whom they charge with the theft of a Persian lamb, sable trimmed fur coat, valued at $500.

The first act was staged in the establishment of Walter F. Cummings, furrier, who owns the coat; the second was behind the Board of Trade building, when Mary Heikal was arrested by Constable Malrie; and the third was in a cell at police headquarters, where the woman was held on a charge of theft.

Mr. Cummings reported to Police Lieut. Belanger of the headquarters police station that a woman, carrying what he thought to be a baby, came into his place of business at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and asked what time it was. When she was told, she said: "Oh, then I'll wait here half an hour and look over some coats. I am to meet my husband at 2:30."

She walked up and down the shop rocking the "baby," which was wrapped in a shawl, and crooning to it. Meanwhile customers began entering and at about 2:30 o'clock, when the shop was fairly well filled, she walked to the street.

Mr. Cummings noticed the departure of the woman and thought it strange that she should leave without saying a word. He also saw the "baby" under the shawl seemed unusually large.

Woman Was Followed.

He followed the woman along Notre Dame street, up St. Peter street, then along another street to the Board of Trade building. Here they encountered Constable Malrie of the headquarters police station.

"See where you are walking, young woman," said Mr. Cummings suddenly, "right into the arms of a constable." He then asked Malrie to make the arrest.

The prisoner denied that she had been to the Cummings establishment that afternoon, but examination of the "baby" by Constable Malrie showed that it was a parcel held in such a way that it resembled a child. And this parcel was then taken to headquarters, where she gave her name as Heikal.

and her address as St. Lambert.

Mr. Cummings told the police that none of his clerks saw Mary Heikal (take the coat, which was hanging on a rack, though an employee was within six feet of her most of the time she was in the shop.

DAVE SHADE AND SCHLAIFER DEC. 3

Bout Accepted in Preference to No Decision With Walker.

New York, Nov. 13.—Dave Shade, California welterweight, who is recognized as the foremost challenger for the world's title held by Mickey Walker, will engage in a twelve-round bout against Morris Schleifer, hard-hitting and rugged Omaha boxer, at the 118th Infantry Regiment Armory, Newark, on the night of December 3.

Shade announced he had accepted the Schleifer match for his coast star in preference to a proffered bout against Champion Walker, for which Shade was offered $12,000 by the National Sportsmen's Club. His purpose, Flynn said, was to decline all offers of no-decision bouts between Shade and Walker, regardless of the financial inducement, in order to maintain the campaign he has instituted which has for its object forcing Walker into a decision match for the title.

Shade has several other bouts in prospect, but Flynn plans to delay acceptance of offers which have been submitted to him until after the Schleifer match. The coast welterweight plans to enter training soon at his camp in Summit, N. J.

WEST SIDE TEA AND FAIR WELL BEGUN

Nearly Four Hundred Enjoy Supper in St. Patrick's Hall.

The Church of the Assumption tea and fair was opened successfully last evening in St. Patrick's Hall. There were 300 supper served and many more are expected this evening and on Friday. The event will end on Saturday. In a bean board contest last night the winner was John Curran and at bagatelle the prize was captured by Harry Peters.

The supper tables were artistically decorated with gold and lavender in one case and with red in the other. Lavender colored chrysanthemums, intermingled with yellow, were used in the first table and red carnations and geraniums on the second. The effect was very pretty.

The refreshments booth was covered with vines in autumn tints and the fancy work booth was in blue and white with flowers all about and blue birds appearing to fly about. Red and white flowers, red roses and paragon ferns, made the candy booth easily found. The Women's Society of the church had orange and white for their booth and sold home cooking.

WANT LANDIS TO GIVE ALL DETAILS

Fans Still Waiting for Details of Major League Scandal.

New York, Nov. 13.—(United Press)

John Heydler's statement that "Commissioner Landis cleaned up the Giant baseball scandal decently in forty-eight hours" seems to indicate that the president of the National League feels that the incident is closed. Perhaps it is, as far as he is concerned, because he seems to have turned over all his evidence to the commissioner and it really isn't his business to proceed any more than to turn over any more developments he may find to the commissioner.

Landis is the head of organized baseball. His position was created and he was retained for the job for the very purpose of acting in emergencies to keep the game clean and to maintain national faith and respect in the game.

Since the world's series closed and interest in baseball was tempered by the excitement resulting from a most thrilling football season, very little has been heard from official sources about the investigation that was to have been continued "until all the parties concerned are dead."

