QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

NIGHTFLOWERING CATCHFLY.

I am a subscriber to "The Farmer's Advocate," and I thought I would send in a weed for identification. I found it growing in a field this year. What is the name of it, and is it a bad weed?

H. M.

Ans.—This weed is nightflowering catchfly, sometimes called stickycrockle. It is an annual and winter annual, often found in clover fields, and especially alsike. Hand-pull if not too thick. If very bad, cut the alsike for hay. Sow only clean seed, give thorough cultivation, and a short rotation of crops, exclusive of alsike, for a few years, and it will be eradicated.

INVERSION OF VAGINA.

We have a ewe that has been troubled with the outer entrance of the vagina coming out perhaps two or three inches and staying that way. Have put it back now several times, but it has come out again after a short time, and I notice straining, as if to urinate. What can be done for it? Please answer in "The Farmer's Advocate."

T. W. R.

Ans.—If the ewe has not lambed, this is inversion of the vagina, which is not uncommon. All that can be done is to return the part after washing it first with water with ten-per-cent. laudanum, then dressing with alum water, 2 ounces to the pint, and applying a leather truss cut into strips except at ends, and fastened by strings to a rope or strap around the neck, two strings to go between the legs, and two along the sides to prevent re-inversion. If the inversion has occurred after lambing, it is probably prolapsus of the womb, in which case, after washing the part with the laudanum solution, or a weak solution of carbolic acid, it should be returned to its place by the oiled hand, if there be room, or by means of a smooth piece of wood with a broad head, and the truss used as in the other case.

ORCHARD PLANTING—TOLL GATES.

1. What variety of apple trees would you advise us to set out in this northern district in order to meet the developing apple market?
2. What kind of apple tree would be best to set out in order to graft Spies onto them, as Spies do well with us?
3. Would it be of any benefit to the apples to give another spraying, or would it be liable to injure the young apple to apply a lime-sulphur solution?
4. We have sprayed three times in our orchard, but I have noticed on one or two trees that some of the apples have an apparently dry rot commencing on one side, and some are half eaten through. What would you suppose would be the cause of this?
5. Where could I procure an apple-barrel-packing machine, and what would be the probable cost?
6. Where would you advise me to procure nursery stock?
7. How many authorized toll gates are there in Ontario, and where are they located?

J. D.

Ans.—1. For early fall fruit, Duchess is a profitable variety. McIntosh Red is a very hardy tree, and produces delicious fruit for late fall and early winter. Wealthy and Snow also do well in some northern districts. Of course, if your district is not too cold, the old standard winter fruits are valuable, Baldwin, Spy, King and Greening being of the best.

2. A very good variety for top working is Tolman.

3. A fourth spray has a value in combating fungus and in catching the second brood of the codling moth, but it is getting rather late now.

4. Some portions of the tree may have escaped the spray, or it may not have been applied at the proper time to kill all the fungus. It may be due to scab fungus, or to the dry-rot fungus.

5. We presume you mean a press for barrel packing. The cost would be very small, and you should be able to procure it through your local hardware.

6. Any of the nurserymen in Ontario should be able to supply you. They would do well to advertise in these columns.

7. We do not know.
