The urgent necessity of the... All collaborated in bringing it about... The council, he said, had had sixteen meetings so far and had considered many complicated questions of world wide importance.

Reference was also made to the prominent part played by the speaker of the evening in the founding of the League.

Membership cards were passed around, and the whole available number, over two hundred, were signed and submitted to L. P. D. Tilley, the New Brunswick representative on the Dominion committee of the League of Nations Society.

In beginning his address, Sir George said, "The object of this meeting, as far as I am concerned is not for entertainment but for instruction."

There they asked themselves, if there was not another method, than that of war, of securing an equitable peace for the future, and there arose the idea of a World League of Nations, which by combining national and moral sentiment might put down the metes and bounds, that through arbitration and judicial proceedings, should supplant war in the settling of international disputes and grievances.

The League, so conceived, was not Sir George said, the product of any one brain. Woodrow Wilson was no

A bill to make a return ticket, issued by any railway company, good on the lines of any other railway company running between the same terminals was also thrown out by the Railway Committee.

Glen Falls Meeting Was Well Attended

J. D. Palmer, Dr. J. H. Barton and J. Starr Tait Addressed Audience Last Evening for Opposition.

The meeting held last evening at the Manor House, Glen Falls, in the interests of the candidate of the provincial opposition party was well attended and speakers were given a most attentive hearing.

The chair was occupied by James Ross and the speakers were J. D. Palmer, leader of the opposition, Dr. J. H. Barton, the candidate, and J. Starr Tait.

The first speaker was J. D. Palmer. He expressed his pleasure at seeing so many ladies present as this showed they were taking an interest in the affairs of the country.

They had accused the old government of all kinds of extravagance, but what did the record show? In 1917 the expenditure for justice was $24,000. In 1921 it had grown to $38,000. The contingent fund had grown from $25,000 in 1917 to $59,000 in 1921.

They had also accused the old government of an increase of 45 per cent. Take the matter of salaries, in the Crown Lands department these had increased from $18,000 in 1917 to $19,000 in 1921 and in the public accounts department from $18,000 to $21,000 and in addition there had been paid a cost of living bonus of $300 in 1919; $10,700 in 1920 and about $5,000 in 1921.

They claimed to be a democratic government, but the reverse was true. The members of the House were supposed to vote the money necessary to carry on the affairs of the province, and there was provision made in case of necessity there might be a special warrant ordered by the executive. What had this government done in this regard? They had issued special warrants on ordinary account of $574,892.99 and on capital expenditure of $700,000. In the voting of these sums the representatives of the people as a whole had no say.

Dealing with the hydro matter, Mr. Palmer pointed out some more "good" business of the government in expenditure of $2,000,000 in a development on land to which they had not yet acquired the title.

"Who," said he, "are the owners of this land? I am told they are the Inglewood Pulp Co. and I have been informed that one of the largest stockholders in the Inglewood Pulp Co. is also a large shareholder in the Daily Telegraph. This to my mind has, as the Telegraph would say, a 'sinister' appearance."

Mr. Palmer made a strong appeal for hard work from now until the polls were closed on June 10, so that Dr. Barton would have a good chance of majority.

Dr. Barton, was the next speaker introduced by the chairman. He said Mr. Foster had, in the very room in which he was speaking, addressed an audience which a great government he was testing, and how much they were doing for the country. It was true they had spent a large amount of money, but how much of it was spent on the roads and bridges in St. John county until this election was called on. Today they were doing some work for the purpose of catching votes but he did not believe the people were going to be fooled, by that kind of practice.

J. Starr Tait was the last speaker of the evening. He said this campaign was not one to be fought on on Dominion party lines. It was the interests of the Province of New Brunswick that were to be protected, and all lovers of good government were asked to oppose the present extravagant administration the province had ever seen. If they remained in power and continued the mad pace they were going in a few years the province would be facing bankruptcy and direct taxation.

Mr. Tait had a few words to say about the enforcement of the liquor laws. He claimed they were openly and flagrantly violated and the government winked at the violation. In closing he said the opposition had in Mr. Palmer a man who could straighten out the tangled affairs of the province, and in electing Dr. Barton they would be hastening the day when the present administration must make way for a more efficient one.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Harding, of St. John, have arrived in the city and will later motor through the Annapolis Valley—Halifax Echo.

ECZEMA ON FACE AND HEAD FOR FIVE YEARS Eczema or oak scum, as it is often called, manifests itself in little round pimples which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break out especially about the nose, in the forehead and the bridge of the nose, and sometimes, especially at night or when the part is exposed to a strong breeze, is almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

There is only one way to get relief and no remedy like BURDOCK BLOOD-BITTERS. Take it internally and it gets at the seat of the disease in the blood and drives it out of the system.

Apply it externally and it soothes the itching, stinging and burning, and removes the scales and crusts.

Mr. I. Sage, 215 Princess Street, Vancouver, B. C., writes: "Having suffered with eczema on the face and head, for the last five years, I consulted several doctors, and tried various kinds of ointments and lotions, but I did not know what to do until a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood-Bitters, and after I had used five bottles I began to get better and now often receive each bottle of Burdock Blood-Bitters on me. I feel that I can give B. B. B. too highly. I hope you will make full use of this recommendation for the benefit of those who are suffering from this terrible condition."