San Johnson, it is true, made a statement that he was going to continue an investigation on his own initiative, but the prospects for action were made rather vague, with the reminder that it took more than a year to get the goods on the White Sox players, who were in the big 1919 scandal.

Baseball in general retired for the season with a satisfied feeling that followed the victory of the Washington Senators over the New York Giants in the world's series. If Washington hadn't been such a popular winner, the fans might be sitting around now asking questions about the scandal instead of recounting the great battle made by Washington.

As long as there has been no national demand or no organized efforts to have the spade dug more publicly into the case, the commissioner may get the idea that the fans aren't particularly concerned now and that their curiosity might be satisfied with a few shouted words and some wild gestures that everything is all over and that there is nothing more to be done.

If there is any such feeling among the high officials of the game it would do them good to get around the country incognito and listen to some of the stories being made about the scandal. If Landis had been a little more liberal in giving details when the case was at its hottest point he would have reduced the territory for the gossipers and would have avoided the opportunity for so many conjectures, guesses and "putting two and two together."

On a recent trip through the middle-west, it was discovered that there is far more curiosity about the scandal than easterners might believe. There is also a general opinion that the whole story has not been told and because of a lack of details the question has risen: "What really is behind all this?"

As has been said before, Landis should not be condemned until he has had sufficient time to make the investigation he had promised to continue. In refusing to give details of the testimony taken during the first investigation, he may have had good reasons. Perhaps he didn't want to tip off sources that further investigation may lead to. But it would have been better if he had explained that he couldn't disclose any more details than he had divulged, instead of arrogantly shouting that he would tell the story when the proper time came.

Under the circumstances, the fans are wondering when the proper time will arrive. Landis has the confidence of the baseball public, it is believed, but baseball itself doesn't command the faith it once did. The 1919 scandal would have been hushed up by the heads of the game if one daring writer didn't keep it alive. He was pointed out as an ingrate, a scandal monger and some suggestions were made that he be ejected from any connection with the game. But he was vindicated in the end.

It is believed that scandals now are made public only through the fear that some writer will get hold of the facts and place the heads of the game in a bad position by exposing them.

FIRPO LOSES TO CHARLES WEINERT

Is Outpointed by Newark Heavyweight in Twelve Round Bout.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 13.—Luis Angel Firpo attempted ring comeback was rudely halted last night when Charlie Weinert, local heavyweight, gave the South American champion a boxing lesson in 12 rounds of a no-decision fight and in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside, gained a comfortable shade over the Argentine.

The Wild Bull was distanced at the way. His bull-like rushes which featured his fight with Dempsey were missing and his terrific right which has reaped its harvest of knockouts, was virtually of no use to him against a clever boxer of the type of Weinert.

The Newark boy simply poured his left and crossing with his right, which put the Argentine on the defensive during the most of the fight. Firpo attempted to box with Weinert, but his awkwardness was no match for Weinert's skill and, although the Newarker was fast tiring toward the close of the match, there was no question among the ringside experts but that his shade was decisive. There were no knock-downs.

Practically Firpo endeavored to counter with the terrific right which once bested Weinert in two rounds in Philadelphia, before Firpo's fight with Dempsey, but Weinert evaded any issue with that right and tied up the Argentine at every level in which that blow was involved.

Weinert gained confidence as the fight progressed when he saw how his style confused Firpo.

Although Weinert's margin was wide, he absorbed considerable punishment himself, both fighters bleeding profusely when the final gong had sounded. Firpo's face was badly cut, both eyes being cut and blood streaming from his nose and mouth. Firpo weighed 222 and Weinert scaled 184.

The Argentine fighter appeared slower than ever and seemed to have made no improvement since his defeat by Harry Wills.

In a thrilling semi-final match, Miguel Ferrara, of Argentine, Firpo's heavyweight sparring partner, knocked out Jack Showers, Elizabeth, N. J. negro, in the first round of a programmed ten-round affair. The second came after two minutes and 14 seconds of fighting.

The preliminaries, with a lone exception, proved to be a series of knock-out exhibitions. In the semi-final Joe Lewis, of New York, outpointed Harold Mays, of Bayonne, N. J., in a 10 round no-decision affair in the opinion of newspaper critics at the ringside. The play are light-heavyweights.

Billy Prestage, of England, knocked out Jack Townsend, of Pittsburgh, in the second round of a six round match. In the opener Frankie Bates, of Newark, in the first round. A crowd estimated at 8,000 attended the exhibition.
