Harbor Grace Notes.

On Monday night of last week a meeting was held in St. Paul's Hall, in the interests of the forward movement campaign, which is being waged in connection with Queen's College, St. John's. The packed Hall in itself, must have been an inspiration to Dr. Pacey, and his colleagues, who are striving to reach the objective of $70,000, which sum is needed to put this College on a good financial standing and sound basis, thereby increasing the number of Theological students and furthermore supplying the demand there is for young men to work in the different fields for the Church. Rev. W. R. J. Higgin, Rector of St. Paul's Church, acted as chairman, and after a few well chosen remarks, introduced the Rev. Dr. N. S. Pacey, Principal of the College. Dr. Pacey gave a very powerful lecture and by the help of some very interesting lantern slides, made everything clearly understood by his hearers. He concluded with a stirring appeal on behalf of the College. The other speaker for the night was the Rev. Canon Smart of Heart's Content, who also spoke in connection with the College, and certainly must have aroused the audience to a sense of their responsibility in this respect and no doubt, when the returns come in, it will be found that this meeting had a far-reaching effect and that the Diocese of Newfoundland will certainly do its bit.

Mr. Karl S. Trappell, of St. John's, noted eyesight specialist, was in town last week on a business visit.

S.S. Sagona finished unloading her seals at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's premises on Wednesday afternoon. A number of the men having been paid off, left by Thursday morning's train for their respective homes. The ship left port for St. John's Thursday morning also.

S.S. Seal finished discharging her seals at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's premises on Friday afternoon and left for St. John's on Saturday morning.

The funeral of the late John Lynch, who passed away on Monday week, took place on Wednesday last, interment being made in the Church of England Cemetery. He leaves behind a widow but no family. The town extends sympathy to the bereaved.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Johannah Granville, widow of the late Richard Granville, took place this morning, interment being made in the f.c. Cemetery. One son, Andrew, with whom she resided, and one daughter, Mrs. John Burke, of the South Side, are left to mourn their sad loss, to the sympathy of the town goes out.

Schooner "Exotic" arrived here on the 14th inst. from Conception Harbor and went on dock the same afternoon. She came off dock yesterday and left port again. This schooner is owned by Mr. James P. Wade of Conception Harbor.

Schooners "Minnie Maud" and "Dorothy" were docked here last week. Schooner Volant is on dock at the present time.

Terra Nova From Icefields.

S.S. Terra Nova, Capt. A. Kean, arrived in port shortly before 11 o'clock last night, from the Northern seal fishery, having for 10,500 old and young seals. The Terra Nova struck the patch with the others of the fleet on March 27th, and before the storm of March 29th broke, succeeded in securing about 9,000 prime whitecoats. Since April 1st her crew killed about 1,500 "old ones" and bedlamers. On Monday morning, being short of coal, Capt. Kean decided to abandon the voyage and make for home. All the crew of the Terra Nova are well.

Liquor Bill May be Changed.

HALIFAX MEN WANT NEW DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM.

A Bill will be introduced at the present session of the local legislature by which liquor may be purchased under a yearly permit system, with limitations on the total quantity, by all adult residents of the province. It was announced by men connected with the liquor business in Halifax last night.

It is proposed that yearly permits be issued, obtainable for five dollars, which should contain a number of coupons to be presented on purchase of liquor. The number of these would be decided later, and the right to purchase would cease when the individual's quota of these was exhausted, it was announced.

The system outlined is similar to that which will obtain in British Columbia after May 1. It is in all probability patterned after that of the Pacific coast province. There the government will establish and maintain stores wherever it is considered advisable and all these sales will be made under a permit system and only sealed packages of liquor will be sold. The administration of the act, including the general control, management and supervision of all government stores will be vested in a liquor control board consisting of three persons, one of whom shall be chairman.

Residents of the province of adult age can take out yearly permits to cost five dollars. Another permit, costing fifty cents, allows for a single purchase of two quarts.

There are safeguards to prevent abuse of the permit system. Persons convicted of drunkenness can be interdicted and have their permits cancelled. There are heavy penalties attached to those who violate the law by selling liquor, an individual being subject to imprisonment of six months with hard labor for a first offence. Last night's announcement caused a great stir in the circles in which it was made known and many observations were made concerning the bill's probable fate in the local house. As many of the present members are in the legislature for their first term it is difficult to gauge their probable action on a question of this kind. No effort has been made to ascertain their liquor sympathies, as up to the present there seemed little probability of a decision on a temperance question being necessary.

Members of the legislature told the Herald last night that they would not be surprised to have the bill presented any day. One member went so far as to say that owing to recent developments such a bill would have an excellent chance of being adopted—Halifax Herald, April 7.

Music as a Cure for Disease.

The Society of Vocal Therapy was founded two years ago in England to provide teachers for the instruction of soldiers and ex-soldiers in breathing and singing under musical supervision.

At the second annual meeting of the society, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Frederick Mott gave an address on the influence of music on body and soul. He said that early in the war two pages of shell shock, in which there was complete loss of memory, came under his notice, which showed that musical memory returned earlier than other forms of memory—or, rather, the power of recollecting past experiences.

He found that soldiers suffering with shock, who had been singers or players of the piano were able to remember and sing songs by play pieces they had learned on the piano, and yet could not remember experiences connected with their daily vocations or surroundings. Again, men who were mute from the same cause would at a concert suddenly regain their speech by joining in the chorus of some well-known song.

