FACE SLASHED OPEN WITH JACK-KNIFE

George Dangard, Danish Sailor, is Charged With Cutting and Wounding Wm. McDonald, a Fellow Workman

George Dangard, aged 28 years and a native of Denmark, spent last night in the Water street lock-up charged with the serious offence of stabbing William McDonald and causing severe injury. Dangard, who has been a sailor, has of late been employed at longshore work, and with McDonald boarded in Ole Martin's boarding house at 59 Smarte street. During the afternoon there was some drinking among the men and the two had a slight altercation. Dangard went to his room and shortly after six o'clock McDonald and another boarder were eating their evening meal in the dining room.

Dangard rushed from his room with an open jack knife in his hand, and it is alleged, before McDonald had time to guard himself he was stabbed across the left cheek with the knife. This ended the assault as Dangard was seized hold of by other men in the house. McDonald was bleeding badly from the wound which laid his cheek open, and sought the aid of a doctor. It took eleven stitches to close the cut. About 7.30 o'clock Sergt. Campbell and Police Constable White were notified of the assault and placed Dangard under arrest. The prisoner is charged with cutting and wounding.

SPLIT IN LIBERAL PARTY WIDENING

Indignant Member Writes to Globe Protesting Against Preponderance of Irish-Catholics at Primaries

The result of the Liberal primaries on Thursday evening was not at all to the satisfaction of many members of the Liberal party and there is talk of all sorts of trouble. Among the rank and file of the party yesterday there were stories of cliques and rings which strove to secure success for one wing of the party to the exclusion of others.

The list of names of the delegates chosen to represent the party at the nominating convention in the near future, makes interesting reading and the most noticeable feature of it is the absence of many of the old party stalwarts. The selection of so many new men in the list of delegates has, in fact, made a serious situation for the local party leaders who thought all they had to do was to elect their own men, and then rush a cut-and-dried programme through the convention. This nice little plan was, however, spoiled, because the leaders did not properly estimate the strength of the members of the party who might not be in accord with the scheme.

Letter Shows Feeling. An evidence of the feeling among some members of the party may be gathered from the following letter which appeared in last evening's issue of the Globe:

To the Editor of the Globe: Sir—I would recommend that Protestants, whose letter in defence of home rule appeared in your columns last evening, make a careful analysis of the results of the primary elections in the different wards last night, and particularly would I call his attention to Lansdowne ward, where the Irish Catholics allowed one Protestant to go through (as a substitute). This is certainly a bright and shining example of the fair and generous treatment that would be meted out to the Protestants in Ireland, should the Roman Catholics succeed in foisting home rule on the people.

Believing the success of the party is of far more importance than the victory of any one element in it over another, I am, Respectfully yours, AN EQUAL RIGHTS LIBERAL.

In Guy's ward there is also trouble because of the contention that the Roman Catholic members of the party were not represented in the list of delegates.

Then there is another merry war on between the members of the Young Liberal's Club and some of the leaders of the party. The resolution from the Young Liberals asking permission to send seven delegates to the convention was placed before the electors and in Kings ward it was turned down. This is thought to settle Mr. Lantulum's chances as far as the young men of the party are concerned.

General Fight Promised. On the other hand Mr. Lantulum's friends claim that he will be re-elected on the ticket or there will be blood on the moon. In fact it is expected that there will be a general fight over the representation of the Catholics of the city on the ticket. A majority of Catholics claim that as they to a large extent control the party in this constituency there should be two Catholic members on the ticket. The machine candidate will be W. J. Mahoney, barrister. This is understood to have been arranged some time ago. Edward Lantulum may be the second member, or, if he does not suit the views of all, his mantle may fall upon the shoulders of his nephew, Dr. Thomas H. Lunney. West End Catholics are determined that Ald. Scully must get a place or there will be more trouble and altogether that convention promises to be a most interesting one.

BOARD OF TRADE TO CALL MEETING

Full Membership to Discuss Council's Action on Recommendation for Plebiscite on Commission Plan

At a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade, last evening, it was decided to call a meeting of the full board on Monday, the 16th inst., at 8 p. m., for the purpose of considering the action and recommendations of the council looking towards the adoption of the commission form of government by the city of St. John, and determining what further measures should be taken to accomplish this object.

It was further decided to recommend the Board to call a citizens meeting of those favorable to civic government by commission for the purpose of organization, and to formulate a plan of commission government embodying the essential features adopted and in operation in other cities.

A special committee was appointed to consider the proposed tariff changes and report as to how they would affect St. John.

A resolution was adopted condemning the present form of the eight hour bill now before the federal parliament on the ground that unless it was made to apply to all trades, it would involve discrimination in shops where more than one class of workmen were employed and likely result in friction.

A meeting of the council of the board will be held at 11 a. m. on Monday.
