that had been made of the arms and ammunition. The men from the province of Kassam, claimed that there were more Turks in their province than where, and they ought to have at least half the ammunition and guns. On the other hand, those of the other provinces claimed that the province of Kassam had received a boatload of arms last week.

The discussion reached such a pitch of excitement that the American was told to go below in order to get out of danger. However, no shots were fired and not a blow was struck, but amid much shouting and gesticulation 100 of the inhabitants of the province of Kassamo left the boat, saying that they would let the guns go which were destined for them in order that their fathers and brothers might get them, but they themselves would return to Athens and secure arms at their own expense.
After this delay of at least an hour the vessel started out of the harbor and was on for Crete. The American spent the night on the captain's deck, and the weather was so warm that it was perfectly comfortable without any wrappings. The sun rose bright and hot, and toward noon there was not a spot on the whole boat that was not like a furnace.

These people are a strange lot. To-day at noon money was distributed among them, about a dollar to each, but during the night some disagreement arose and the captain had to postpone the whole affair in order to prevent a riot.
The crowning glory of the day was the rush made when the rifles were first tried. These men have for so long a time been obliged to fight for their lives that they consider firearms the one thing most to be prized in life. They are a race evidently hard to manage, but with a good deal more strength of character than would be expected in this climate. They all insisted on the consideration of their breaking bread with the very big chiefs patting him on the back in a very petting way. When Li Hung Chang and his party from the train will leave Washington city Saturday night, arriving at Niagara Falls at

THAT AWFUL ORDER

The Sultan Had Actually Issued an Order for the Massacre of All Armenians.

Ambassadors of the Powers Had to Use Threats to Get It Rescinded.

The Recent Atrocities at Constanti-

Wrath of Europe.

London, Sept. 5.—The Chronicle this morning contains an interview with Miss Grace H. Kimball, M.D., the American missionary from Bangor, Me., who did such heroic work in the relief of the Armenians during the late massacres. Miss Kimball has just arrived in London from Turkey, and was an eye-witness of the recent massacres in Constantinople and Boebeck. She expresses the belief that the massacres that a sufficient appreciation for the completion of the rifle range would be granted. They also met Hon. Mr.

A PECULIAR BOYCOTT

Notel Measures Adopted by Germany to Boycott Wheels of American Manufacture.

The Czar and Czarina Cordially Received by the Emperor and the Empress.

Dr. Langheld's Consumption Specific is Now Admitted into General Practice.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—The bicycle manufacturers of Germany are greatly alarmed at the progress which American wheels have made in this country during the past few months, and they have adopted novel methods in getting the better of the American competition. American firms have been heavy advertisers in German papers, but now their advertisements are refused, because the German manufacturers threaten to withdraw their advertisements if American wheels are noticed. The German papers are taking the matter up and are urging that the duty on American wheels be increased.
A petition to that effect will be presented to the reichstag at its coming session. Thus the matter stands at present, but as the American firms have contracted with some of the papers which now refuse their advertisements, developments are possible.

Dr. Langheld's consumption specific named Chinoxon, is now admitted into general practice, and some of the leading hospitals, the clinics of Vienna and the imperial test institute of this city have just reported favorably upon it.
Breslau, Sept. 5.—The czar and czarina have arrived. They were received at the railroad station by the emperor and empress of Germany, the royal princes and princesses, the chancellor, Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, and a large number of military and civil officials.
After most cordial greetings had been exchanged between the imperial parties the czar inspected the guard of honor and their majesties drove to the castle, escorted by cavalry. The czar and Empress William occupied the first carriage, and the czarina and empress of Germany the second. The route to the castle was lined with troops, and the crowds cheered the emperors and em-presses an enthusiastic reception.

exchanged between the imperial parties
and their majesties drove to the castle,
press William occupied the first carriage,
presses an enthusiastic reception.

have just reported favorably upon it.
and princesses, the chancellor, Baron
number of military and civil officials.