Of all the arts, music appealed most to the emotions, and probably words associated with music were more easily grasped in the mind, owing to the musical origin of the language of the emotions.

There was reason to suppose that the utterance of vocal inarticulate sounds of varying pitch was in evolution much older than articulate speech, and that whereas the production of such sounds could be initiated in both halves of the brain, articulate language in right-minded persons could be initiated only in the left half, which controlled voluntary movement of the right half of the body.

He quoted the case of a soldier who suffered from aphasia followed a gunshot wound of the left side of the brain. The bullet passed through the speech centre and also blinded him. He understood what was said to him, but could express judgment only by "Ah" and "Oot," which corresponded to "Yes" and "No." He could, however, sing several songs through without difficulty, provided the first word or bar of the music was given to him. When the song "This is a long way to Tipperary" was hummed to him, he started the well-known chorus, wind-up with: "Are we downhearted? No." But on being then asked to say "Tipperary," he replied, "Oot," and could not utter any of the words. A month later he could speak.

Sergeant's Mess

DISCUSSES WAR MEMORIAL.

The Sergeant's Mess of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment held a largely attended meeting in the G.W.V.A. rooms last night, when several matters of importance were discussed, including the War Memorial, which the Mess is erecting to their fallen comrades, and which is due to arrive on S.S. Sachem on Monday next. The memorial is to be erected in Mullaly Park and a memorial committee was appointed as follows:—Chairman, H. Peckham; Secretary, P. Daniels; Committee, Messrs G. Harcourt, R. Gibbs, J. Dooley, J. Taylor and A. Gooby. This committee will meet on Tuesday night next, when the various details in connection with erecting the monument will be discussed. Votes of thanks were unanimously accorded Lt.-Col. W. F. Rendell, and Capt. H. A. Anderson and J. McKay, M.S.M., whose services in connection with the memorial were most valuable in bringing the matter to a successful conclusion. Capt. Anderson made all arrangements in connection with the order for the monument, whilst Capt. McKay, who was formerly Regimental Sergeant Major of Depot Headquarters, looked after matters in England, whilst Lt.-Col. Rendell has been trustee of the Mess funds since the regiment was disbanded. The matter of holding the Sergeant's Mess annual dinner was discussed by those present and received favorable comment. This affair was a splendid success last year and members are looking forward to this year's reunion. After a vote of thanks had been tendered the G.W.V.A. for the use of their rooms, the meeting adjourned at 11 p.m. with the singing of the National Anthem.

Personal.

Little hope is entertained for the recovery of Rev. Canon Smith, who has been seriously ill for some time and shows small sign of improvement.

Head Constable Oliphant of the Central District Court, is at present confined to his home, suffering from a cold. In his absence his place is being taken by Sgt. Savage.

Capt. J. Whelan leaves by the Fortis this morning for Rome, where he takes charge of Messrs. Penney & Sons' sch. Edith Cavell. Capt. Whelan is an ex-Sergeant of the Royal New Regiment, and his many friends wish him every success in his new command.

Mr. E. B. Erskine left by yesterday's express for Boston, Mass., to undergo medical treatment.

C. C. C. COMMITTEE.—The above Committee will meet on Wednesday evening, at 8.30, in the Armoury. Business important. E. T. FURLONG, Secretary.—April 21.

Wide Protective Policy

OF LLOYD GEORGE AIDS UNEMPLOYMENT.

(Montreal Daily Star Cable.)
London, April 1.—The Government publishes the text of the money resolutions to be proposed in the Commons next Tuesday as a prelude to the safeguarding of Industries Bill. They will be pushed through under closure rules as the Government's policy to counter unemployment. Articles now scheduled as the key, (the essential), industries are to be protected against foreigners by a duty of thirty-three and one-third per cent. of their value. The Tariff is to run for five years in these industries. The second resolution which is to be submitted to Parliament next week deals with exchange. Under it thirty-three and one-third per cent. duty will be imposed upon any article sold below cost of production or on any which, in consequence of depreciation of exchange, can be sold cheaper in sterling here than home manufactured goods. Critics of Government say this is, under present conditions, nothing less than a general tariff, inasmuch as every European country has a depreciated exchange, and if its manufacturing costs are to be reckoned with in sterling, all imported goods must carry a tariff.

The resolutions are obviously framed with an eye to the German competition, which is already subject to a fifty per cent. tax under the Reparation Payments Act. This, in the case of German magnetos and other competing products, these two resolutions when adopted by Parliament, impose duties, which, including the fifty per cent. tax, may amount to one hundred and sixteen per cent. While five years is named as the period of key industrial duties, no time limit is specified in the second resolution relating to goods dumped in the United Kingdom. The Government can make an enormously strong case on the unemployment issue. Unemployed registered with labor exchanges number 1,375,000, besides 750,000 men and women on short time. Unemployment does now exceed one million sterling per week, the men receive one pound and the women fifteen shillings.

This Week's Wisdom.

News over the teacups travels faster than over the wires.

It isn't the most accomplished man who accomplishes the most.

A man's first instinct is always to avoid a scene—a woman's to make one.

A woman always prefers a new hat that doesn't suit her to a worn one that does.

Some men don't get up in the world until they have been knocked down two or three times.

Think three times before you speak, and then give the other fellow a chance to make a fool of himself.

When a young man writes to a girl on a postcard she may as well chloroform all hopes she has in his direction.
