Three o'clock, P. M., Rev. G. A. Hartley preached; subject-Col. iii. 7. After the close of this meeting the Lord's Supper was administered to a large number of God's people. This was a communion season long to be remembered. For nearly two hours the children of the Lord rejoiced in "God the rock of their salvation."

At 7 o'clock met according to appointment. This was a social meeting, in which ministers and lay brethren and sisters took part. It was a good meeting. This afternoon and evening many of the christian friends took the parting hand perhaps never to meet again on earth, on another so blessed an occasion. These partings lead us to contemplate that meeting which knows no parting.
