-Robberies in Middlesex have been more frequent of late than in many years past. Mr. Murray Smith, of con. 6, Dor-chester, has informed High Constable Schram that he was at church the other Sunday evening, and that during his absence his house was broken into. A cash box was ransacked, but the marauders did not want the bank notes and books in it and left them alone. A pocketbook in Mr. Smith's pants pocket was emptied of $9 and the wallet left behind. A pocketbook of Mrs. Smith's contained $5 and has not been seen since. A young man working in the vicinity is suspected of having

Among others who showed that their left foot as well as their right had not forgotten their cunning were Ald. Shaw and Ala. Garratt, who gave their own versions of the Highland fling. Last, but not least, were Ald. J. W. Jones and Eli Griffith, whose eccentric terpsichorean gyrations resulted in the breakdown of the pipers. On the last train there was a rare exhibition of dancing. Finding time hanging heavy on their hands at the Port Stanley station and subsequently on the road to St. Thomas the pipers were again pressed into service and Pipe Sergent Sutherland supplied the best of music to two representative lady dancers from St. Thomas. Mrs. Mathewson, who was introduced to the company as the mother of eleven children, was of as nimble feet as the youngest of them. She danced in a manner that did her the greatest credit a number of Irish national dances. Her stepping was excellent. She also danced a reel with Mrs. Wilson, the mother of the famous St. Thomas piper. They were wildly applauded and in leaving the cars at St. Thomas were given three cheers by the crowded car in which the performance took place,

The Coroner's Inquest on the Death of Joseph Landry Return a Verdict-More Evidence.

CHATHAM, Aug. 1 .- Last night the coroner's inquiry into the death of the old farm hand, Joseph Landry, was resumed. James Liddy, the farmer at whose place the fatality had its origin, swore that he witnessed the scuffle between Landry and Snell, the result of an attack on the part of the old man. Landry charged Snell with taking his shoes, and called him a liar when the accusation was denied. Witness declared that no blow was struck or kick administered by Snell, who simply fell on top of his opponent. Landry afterwards complained of the pain arising from the hurt sustained in the scuffle. Witness told how he and Snell, on the advice of Dr. Langford, took the sick man to the hospital. In conclusion he said Landry was a man much addicted to drink, while Snell was sober, steady and inoffensive. James Cameron, a young lad, witnessed the tussle between the two men, but did not see Snell kick or strike the old man. He told of the sickness which seized Landry soon after being thrown by Snell. After the coroner had summed up the jury deiberated, and at 11 o'clock returned a verdict as follows: "That deceased came to his death from peritonitis, caused by injury sustained at the hands of the prisoner, Benjamin Snell."

This is a story told of Ellen Terry's ready wit. She had offered to introduce a newspaper man to Mr. Irving, but, unfortunately, when the opportunity of doing so tell him so. Her ready wit did not forsake name one way, and I say another. Write was such a realistic bit of acting that the ness to criticise plays and players, never detected it.—[Philadelphia Times.
