Garden Party.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—Kindly grant space in your esteemed columns to say a few words concerning the Garden Party held by the Methodist Church ladies on August 30th. In order to add interest to the party certain gentlemen of the town under the leadership of the Rev. S. G. Garland, Mr. C. L. Courage and Mr. S. G. Skinner arranged a sports programme to be run off. On the appointed day the weather was particularly kind and the sun shone brilliantly and all nature seemed in harmony with an event which was to add more festivity to the town and let the outside friends know that there is sport still to be found in our midst. Before going any further a remark should be made on the splendid meat teas which were served by the good ladies in their same grand manner. The following is the programme of sports:

Ladies Race—Prize donated by the E.V.R. Stores. Won by Miss Elsie Wallon.
Sack Race—Prize donated by Mr. Skinner. Won by P. Budgell.
100 yard Dash—Prize donated by Mr. W. T. Batstone. Won by H. Squires.
Wheel-Barrow Race—Prize donated by E.V.R. Stores. Won by Garfield Furlong.

Thread the Needle—Prize donated by Mrs. W. T. Batstone. Won by Miss Fogwill.

¼ Mile Race—Prize donated by Mr. P. Budgell. Won by A. Moore.
Egg and Spoon Race—Prize donated by Mr. C. L. Courage. Won by Miss Hyne.

1 Mile Race—Prize donated by Rev. S. G. Garland. Won by Garfield Furlong.

High Jump—Prize donated by Mr. W. G. Pilley. Won by G. Furlong.

Obstacle Race—Prize donated by Dr. Baggs. Won by A. C. Goddard.

Long Jump—Prize donated by Mr. Munro. Won by G. Furlong.

Tug of War—Prize donated by Mr. Barclay. Manager. Exploits, Valley Royal Stores Ltd. Between employees of E.V.R. Stores and A.N.D. Co. Won by Royal Stores men. This was one of the most interesting events of the day, and rumour has it that a challenge is to be given by the losers to the winners, sometime in the near future to another trial of strength.

Shooting Contest—The prize in this case was a beautiful silver jug donated by Mr. Alan Morey. Won by Geo. James.

220 Yards Dash—Prize donated by Mr. Crow. Manager A.N.D. Co. Won by A. Moore.

The last but not least item on the programme to be put off was a 2 mile road race, the prize for which was donated by Mr. C. L. Courage. There were six entries for this race: S. G. Skinner, Doctor Baggs, W. D. Munro, H. Squires, G. Furlong, and J. Lane. The several runners acquitted themselves very creditably, but the successful man was J. Lane, with G. Furlong a close second.

The presentation of prizes to the winners was made by Mrs. H. S. Crow, wife of the popular Manager of the A.N.D. Co., Millertown. Mrs. Crow in a few well chosen words complimented each on his or her success. This is the first sports to this extent which has been put off in this town, and many predict that it will not be the last.

Thanking you in anticipation of space.

Yours truly,

SPORT.

Had Parcels Opened.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—May I hope for a little space in the columns of your estimable paper in which to voice a protest against an injustice which is being perpetrated daily on an unoffending public? For the past twelve months I have, on several occasions, received parcels of various descriptions from Ireland. In all cases the parcels reached me in a most dilapidated condition, the wrappers being torn and tied clumsily, or not at all, and the contents showing every sign of having been rudely examined. The fact that a strict censorship exists in Ireland just now does not account for it, because parcels opened by Censor are marked to that effect, and are neatly bound up as they were before. Who, then, is responsible for such outrages? Are we to believe that the postal officials are to blame? I think it a state of affairs that should not be tolerated, and that it merits intervention by the higher authorities, if we are justified in feeling that the said authorities are interested in the protection of the rights of citizens.

Yours faithfully,

B. WALSH.

Meigle From Labrador.

REPORTS NORTHERN FISHING IMPROVING.

S.S. Meigle, Capt. Burgess, arrived in port from Hopedale Saturday night after a splendid round trip of 14 days. Captain Burgess reports that there is an improvement in the fishery on Northern Labrador. The ice, which up to date had been interfering with operations, has disappeared. At Solomon Islands, Savage Island, and Queen's Lakes, there is a good sign, men getting a good quantity each time they haul their traps, and it is believed the crews will do well. On the upper part of the coast the fishery is practically over, except at the Iron Bound Islands where there is a little doing. The S.S. Meigle brought up three shipwrecked crews, who lost their vessels in a recent gale. They were owned by Oldford, Samson, and Sturge. Samson's was driven ashore at Dawe's Island, Oldford's at the Fairways, and Sturge's vessel was lost at Port Mansford. All three vessels had about 300 quintals on board, all of which were lost. Some 27 American teachers and nurses, who spent the summer at the Grenfell Mission Circles were landed at Twillingate where they joined the Clyde for Lewisporte, and thence joined the express enroute to their homes. Capt. Burgess reports a large fleet of bankers along the coast, especially at Domine and Bateman, but they are doing very little with fish. The Meigle brought a part freight and the following passengers:—Rev. H. Gordon, Mrs. (Rev.) H. Gordon, A. Ebsary, Mrs. Chane, R. Ross, L. Hiscok, F. W. Chalmers, J. McNelly, Dr. MacFarlane, Mrs. A. Davis, B. Harland, Charles Baird, Mrs. W. Swaffield, A. Cornhill, J. Thomas, W. Whitlison, W. Hayward, Wm. Hampton, M. Ackerman, E. Lindsay.

