SHORT SKETCHES

Of the New Methodist Pastors in

Rev. Messrs. Annis, Cullen and Clement
—An Able Trio.

Three new pastors, as a result of the fitinerant system of the Methodist Church, made their advent in city pulpits yesterday. They are Rev. J. W. Annis, Queen's Avenue; Rev. Thomas Cullen, Askin Street, and Rev. B. Clement, London West. A brief introduction of each to the public will not be amiss.

REV. B. CLEMENT.

REV. B. CLEMENT.

The above-named gentleman, who has been for 30 years in the ministry, was born at Hamilton in 1844. His primary instruction was imparted at the Dundas Methodist Academy—an institution now defunct—and pursued in its more advanced branches at Victoria College, Cobourg. In 1862 he was received on probation and four years later ordained as a minister.

Mr. (Clement's charges have been: Milton, Ayr. Warford, Stratford Aylmer, Ridgetown and Petrolea. He has at different times occupied the position of chairman in the following districts: Aylmer, Ridgetown Petrolea and Strathroy. During last year Mr. Clement, on account of his executive ability—which was doubtless stimulated by several years' experience in mercantile pursuits prior to entering the ministry — occupied the position of financial agent in Alma College, St.

by several years' experience in mercantile pursuits prior to entering the ministry — occupied the position of financial agent in Alma College, St. Thomas. Under his foreseeing supervision this seat of learning made material progress. He is one of the beat known and ablest ministers in the church.

REV. J. W. ANNIS.

The new pastor of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church has always been an exceptionally brilliant student, and is, as a minister, gifted with unusual powers of elequence. Forty-two years ago he was born in Durham county, where, during his early days, he attended the district school. After passing through the Collegiate Institute at 19 years of age he entered the Methodist University in that town. In 1876 he secured his degree of B.A., having served for three years on circuit work.

Mr. Annie' university course was attended with admirable success. In his concluding year he demonstrated his scholastic attainments by carrying off aeveral prizes. He was awarded the Pushon prize for elecution and composition and another for elecution alone. In adjudging the former the literary construction as well as the deliverance was Subsequent to graduation, Mr. Annis was ordained in the Peterboro Conference, and was settled for one year in Picton. On leaving this field of activity he assumed the pastorate of Spadina Avenue Church, Toronto, now the Broadway Tabernacle. Since then he has labored in Scarboro, Allandale, Alliston, Barrie, St. Thomas and Chatham. It was while in the last mentioned place he was tendered an invitation to Queen's Avenue Church. In September, 1877, Mr. Annis was married to Louise, youngest daughter of Thomas C. Watkins, the well-known drygoods dealer of Hamilton. Mr. Annis early felt the call to the ministry.

It is to be regretted that throat trouble at present prevents Mr. Annis from actively entering upon the duties of his new pastorate. With rest and care, however, he expects soon to be able to occupy his own pulnit.

the pen of Sydney Smith: "Ameng men of sense and liberal polithress, a woman who has successfully cultivated her mind, without diminishing the gentleness and propricty of her manners, is always sure to meet with a respect and attention bordering upon enthusiasm." How true that is meet with a respect and attention bordering upon entousianm." How true that is to-day was shown during several weeks recently in Chicago, when the numerous meetings were held of the various women's congresses in connection with the great Columbian Exposition. They were composed of women who had successfully cultivated their minds, without diminishing the gentleness and propriety of their manners, and they were met with a respect and attention that fell in no degree abort of enthusiasm. We look for great things now that womanhood is being organized.
