INCREASE IN CANADA'S REVENUES

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.-An increase over twelve and a half million dollars in the revenues of the Dominion for the first five months of the current fiscal year ending August 31st is shown by the financial statement for the month of August issued to-day by the Department of Finance. claim that their taxes are too high, and

The total revenue for the five months period is $118,350,020 as compared with $105,785,600 for the same period last have totalled $63,580,275 as compared with $51,427,162 last year. For the month of August alone Canada spent $19.571,723 on the war.

The net debt now stands at $1,196,239,-346, as compared with $864,143,590 on August 31, 1917.

O win this war every ounce of the strength of each of the allied nations must be put forth to meet the organized, trained and disciplined efficiency of the Central Powers—that gigantic, ruthless force which is the result of fifty years of planning and preparation.

And every ounce of every allied nation's strength is in the hands and brains and hearts of the individuals of each nation, because they are free peoples.

Now the individuals of each nation must live as well as fight, therefore a proportion of the effort and material of each nation must be diverted from war purposes to living necessities.

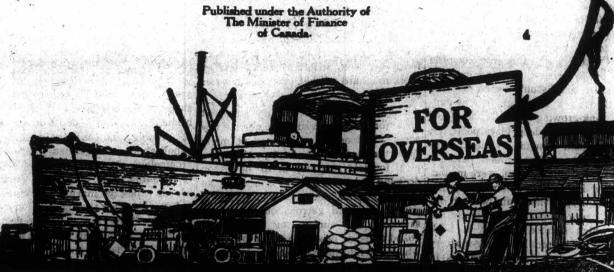

So the less each individual takes for himself or herself. for personal use the more effort will there be left for fighting and winning the war.

Every cent you spend represents that much effort because somebody must do something for you in order to earn that cent-somebody's effort must be given to you instead of to the war.

Therefore the less you spend—the less of somebody's effort you take for your individual use—the more will you leave in the national surplus for war effort.

The war can be won only by the surplus strength of the allied nations. The money each individual saves represents that surplus strength.

So the truly loyal Canadian will use less, spend less, and save more, to help to win the war.

THE O. C. S.

TT is a characteristic of human nature that when we have escaped a serious danger we are careless rather than cautious in the face of a recurrence of it. There are signs that it may be so with the threatening shortage of fuel. If it is there will be serious and widespread suffering in the coming winter.

To meet the demands of the war wil take nearly one hundred million tons of coal more than was mined and transported last year. Increase in production and better transportation facilities cannot possibly make up more than half of it. The other fifty million tons we have got Fuel, especially coal, is the very found ation of all our war activities. It takes coal to smelt iron ore, and coal to make steel, and coal to build ships and more coal to run them, and coal to move trains that haul coal, and still more coal to keep the factories going and make ammunition. One three-inch shell takes twenty pounds of steel, which takes eighty pounds of coal. Think of the million of three-inch shells that must be made! Then remember that a three-inch shell is only a little boy in this war, and see what it means.

Chieffy it means that we-and that is you, too-must save every pound of coal we can. Begin now, by having the furnace or other heating apparatus put in order. Have the fire box and the flues cleaned: soot is a better non-conductor than asbestos. Cover the pipes, so that they will not radiate heat where it is not needed. Have the seams recemented.

only by a wood fire, and there is no evidence that it injured him in mind or body-Be content with sixy-five or sixty-two. Learn how to fire your furnace and how to regulate the drafts. Heating engineers in the service of your local fuel administrator will show you how if you ask them. Put weather strips on your windows and

Finally, do not think you are saving coal by substituting gas or using more electricity. Gas is made from coal, and electricity is usually made by dynamos that are run by the power in burning coal There are many of us who are too old or too young or too weak of body to serve at the front, but there are very few

PASSING OF THE PRIVATE CAR

Private cars are disappearing for the duration of the war. Some time ago, as active travellers on the track of the country, they became non-existent; dead storage claimed them very soon. Now howdoors, get a fireless cooker, and sift your ever, the Railroad Administration contemplates taking them out of camphor, ripping out all their beautiful mahogany, satin-wood, Circassian walnut interiors, and changing them into ordinary sleeping and chair cars. Mayhap, even, the special that once flashed the famous Death Valley millionaire across the continent to a world's amazement, will shortly accommodate the limbs of a lot of hard-fighting soldier boys. Your millionaires and rail road presidents will now admit that private-car travelling was always a bore, anyway. There is nothing like a seat in a really "thick" smoking car, listening to the tobacco-drenched gossip of the Average Man letting the world know what he thinks of his railway administration. Being forced to play Haroun al-Raschid will not hurt our railroad heads.