Sponges.

Sixty years ago or so practically all sponges came from the Levant and the Mediterranean, but now large quantities are got in Honduras, Mexico, the Bahamas, and the waters of the coast of Florida. So great is the output from U.S.A. waters that comparatively few sponges, even of the finer varieties required in surgery and chemical experiments, are imported into the States. Sponges are found, however, in nearly every sea where the water is warm, and currents and waves are not pronounced. Of the three hundred varieties known, many of which are named from their shapes—the fan, the distaff, the trumpet, the feather and others—only a few are fit for use. Numbers of them have hard substances like flint, and as sharp as needles; others are covered with prickly points, and are of no value commercially.—From Chamber's Journal.

To Whiten Any Scorched Fabric.

A white waist was scorched so badly that the print of the iron had gone through both sides of the sleeve and colored the ironing board. It seemed a ruined article, for nothing could have been rubbed on it without breaking the fibers of the cloth.

The scorched sleeve was dipped into cold water, hung dripping on the line in the hot sunshine. As soon as the water had dried it was dipped again, and the process repeated over and over. It took two days and one night's exposure out of doors to bring the cloth to whiteness, but it came so perfectly that one would not know which had been the sleeve browned by the iron. Just cold water, hot sunlight and persistence worked the cure. The sleeve has been worn months since then and shows no indication of weakening.

Sporting Possibilities Of Labrador.

AMERICAN SPORTS WRITER TELLS OF VISIT TO OUR NORTHERN DEPENDENCY.

"No American who comes to Newfoundland to fish or shoot should miss the opportunity to make a trip to Labrador," said Morris Ackerman, well known American sports writer, in an interview with the Telegram to-day.

Mr. Ackerman has just returned from a trip to our northern dependency and he is very enthusiastic about its possibilities from the sportsman's point of view. "You have a wonderful country there," he said, "and if a sportsman's resort could be established somewhere near Hamilton Inlet, a large number of people would certainly come down each year for the fishing and shooting." Probably no other man in America has so wide a general knowledge of hunting and fishing in all parts of the continent as Mr. Ackerman, whose well known Sportsman's Guide recently reviewed in the Telegram, is the accepted authority on the hunting and fishing grounds of the United States and Canada. His object in coming to Newfoundland and Labrador is to obtain authentic information as to where, when and how American sportsmen can find the hunting and fishing they want.

He arrived in St. John's about three weeks ago and stayed here several days collecting what data he could, and then, proceeded to Labrador on the last trip of the Meigle. He got off the boat at Pack's Harbour and went to Indian Cove and North River, staying for three days in the last named place. In the back country he discovered goose breeding grounds, wild ducks, yellow legs (a kind of snipe), and other birds were very plentiful. He also gathered information about the salmon and trout streams, which he admires greatly from the sporting aspect. Near Cartwright, he says, there are plenty of Caribou. Mr. Ackerman leaves to-morrow for Gambo, and will shoot Caribou in the country around that place. Articles containing his descriptions of the sporting possibilities of Labrador and Newfoundland will be contributed by him to "Outing and Recreation" and other papers, and will be syndicated by the Newspaper Enterprise Association, thus giving our country a much needed advertisement.

"Ack" as he is commonly known, goes to Canada in a few weeks time where he will join Rex Beach, American Novelist, on a hunting expedition.

Spectacular Blaze.

BARN ON PENNYWELL ROAD DESTROYED.

In a most spectacular blaze a barn situated on Pennywell Road was razed to the ground yesterday evening. Shortly after 7 o'clock Miss Pearson, a resident of this section, noticing smoke issuing from the top story of a large stable occupied by Joseph Judge, immediately rang in an alarm from box 252. The blaze appeared to be situated in a portion of the building where about two tons of hay had recently been stored, and a number of neighbors formed a bucket brigade in an endeavor to subdue it. Meanwhile the Central and West End Fire Companies appeared on the scene, but the fire had gained considerable headway, and it was realized that the barn would be destroyed. A stream of water was, however, secured from Golf Avenue, and some 1200 feet of hose had to be put out in order to reach the burning structure, hence the force of water was not very great, due to the distance and only registered 8 lbs. pressure. In the building were 42 pigs, and through the efforts of Mr. H. Godden and others these were saved before the fire reached great proportions. In less than an hour the structure was razed to the ground, but the firemen had to remain on the scene until nearly nine o'clock to put out the smouldering embers. The barn had only lately undergone extensive repairs, and as no insurance is carried, the loss to Mr. Judge is a serious one, especially at this particular season.

A Literary Joker.

Some literary joker has made the town of La Rochelle ridiculous, and the inhabitants are looking for him. A local paper received a letter with the signature of the Comtesse de Noailles, the poetess and leader of French society. The letter stated that the Comtesse had spent such a happy time in the town that she had written a poem in its praise. The poem was enclosed, and duly published in this paper, with a fulsome article extolling its merits at great length. The literary people of the town were so pleased with the honor done them by the Comtesse that they made her an honorary member of the Academy of Literature, and sent her an address. When the paper, with the article and poem, was received by the Comtesse, she sent a note to the editor saying that the poem was not written by her, and that she had never been in La Rochelle in her life.
