

Penalty on unlawfully Exporting Pickled Fish not to exceed one-half the value of such Fish.

V.—And be it further enacted, that no greater Penalty shall attach to or be enforced against any Person unlawfully shipping or exporting Uninspected Pickled Fish from this Colony, in contravention of the said Act passed in the Fourth year of the Reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, or this present Act, than a Forfeiture or Penalty of One-half the value of all such Uninspected Pickled Fish so exported or shipped; and such Penalty or Forfeiture shall be sued for and recovered, and applied in the manner prescribed by the said Act, and shall be levied upon the Goods and Chattels of the Person or Persons so exporting or shipping such Uninspected Pickled Fish, or otherwise upon such Fish, or upon so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy the amount of such Forfeiture or Penalty, together with all Costs and Expenses attending the Prosecution against such Shipper or Exporter.
