

istence; but some do not want it who vote to restrict it. Restriction is not annihilation. It is there just the same. The people have been tinkering away at restriction for years. What have they restricted? If anything, nothing but the right of some to sell. The people, then, are chargeable with the ownership of the liquor traffic. Those who vote for any measures that do not abolish the unholy business are chargeable with the ownership of the ox. Do we like the ownership? Let us seize every man a stone—the ballot of principle—and lay hard on this old, vicious, pushing ox until he shall sink down upon his knees in the place where now he stands, and give up the ghost. And the owner shall be quit.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Valuable Teachers' Bible.

Of the numerous Bibles that have appeared of recent years, we know of none more helpful than that just received from James Pott & Co., of New York, published at Cambridge, England. In addition to the Scriptures themselves there is a "Companion" of between four hundred and five hundred pages, comprising scholarly articles by some of the best-known Bible students of Great Britain, including such names as Canon Ryle, Bishop Westcott, Dr. Sinker, Professor Moulton, Bishop Perowne, Dr. Robertson Smith, Professor Lumby, and others. Some of the subjects treated by these famous names are "The Structure of the Bible," "The Limits and Growth of the Bible," "The Preservation and Translation of the Bible," "Introduction to the Several Books of the Bible," "Bible History," "The Chronology of the Bible," "The Natural History of the Bible," etc. It is a pleasure to commend the volume. To a careful reader it cannot fail to be immensely serviceable, giving as it does the fruits of the ripest scholarship and the results of the latest discoveries.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON, New York.—The Sermon Bible (Colossians to James): A Harmony of the Gospels. By John A. Broadus, D.D., LL.D.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co., New York.—Brightening the World. By Hiram C. Haydn.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT, New York.—The Interwoven Gospels and Gospel Harmony. Compiled by Rev. William Pittenger. The Pilgrim in Old England. By Amory H. Bradford, D.D.

E. SCOTT & Co., New York.—The Classic Test of Authorship, Authenticity and Authority. By G. W. Samson, former President and Lecturer on Fables in Law Codes at Columbian University, Washington, D. C.

THE LITTLE BOOK PUBLISHING CO., Boston, Mass.—I Myself. By James Logan Gordon, General Secretary Boston Y. M. C. A.

DANIEL MILLER, Reading, Pa.—Heaven. By Rev. Rufus Calvin Zartman, M.A.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, New York.—Revelation by Character. By Robert Tuck, M.A.

THE STANDARD PUBLISHING CO., Cincinnati, O.—Linsey-Woolsey and Other Addresses. By Isaac Errett, A.M., LL.D. How. By W. F. McCauley, President of Ohio Christian Endeavor Union. Bible Lamps for Little Feet. Edited by Charles B. Morrell, M.D.

BOSCHEN & WEFER CO., New York.—The Lutheran Manual. By Junius B. Remensnyder, D.D.

SAALFIELD & FITCH, New York.—A True Son of Liberty. By F. P. Williams.

SCRIPTURAL TRACT REPOSITORY.—The Syrian New Testament Translated into English from the Peshito Version. By James Murdock, S.T.D.

MEYER & BROTHER, Chicago, Ill.—An Autobiography of Mrs. Amanda Smith, the Colored Evangelist.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co., Boston and New York.—Books and their Use. By Joseph Henry Thayer, D.D., Litt. D.

THE UNIVERSAL BOOK CO., New York.—Conflict of the Nineteenth Century—The Bible and Free Thought. By Rev. Thomas Mitchell.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO., New York.—Within College Walls. By Charles Franklin Thwing, President of Adelbert College, etc.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN BOOK ROOM, London.—The Emphasis of Belief. By J. O. Keen, D.D., F. S. Sc. Lond.