HOW PEACE NEWS IS RECEIVED IN LONDON.

LONDON, Aug. 10 .- All the London morning papers devote the greater part of the space to news from the two Portsmouths. Special despatches from Portsmouth, N. H., giving the opinion of the correspondents relative to the peace negotiations, are somewhat pessimistic, especially those to the Times and the Daily Telegraph, both of which convey the impression that the nego tiations are certain to end in failure.

The visit of the French squadron to Portsmouth, Eng., and the events connected with this visit are receiving unusual attention. Today the French naval officers will visit London as the guests of the city. They will be banquetted at the Guild Hall, where covers will be laid for 800. ## the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg, THE TWO GRAND FALLS POWER GOMPANIES

Will Have to Fight Out Who Owns the Land and Water Rights.

When the Grand Falls Power Company incorporated recently under provincial charter begins to spend that eleven million dollars in development work ,there is a strong possibility of Grand Falls Power Company, which was incorporated under dominion charter, claims to own all the rights, and the land at Grand Falls, and has no intention of giving them up. This company, of which Sir William Van-Horne is the head, has never yet done anything in the way of development. In order that the provincially incorporated company may start work, it will have to expropriate lands, and the question arises as to whether such a company can take lands held by another concern which has a dominion charter. It is understood that the province does not recognize the right of the dominion to give away provincial rights, and also that the VanHorne Company fails to recognize the power of the province to override a dominion

That he loves his wife dearly seem to be proven by the fact that before he was moved from his boarding house to the hospital, and after the shooting, he became delirious and in his ravings he constantly called for her. From what the people in the house tell, Hill and his wife, who is a very pretty little woman, lived very happily together apparently up to about month ago. Three weeks or so ago he confided to his landlady that his matrimonial troubles were getting so heavy that he was thinking of committing suicide and the motherly lady who presides over the boarding house at 181 St. George street, gave him a lecture, and pointed out that if he did so his mortal soul would be lost.

About a week ago his wife left him, and her not coming back was no doubt the direct cause of the shooting. It had the desired effect, however, or bringing her to him, and she visited him at the hospital yesterday, where there was a sort of reconciliation, and where he handed her over the keys to their rooms.-Montreal Star.

ROBERT FULTON ON VISIT TO BOSTON

Tells How the Paris Grew Used to Win Races.

He and John McKelvey Met and Entertained by a Number of Old St. John Men.

When the St. John boat docked at Commercial wharf yesterday, among the passengers was a broad-shouldered man, about six feet in height, who, were it not for the silvery tinge of his hair and beard, would readily pass for 40 years of age. He was Robert Fulton, stroke oar of the famous Paris crew of St. John, N. B., which was in its day the undisputed champion four oared crew of the world. Mr. Fulton was accompanied by John McKelvey, a Conadian customs official on the steamer CalvinAustin, and they were taken in tow by John Gorman of 59 Hanover street, this city, and Richard J. White and John A. White, all old St. John men, Richard White having been a member of the Lynn city government five years. After looking the city over, the party called at the Globe office, where Mr. Fulton talked rowing, becoming espe cially enthusiastic when the merits of the sliding seats were discussed. Mr. Mills, Q.: Fulton, like many veteran wielders of the spruce, believes that the stationary seats were all that could be desired for speed and staying qualities in a crew. As a basis for his opinion he said the crew gave the movable seat a square test and then abandoned it altogether. He was positive, and greased patch, which eventually brought about the mevable seat, was not productive of additional speed. He cited the case of the English crews defeated by the St. John men.

"The English crew, escecially the one in which Renforth rowed, were firm believers in bumping it through," he said, which meant nothing more nor less than submerging the forward part Sons Ranch, Alberta; total score, of the boat when power was applied and depending on the running between

We had much to contend with in those days, for we rarely took more than a few days for training, while many of the other crews devoted their whole time to it. When we went to Europe we had two weeks' rowing at South Hampton for the Peris race, which was a long period for us. "On the other side we were aston-ished to find the other crews boated in fine racing shells, while we rowed in the 'Sheriff Harding,' which weighed over 200 pounds. We rowed in two races, one to be rowed on the gunwale and the other classed as an outrigger race. We won both handily and got the gold medals, something we prized more than money
