

MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1836.

There was a public dinner at Baltimore, on the 14th instant, for an object highly creditable to American feeling. It was to express approbation of the liberal course pursued towards the United States, by the Government of Great Britain, in the affair of the mediation. Hon. S. Fox, Esq., His Britannic Majesty's Minister, was specially invited. The Chief Justice of the United States, the Vice-President, and the Heads of Departments, the Diplomatic Representatives of Foreign Powers (including the Secretary of the British Legation, and the British Consul of New York), the Commissioners of the Navy, the Maryland Senators in the United States Senate, the Representatives in Congress from the City of Baltimore, the District Judge of the District, and the Mayor of the City, were invited as guests.

Every liberal mind must rejoice at the growing feeling of cordiality between the United States and Great Britain; and the successful general adoption of the letter-impressing process, will, undoubtedly, tend to strengthen it. At the dinner which we have mentioned, the greatest good feeling towards Britain prevailed. One of the toasts was—

" His Britannic Majesty, William the Fourth—We recognize in his late mission, on the one hand, the chivalrous spirit of a generous and benevolent nation; on the other, an honest acknowledgment of the ties of kindred to a people who have inherent with English law and liberty, a claim to share in the early triumph of England's arts and arms. May this mission be the sure foundation of permanent friendship between our two countries."

Mr. Fox's eloquent reply, we give entire. He makes no mincing representation, and takes no affectedly mushy view of the steady march of reform in England. He regards the changes that are now taking place, in the light of sober reason, and not through the distorted medium of party spirit or炽热的偏见。

Mr. Fox responded to the above toast in the following language—

" I thank you most sincerely in the name of my government and of my country, for the manner in which you have drawn the healths of the Sovereigns of Great Britain, and for the hearty, frank, and honest acknowledgment of the acts and well known the value of its results—Gentlemen, I may truly say that it is for the interest of the whole human race that America should be a model to the blessing of the world—for America, in her turn, to bring blessings to a noble race. When I behold the amazing, the unexampled progress which this country is making, is daily and hourly increasing, in all respects, so far as culture, education, and science are concerned, and in every branch of industry and commerce—when I behold those things, and, when I reflect, on the other hand, upon how nice a balance the event seemed likely to hang, whether all these happy promises, which were made for us, would be suddenly crossed, and interrupted by the rude hand of fate—I find that it is a just cause for exultation to an Englishman, that the mediation of his government has been, in some measure, instrumental in averting such a calamity. A friendly alliance, so long as friendship exists between England, America and France, the sure command peace over the globe. I am greatly perturbed, that a war was now waged, between our two great sister nations, powers, which you all know, are destined to be the chief promoters of the general improvement of mankind."

Gentlemen, in thanking you for the toast, you have drunk to the health of my native country. I will add, that I never saw a king in a world, so far as I am concerned, more popular than King William IV. I greatly rejoice, so long as friendship exists between two great, England, America and France, the sure command peace over the globe. I am greatly perturbed, that a war was now waged, between our two great sister nations, powers, which you all know, are destined to be the chief promoters of the general improvement of mankind."

The recent abolition of Orange Lodges in England, has elicited much anger and triumph to the few Royalists, who are the "stain of society at home, as well as abroad." So says the Colonist. "We are not Royalists, in the offensive sense. The Sons of the Revolution, and a few others, most sincerely, and spontaneously, sympathize with the abolition of Orange Lodges, both in England and Ireland. These Associations were constituted upon a vicious basis. Their members, under the east of brotherly kindness, and affection, were taught to despise their fellow creatures whose religious creed differed from their own. It is high time, therefore, that all such sectional and intolerant societies should be dissolved."

The receipts of the American Bible Society for the past year amounted to $104,500. The Bibles and Testaments issued for the same period have been—

English Bibles.....$3,150

German Testaments.....$1,410

French Bibles.....$50

Spanish Bibles.....$25

Modern Testaments.....$1,440

Portuguese Bibles and Testaments.....$1

Welsh Bibles and Testaments.....$6

Arabic, Swedish and Dutch Bibles.....$5

and other Testaments.....$10

Making in all, $101,604 copies, and an aggregate, since the formation of the Society, of $1,983,430.

Under the auspices of this Society, a very interesting work—a New Testament for the blind—is in course of publication. The first of the four volumes, of which it will be composed, being completed. In this kind of typography the letters are angular and raised from the surface of the paper, so as to make them perceptible by the touch.

An accident happened a few days since, in the family of Dr. HENRY MOYER, of Point Claire, which threatened to be followed by the most tragic consequences. A small box, containing arsenic, had, by some unhappy inadvertency, been left within reach of the children! Two fine little boys,—the oldest five, and the youngest three years of age,—playing near it, saw and opened it. Thinking it to be refined sugar, they took a quantity of it. They were soon afterward seized with violent vomiting and spasms, which continued from nine o'clock in the morning till eleven at night. Unfortunately, Dr. Moyers was absent. But Mrs. Moyer, suspending, for the moment, every expression of her grief, with promptitude, and great presence of mind, applied the remedies suggested by her good sense, and applied them with signal success. The arrival of Dr. Moyers achieved their recovery.

The Hon. G. C. Weston and E. McDowell, Esq., have been appointed Commissioners, on the part of West India, to act with the Commissioners of New Brunswick and this Province, for ascertaining the most fit sites for settlements on the Islands of St. Paul and St. Pierre. Jads at Montreal, April 10, 1836.

We understand that Major-General Sir JOHN COLEMAN, Lady COLEMAN and family, leave this city for England, via New York, tomorrow morning, at ten o'clock. Grand Hotel, 105 Broad Street, New York.

A vessel, named the Monkfish, of three hundred tons burthen, intended as a trader between Buffalo and the Port on Lake Michigan, was launched the other day at Grand Island, on the Niagara River. Jads at Montreal, April 10, 1836.

A Steamboat-Canal between Lake Ontario and the "Hudson" River, by the way of Oswego and Utica, is beginning to excite considerable attention among the inhabitants of the West.

Bills for the construction of twenty-four Railways were largely passed in one day by the New York Assembly.

It appears that Scotland recognized Americans, who might be citizens, by any of the Courts of the Mixed Commission established by Spain and England jointly, to be entitled to the same rights, and to be bound out with signal success. The arrival of Dr. Moyers achieved their recovery.

Such was the mode, and such were the means, employed for the reduction of Canada—and such was the success, which followed the conduct and policy of military commissioners, and their agents, in their efforts to subdue the rebellion. If the English were ignorant of the true character of this Colony in their minds, they were so in their hearts, between themselves. The mind is very prone to self-conceit and self-satisfaction. The fact is, that the former, however, had succeeded in impressing the French at their value; while the new immigrants were much shocked by the wisdom of the conquerors, to estimate correctly the natural resources of the land.

A slight notice of the state and condition of Canada, at this time, and for small bills of $20 &c. &c. We generally pull it off as an improvement, and a few more weeks, and we have a tendency to update this information, on the part of the French.

The American Whig Society, is to be congratulated, upon the birth of a daughter, and now stands upon a vigorous basis. Their numbers, under the east of brotherly kindness, have increased, were caught to convert the most unfeeling towards a portion of their fellow creatures whose religious creed differed from their own. It is high time, therefore, that all such sectional and intolerant societies should be dissolved.
