GARY TELLS WOMEN THEY HAVE ARRIVED

Are Bearing Heavy Responsibilities as Ably as Men, He Declares.

New York, Oct. 12—Problems of interest to women in private and public life are scheduled for discussion during the four-day session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, which opened Tuesday at the Commodore. About 1,000 of the 8,000 delegates had reached the hotel. Speakers at the dinner, which was called the Helmut Fellowship dinner, a yearly event in honor of Mrs. William Tudor Helmut, a past president of the federation, included Elbert H. Gary, Professor Nelson P. Meade, Hans W. Kuitert, and Mrs. D. Denison, vice-president of the federation. Mrs. William H. Purdy presided. The delegates are the guests of the clubs in the Ninth District of the State, including cities and towns in Orange, Dutchess, Rockland and Westchester counties.

"Women have come into their own," said Judge Gary. "For a great many years they were considered by the majority of men and a minority of women not quite equal to the men. But quietly, peacefully and persistently they organized, selected leaders and pursued a course of demanding what was their right. Finally a majority of the men, shamed that they had considered that they alone should be the managers of affairs, granted the women's demands. This organization grew in strength until the women succeeded in everything they had set out to achieve. You'll pardon me saying what I'd say to any men occupying responsible positions and who have been successful with the privilege of success goes a corresponding responsibility. But I am glad to say that the women are living up to this responsibility."

After outlining the aims of "Safety Week," and telling of the good record of the past two days in reducing the number of avoidable accidents, Judge Gary asked the clubwomen to co-operate.

SHOT IN MOTHER'S HOME

Girl's Fickleness Results in Double Tragedy.

Olean, N. Y., Oct. 12—Gertrude Blinn Carlton, twenty years old, of Olean, and Anthony Barone, twenty-three, a taxi cab driver, Buffalo, are dead as a result of a murder and suicide tragedy in the home of Mrs. May Blinn, mother of the girl. Romance, however, was not overshadowed by grim death, and Rose Illo and Philip Pins, of Buffalo who came here with Gertrude and Barone for the purpose of marrying, went through with their programme. Justice of the Peace E. Boyd Baker performed the ceremony, which was arranged by police, two hours after the tragedy.

The Carlton girl was shot in the head after she refused to return to Buffalo with Barone, with whom she was living. Both had been married, but not to each other.

The mother was in the kitchen when the first shot was fired. She ran to the aid of the police, who were called by the girl. Gertrude was standing with the revolver in her hand. Gertrude, with a bullet through the forehead, had fallen to the floor. Barone pointed the gun at the mother, who stopped. The Buffalo man then pressed the gun against his temple and fired the shot that killed him instantly.

Gertrude left Barone "one week ago," said the mother, and she followed her here and escorted her back to Buffalo. The girl told him she was weary of him last night, and he killed her when she refused to return with him.

The National Railway Board

La Presse: "It is permissible to believe that the choice of Sir H. Thornton as president of the National Railway Board is a fortunate choice. His professional experience is an excellent guarantee, and being a stranger to our differences of opinion on the question of railway nationalization in Canada, perhaps he will be the better able to ignore the fact and rely exclusively upon the technical factors to find a solution to the problem. The choice of directors appears to have been judiciously made. Apart from Mr. J. H. Sinclair, formerly member of Parliament, the members are all strangers to active politics. They are business men of high reputation. We will judge them only after seeing them at work. It may be said in the meantime that the Government's selection of a railway board manifests a sincere desire to fulfil its promise to give a fair trial to the system of nationalization into which the country has been drawn. It is to be hoped that this fair trial will give the good results promised by the patrians of nationalization. But if, as we fear, experience demonstrates the contrary, and if, in spite of the competence attached to this work, the defects of the national railways remain endemic, we shall hope, and, if necessary, we shall hesitate to demand that the fair trial will not be unduly prolonged, for it is the country, it is the public treasury, which pays the expenses of this trial, and such a costly experiment cannot be continued unduly without danger."

FINEST IN THE WORLD.

During a recent visit to Great Britain the members of the Chicago streets committee were greatly impressed with the efficiency of the underground railway system of London. They admired that it was the finest system of transport on a large scale in the world; and the chairman of the committee described the conditions as luxurious. In spite of the high standard attained, improvements continue to be made in the service and in the mechanical equipment. The latest effort to keep in the van of progress is in connection with new carriages. The Underground Company has put five of the prominent rolling stock manufacturers of Great Britain in competition with each other, so as to encourage the introduction of clever innovations which will lead to economy of operation and additional convenience and comfort to the passengers. These new cars will be built of steel throughout so as to give additional strength and security against fire.
