CORRIDOR ECHOES

Fred Broden '02, spent most of the holidays in Clinton.
C. W. Prior, '02, has gone into business in St. Catharines.

Mr. Charles Carson, '98, has secured an appointment in the chemical department.
Proctor repairs watches, 344 Yonge street.

The thick of the striking fishermen's riot.
"Bob" Smith and E. Simpson, formerly of '01, are not returning to Varsity this year.

The following members of the century class are at Osgoode Hall this year: Harry Sinclair, Billy Harrison, Frank Brown, Bob Hume and Freddie Stewart.

Mr. De Lury, lecturer in mathematics, was at the Paris Exposition this summer, where he met several of the world's famous mathematicians.

Mr. A. J. Thomson, '00 (McMaster), spent last year at Osgoode University. He is now at Harvard.

Our old friend George Smalley, of the class of forty-nine, who has so ably and cheerfully conducted the Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club for many years, has some new ideas.

Wycliffe College.
Once more Wycliffe finds her rooms and corridors filled with activity and life. There is a strenuousness and general tone of earnestness about the undergraduates this year.

While nothing can adequately take the place of a Residence, yet such an establishment is a move in the right direction.
A meeting of the Athletic Association was held on Wednesday last in the East Assembly Hall.

The football prospects for the coming season are very bright. Although little more than half of last year's line team has returned, still the many new men, who have turned out to daily practice, give indications of becoming as fast as those whose places they are trying for.

The strong scrimmage of last year will be missed, but it is hoped that Cuff, of the Pennsylvania State College; McAuley, and Keough, a last year's spare man, will fill up the breach.

Back of the line, the team will be nearly as strong as last year. Sheridan has not yet returned to college, and his place is being filled by Riley Collins, the star half of '98 and '99, is again on the field.

Our old friend George Smalley, of the class of forty-nine, who has so ably and cheerfully conducted the Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club for many years, has some new ideas.

Prophetess—Miss M. A. Archer, Miss J. M. Bell, Miss C. L. Tapscott.
Poetess—Miss M. Downing, Miss M. E. Marshall, Miss C. L. Tapscott.

OSGOODE NOTES.
The elections are the all-important interest at Osgoode at present. When the first meeting was called, thirteen men responded and a number of men were nominated for office merely to save the trouble of burying the society.

The meeting on Saturday night was the most earnest and most enthusiastic ever known. A written constitution for a long time baffled the united efforts of the whole meeting to postpone the elections for one week.

The next discussion arose on a motion of Mr. O'Donoghue that barristers be given a vote for the undergraduate offices as well as for the presidency. The motion was opposed vigorously by Messrs. Jackson, White and Knox, but the question was finally put and carried after ten men had paid their fees in order to have a vote.

The graduates of '00, better known, maybe, as "Century," have showered a galaxy of brilliant stars into our midst this year. R. M. Millman, B. E. Patterson, W. Rushbrooke, T. W. Savant, and G. H. Wilson are all men who distinguished themselves in their Arts course.

The tickets of the two parties in the coming elections are not definitely fixed at the time of going to press, but we probably be something as follows:
McCarty-Mac, McCarthy-Jackson-Gregg-Ticket.

President—D. L. McCarthy.
First Vice-President—D. L. McCarthy.
Second Vice-President—Alex. MacGregor.
Secretary—S. Embree.

Prophetess—Miss M. A. Archer, Miss J. M. Bell, Miss C. L. Tapscott.
Poetess—Miss M. Downing, Miss M. E. Marshall, Miss C. L. Tapscott.
