The boy, filled with the exploits of dime novels, determined to go to Texas. His father, learning his intentions, followed him to a neighboring town and brought him home. This incensed young Benson and, securing a box of Rough on Rats, he put it in the coffee. At the first meal the father drank of the deadly beverage, and was taken violently ill. Dr. Stinson was called in and while attending the father partook of the next meal, and, with the boy's mother, became a victim of the poisoning. AGAINST SEAL SLAUGHTER Carloads of Petitions to the American Senate Against the Bill.

Washington, March 19.—Protests against the bill to exterminate Alaskan seals have been received here by the carload. It is remembered that a bill has already passed the lower branch of congress having for ist object the authorization for the killing of all seals in American waters. This step was taken because the British government has bluntly refused to co-operate with the United States to protect seals swimming in waters off the Canadian and Alaskan coast. Much money has been spent by Uncle Sam in past years to maintain a supply of seals. We were protecting English seals, too, without any aid whatever from the English government. This session of congress, however, awakened to the fact that Uncle Sam has been doing all this protective work, and that Great Britain was reaping a part of the harvest. On of the most amusing descriptions of America is that which recently appeared in the Nachrichten (Balse, Switzerland). It America is that which recently appeared in the Nachrichten (Balse, Switzerland). It runs as follows:

"America is a country in comparison with which Europe is but a small peninsula. The United States is an empire by whose side the powers of Europe appear as petty states. America is the land of unmeasured capacity and dimensions, the land of dollars and electricity, the land where the plains are wider, the rivers greater, the waterfalls higher, the bridges longer, the express trains faster, the catastrophes more horrible than in Europe; the country where the buildings are tailer, the rascals more numerous, the poor poorer, the millionaires richer, the thieves bolder, the murderers less bothered, and educated people more rare than anywhere else. It is the land in which the teeth are more false, the corsets tighter, diseases more dangerous, corruption more common, insanity more systematic, the summer hotter, the winter more chilly, fire warmer, ice colder, time more costly and men more rester, time more costly and men more rest-less than in sleepy old Europe. The land where old men are younger and youths old-er, the niggers blacker and whites yellow-er than elsewhere, the land of immensur-able natural resources, and of the most prodigious avarice. In short: America is the land of the greatest contrasts the prodigious avarice. In short: America is the land of the greatest contrasts, the craziest presumption, the most reckless must after the dollar; it is the land of everything colossal and unapproachable—the last, of course, from an American point of view."
