QUEBEC'S PROTESTS

Increased Premiums on Soldiers' Insurance Policies Discussed

Ottawa, July 20.-The Military ervice Bill was reported from the ommittee of the Whole in the Comnons last night, and will be read a hird time on Tuesday next. It had een expected that the final stage of the passage of the measure through the Chamber would be reached to-day. When the Chairman of the committee of the Whole reported the bill, however, Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that a number of the Onario members of the Opposition were leaving for Toronto almost immediately, and suggested that the third reading be deferred. Sir Robert Borden agreed to a postponement until Tuesday. He pointed out that the Senate had adjourned until Tuesday, so that the progress of the leferring the third reading.

The exemption clauses of the bill ere amended by the elimination of divinity students from the sub-sec ion exempting the clergy, minister of religion and religious orders. Th lengthy discussion upon the amend ment elicited the information that members of the Salvation Army ho occupied position analagous t those of ministers in other denom inations would be exempted. ther debate was provoked by a pro posal for the suppression of news papers which urge their readers t esist the execution of the law. Th Edmonton member suggested tha summary suppression should only be operative in so far as the issue containing the offending article wa concerned, and that suspension for the period of the war should take place upon a decision of the courts and not upon the order of the cenral appeal judge selected from th Supreme Court Bench Mr Oliver' mendment was voted down.

Some discussion also took place with reference to the increased pre miums collected by insurance com panies when the insured enlisted for erseas service. It was contende that the Government should tak some steps to relieve the soldiers of this added financial burden homas White pointed out the difculties of the situation, but promsed to discuss it with the Superinendent of Insurance and give the House a definite statement.

Time to Business Men

When the House went into Committee of the Military Service Bill, Hon. Chas. Marcil said he had received letters from several business men in Montreal who expected to be called under the Act, and wanted to know if they would be allowed a month or two to wind up their business affairs before going into the service.

Hon. Mr. Meighen replied that provision had been made in the Act to grant such men opportunity to wind up business affairs before go.

A PRETTY FROCK

Michaelis' Speech Holdout, Bluff

Chancellor's Inaugural Address Criticized By The French Press

French Comment
Paris, July 20.—Most newspapers reserve considered judgment Chancellor's Michaelis' ma speech until the full text arrives, but all print prominently the summary and use verbatim such portions of the report as were received up to the time of going to press. The Matin says the program of the Prussian militarism set forth by the chancellor may be summarized in two words, "holdout and bluff." The most striking example of bluff being the disdain wherewith he affects to treat American intervention.

The Matin further points out that the occasion marked by innovation is likely to have great enect in the future — parliament considered it impossible merely to accept the government's declarations, and itself formulated its own views on is likely to have great effect in the peace and war. Besides sacred unity which evidently no longer exists in the German parliament; is no longer a homeogenous force. It is, the paper says, divided on the essential question into a minority, which approves the crown's representative and a majority which maintains its own point of view without, however daring as yet to impose it.

The Journal finds the difference

The Journal finds the difference between von Bethmann-Hollweg and Michaelis is that the former has for the past year been leaning more towards the left and making certain concessions to Conservatives so as to keep his seat among them. The unlimited submarine warfare of Herr Michaelis on the contrary has been put in place by the militarists with rders to react against weakness and to galvanize energies. He is thus obliged to risk a little bluster, trusting by a few tentative formulae to appease discontented parties

The Figaro finds that the speech shows a comprehensible embarrass-ment in the face of a difficult and confused situation in German politics. It is attempt to please all par-ties and will no doubt end as might be expected by satisfying none. It is also plain, says The Figaro, that Germany does not intend to state plainly her war objects. She does not offer peace and if she declares she does not desire conquest the situation remains as equivocal as ever.
London, July 20—A dispatch received by the Wireless Press says the Speech of Chancellor Michaelis was awaited with the greatest excitement. The parliament building was surrounded by a large crowd as early as the noon. The house was filled to overflowing, as on previous great days, while in the diplomatic boxes appeared the ambassadors of Austria-Hungary and Turkey and representatives of Bulgaria and all other nations having diplomatic of-ficials in Berlin. Some of the am-hciais in Berlin. Some of the ambassadors had interrupted their leaves of absence to be present.

Various princely personages were in the royal box, among them Prince Max of Baden and the Prince of Braunschwieg. Members of the bundesrat, the state secretaries, all the Prussian ministers and meny. Prussian ministers and many high officials of the government also

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

A special meeting of the township council was held last evening, called action to defend the interests Burford township against the Equalization by-law that was passed at the last session of the county coun-cil. His Honor Judge Hardy has appointed Wednesday next, July the 25th at 11 o'clock in the forenoon as the time for the preliminary hearing, at which no argument is expected. After considerable discussion the following resolution was "That the Reeve and Mr. Kendrick be appointed to guard the interests of the township of Brantford in the of the township of Brantford in the matter of the appeal for equalization of assessment made by the township of Burford for the levying of county rates and that the expenses incurred by such appeal be discharged from the treasury of the township, the appointment of a lawyer to be a part of their duty."

The engineer was also instructed to take such steps as might be necessary to repair the Parkdale drain and place it in a workship condition.

sary to repair the Parkale drain and place it in a workable condition, and report on the work to the council. The cost of this work will be proportionately assessed on the persons benefitting.
