The Lily the Queen of Bible Flowers and Thus Appropriately the Chosen Emblem of the Besurrection Morn-The

EFFECTIVE HOMELY SIMILE.

Thus Appropriately the Chosen Em-blem of the Beaurrection Mora-The Flowers of the Spring and the Lessies They Teach Discouraged Mortality The Teach Discouraged Mortality Machington, April 2.-Rev. Dr. Tal-mage dismorting preached from the text, Luke xii, 28, "If then God so clothe the grass, which is to-day in the field and to-worrow is cast into the oven, how much more will be clothe you. O ye of little faith?" He soli: The Illy is the queen of Bible flowers. The rose may have disputed her throne in modern times and won it, but the rose originally had only five potals. I said the flowers are the angels of the grass. I add now they are the evangels have them in her hand. The marriage altar must be covered with them. A wedding without flowers would be as in-appropriate as a wedding without music. At such a time they are for congratula-tion and prophecies of good. So much of the pathway of life is covered up with thorns, we ought to cover the beginning with orance blossoms. with orange blossoms. Flowers are appropriate on such occasions, for in ninety nine out of a hundred cases it is the very best thing that could have happened. The world may criticise and pronounce it an inaptitude and may lift its eyebrows in surprise and think it and pronounce is an impleted and thay lift its eyebrows in surprise and think it might suggest something better, but the God who sees the 20, 40, 50 years of wedded life before they have begun arranges for the best. So that flowers in almost all cases are appropriate for the marriage day. The divergences of disposi-ion will become correspondences, reak-lessness will become predence, frivolity will be turned into practicality. There has been many an aged widowed soul who had a carefully looked burean, and in the bureau a box, and in the box a folded paper, and in the folded paper a half blown reas, slightly fragmant, dis-colored, carefully pressed. She put it there 40 or 50 years ago. On the anni-senary day of her wedding she will go to the bureau, de will kit the box, the will be bureau, the paper, and to her eyed will be exposed the half blown bud, and the memories of the past will rush upon her, and a tear will drop upon the flower, and suddenly it is transfigured, and there is a stir in the dust of the author, and it rounds out, and it is full of life, and it begins to tremble in the procession up Christ from the catacomps. The nowers spell resurrection. There is not a nook or corner in all the building but is touched with the incense. The women carried spices to the tomb of Christ, and they dropped spices all around about the tomb, and from these spices have grown all the former of Kaster morn. The two white begins to tremble in the procession up the church aisle, and the dead music of the church aisle, and the dead music of a half century age comes throbbing through the air, and vanished faces reap-pear and right hands are joined, and a manly voice promises, "I will, for better or for worse," and the wedding march been received :flowers of Easter morn. The two white orbed angels that hurled the stone away from the door of the tomb hurled it with or for worse, and the weading match thunders a solvo of joy at the departing crowd, but a sigh on that anniversary day scatters the scene. Under the deep fetched breath the altar, the flowers, the such violence down the hill that it crushed in the door of the world's sepulche and millions of dead shall come forth. However labyrinthine the mausoleum However labyrinthine the mausoletim, however costly the sarcophagus, however architecturally grand the necropolis, however beautifully parterred the family grounds, we want them all broken up by the Lord of the resurrection. The forms that we laid away with our broken hearts any must rise again. Father and hearts must rise again. Father and mother, they must come out. Husband hushed must be returned. The beloved form must come up without its infirmi-ties, without its fatigues. It must come up. Oh, how long it seems for some of you! Waiting, waiting for the resurrec-tion! How long, how long! I make for your broken hearts to-day a cool, soft bandage of lilies. I comfort you this day with the thought of resurrection. The principal subject under discussion was a long cablegram from Mr Schurmann, chairman of the Prilippine commission now at Manila, which was read by Sec-retary Hay. The part of the message which attracted most attention was that which incleated that Aguinal os' power over his followers was largely based upon coercion and fear of violence in case they opposed him. This message; taken in connection with recent inform-ation received from Gen Otis, has led to the belief among members of the cabi-net that the end of the trouble with the Filipinos is near at hand. Brought the Mule Back. U. S. Senator Morgan was the witness of an interesting incident during his visit to Honolulu. One day a cargo of mules was being carried on a barge to a steamer lying off shore, when one of the mules jumped overboard. When he landed on the beach he took a survey, and saw his fellow-mules still on the barge. and started to join them. After he had swam some distance, a great wave came along and turned him over. When he righted himself he was wild with rage, and blindly headed out for mid-ocean. The a Kanaka, who immediately sprang over-board, swam at a tangent to intercept the mule, and, reaching the animal, olimbed upon his back, and by clever tactics rode the mule direct to the steamer.
