On these apprehensions, Mr. Foster seized as a means of effectively by twenty years of the bitterest kind an annual allowance of $405.375, be- Foster's session. He led the effective attacking the Bill. He denounced it as a measure for the enrichment of the Western farmers as a means of giving "largess" to those who had already received "a princely gift" headed his associates in throwing up barriers to prevent its passage. His Western friends shirked indeed the responsibility of openly opposing the pre-emption privilege, but they lent their voices and votes to the business of delay; discussed details at inconsiderate length; imported irrelevant questions and founded on them pretexts for holding up clauses; and succeeded in making it absolutely impossible to get the bill through.

From this it was clear that if the pre-emption principle was to be established at all its must be introduced in a less comprehensive scope. The Bill was therefore re-cast, and the pre-emption privilege made to apply only to an area in which 160 acres had been found an insufficient at traction to secure settlers. During the debate, however, the Minister took occasion to say that if found to work well in respect to this tract the provisions of the bill could be given broader scope in future, and made to apply to other areas. For the time being, however, it had to be pre-emp tion limited or pre-emption at all.

In this modified form the bill was not openly attacked by the Opposition. Generally they contented them selves with exhaustive disquisition on the 102 clauses, but without directly attempting to head off the measure. This, of course, with the exception of Mr. Foster's attempt to re-introduce the slander campaign which Mr. Bor den squelched, and Mr. Fowler's protest against allowing the Western farmers to become "landed proprie tors." Though differing in tactics both gentlemen had the same object tive. Could Mr. Foster have succeed ed in projecting a slang whanging competition in the closing days of at eight-month session, the Bill stood excellent chances of being lost in thscrimmage. Could Mr. Fowler have raised a debatte on the principle o the pre-emption in the same busy period the bill would in ail likelihood have been again shelved. That in it modified form the Bill got through was not, therefore, the fault of these speculative individuals, whose inter ests in keeping the farmer from get ting cheap land requires no explana

When the third reading was pro posed, further delays were secured b four amendments moved by Western Opposition members.

Mr. Schaffner, of Souris, Manitoba moved that the Bill be sent back to the committee and a clause include to turn the Western school lands ove to the management of the Provincia Governments. He did not aver tha the lands were improperly or inadvis edly administered by the Federa Government. Indeed he specifically declared the contrary. Neither did h suggest that either the Provinces o the school woulds be bettered in any way if the change were made. Rea sons for the change he offered none but simply demanded that the change be made. More, his resolution was so worded that a vote for it meant a de claration that eventually all crows land in the Western Provinces should be turned over to the Provincial au thorities. By this wording the move forced the Western Liberals to oppos his amendment, and secured to him self whatever cheap distinction he may be able to extract from the man-
