OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

The Situation and the Manitoba School Question Agitation-Opposition Scandal.

B.C. Members Urgent in Advocating navigation. the Interests of Their Province

(From Our Own Correspondent,)

OTTAWA, June 29 .- There has been considerable excitement during the past few days with reference to the course which the government will take on the Manitoba school question, now that Mr. Greenway's formal reply of refusal to obey the remedial order is on its way to Ottawa. Some newspaper correspondents have sought to mini. mize the gravity of the political situation, but when thirty members from the province of Quebec meet in secret session and decide clent. Surveys had been done bafore, and the work done last year was only to comviews, it is not difficult to realize that the situation is somewhat critical. Everything depends upon the line of action which the government will take. If they decide to introduce a remedial law this session, and it is highly probable that such will be the case, they will receive practically the unanimous vote of the representatives from the Province of Quebec, Liberals as well as Conserva-tives. On the other hand they will alienate a large number of the Conservative members from the Province of Ontario, who cannot and will not vote for remedial legisla-tion. The number of those who may be placed in this category is given as thirty. If, however, the government decides not to bring down remedial legislation this session, then the position of affairs will likely be reversed. A private member representing a Quebec constituency may introduce a resolution condemning the government for not introducing a remedial law, and it is not at all unlikely that all the Quebec contin-gent—Liberals as well as Conservatives would have to vote for it. Whether the secessions from THE MINISTERIAL RANKS would be sufficient to defeat the Governlike the question put over for another year, but hold out as an inducement to the Ontario Conservatives to fall into line with them that with remedial legislation on the statute book they will be able to sweep Quebec at the next general elections. Per contra, it is claimed by the Ontario Conservatives that this idea of a united Catholic support from Quebec for the Conservative party is a fallacious one, and that this was clearly proven by the resultin Vercheres two months ago. If the Quebec members are to be swayed by what the Government has done, and will do, for the minerity in Manitoba, surely gratitude should have shown itself at the election in question

As previously stated the outlook seems to point to the fact that the Quebec men

WILL GAIN THE DAY. and that a remedial measure will be introduced. In that event the prompt resigna-tions of Controllers Wallace and Wood may be looked for. Both are Orangemen and both represent strongly Protestant constitu-encies. Mr. Wood, who is an able man and a sound lawyer, might be disposed to look at the question more from the standpoint of constitutional right than his colleague Mr. Wallace, who committed himself two or three months ago to a policy of non-inter-treated to a rehash of the opposition policy on the attack on the Curran bridge affair. No new fact was adduced and no new argument was presented. I call attention to the to which the opposition are driven for a policy. An old time Liberal who is to-day occupying a public position, but whose polwith the opposition, remarked to me yesterday that he had never seen a more lamentable failure to impress the public mind than the opposition had manifested this session.

At no time in the history of British Columbia has it been more necessary for an expenditure to be made on the Fraser river than at the present time. At that time the leader of the government, Sir John Thompson, announced that the Dominion government were entering into a joint scheme with the Provincial government to of $5,000 was placed in the estimates, and the work was proceeded with. Mr. OUIMET-The information referred to by the hon gentleman has been sent to the department, and the necessity of making improvements in the navigation of the rivers indicated by him has been carefully looked into. On the other hand, information was received that no communication by steamboat was in contemplation now, and the department, having such limited resources at their disposal this year, did not see fit to ask for an appropriation. As soon as there are signs of steamboat communication being opened up I am sure the works he has referred to will be undertaken and completed, as their importance is very

MR. This year the invasion of London by Americans is the strongest ever witnessed. They are to be seen at every turn occupying the best apartments in all the popular hotels and visiting all the places of interest. The leading restaurants are packed with them and they half fill the theatres nightly. Finally the Americans flock in crows to the big musical halls and enjoy themselves generally in every way possible. They are good customers everywhere, free with their money and content only with the best of everything. It therefore need hardly be added that the London hotel-keepers, storekeepers and public entertainers are not grumbling at the so-called American "invasion." If proof were needed of the presence here of a multitude of Americans it was furnished by the citizens of the United States

INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATIONS on Thursday last, and, strange to say, the screeching of the eagle on those occasions seemed to give the lion a certain degree of healthy satisfaction. The Daily News, for instance, commenting on the banquet of the American society at the Holborn restaurant, said : "American Independence Day was celebrated in London more publicly than on previous occasions. This is as it should be. The day brings no bitterness to the memory of the present generation of Englishmen—but for the day and its lessons our empire might now be a thing of the past. It is never so fittingly celebrated as when Englishmen and Americans meet in honor of it at the same ceremony or at the same social board."

Then again during the banquet cordial messages were received by Americans from past and present members of Emmanuel college, Cambridge, who were dining in another part of the building, which caused Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, U.S. ambassador to Italy, who presided in the absence of Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James, to remark that blood was thicker than water. Not to be behind-hand in courtesy the Americans sent the Emmanuel men a reply proposing as a worthy sentiment of the evening the memory of John Harvard, a son of Emmanuel college and the father of liberal learning in the New World. There was considerable comment among the New Yorkers who attended the reception given on the Fourth of July by Mrs. Bayard, wife of the U.S. amlor, at the fact that Mr. Wm. Waldorf Astor, among those present, has aged greatly since the death of his wife.

There is much dissatisfaction at the care less manner in which the mails are dispatched to the United States. The North German Lloyd company advertised a steamer to sail last Sunday, and notified the

He was also present at Managua, Nicaragua, during the British occupation of Corfully to discuss the matter before the apgineering importance requiring consideration and full discussion. The American commission is composed of men of the highest ability, and they will. I believe, issue an impartial report. I had a long conversation with Colonel Ludlow and other members of the commission with him, also with Commander A. C. Menocal, late chief engineer of the Nicaraguan Capal Co., who has been writing about the scheme for the last twenty years, who is, in fact, its originator. The project, from an engineering point of view, is a very fine one. Of 169½ miles (the total length from Greytown, on the Atlantic, to Brito, on the Pacific), 1274 miles will be the unimpeded navigation of the river St. Juan and Lake Nicaragua; 21½ miles will be through artificial basins, making the total distance of 142½ miles in which ships can travel with little or no restriction. Only 26½ miles of actual digging will be done. The canal, in my own onlying, is of immense. The canal, in my own opinion, is of immense ly greater importance than the Suez canal, and will largely revolutionize the shipping routes of the world."

British cabinet is much discussed. Father Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain and Austin Chamberlain are respectively secretary of state for the colonies and junior lord of the treasury. Then there are father in law and son in law in the Merquis of Salisbury, the new premier, and the Earl of Selbourne, under secretary for the colonial department.
Then come the brothers Balfour, Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the ew chief secretary of state for Ireland, both nephews of the Marquis of Salisbury. Finally there are the Balfours' two brothersin-law, Lord George Hamilton, the new Governor reserves it for the reyal assent.

tion to the match. Lord Rosebery continues to be Her Majesby's great personal favorite, as the bestowal upon him of the late Duke of Hamilton's order of the Thistle indicates. Lord Rosebery already possesses the order of the Garter, and it is extremely rare for anyone not of royal blood to hold both orders, the only other instance on record being the cases of the Earl of Aberdeen and the Duke of Argyle.

Mr. Jerome K. Jerome is not inclined to apologize to Mr. Croker in regard to the statement made in Mr. Jerome's paper about Simms. He published Mr. Croker's letter on the subject, which was in the same word ing as the one written to Mr. Henry Labouchere and published in Truth, but he adds : 'It does not tally with my information, and it would be to the advantage of the public that the affair be carefully inquired into.

The Pall Mall Gazette comments on the same subject and thinks that the Cornell men have been doing the reverse of improving during the past week. It has been discovered, the Pall Mall Gazette adds, that staleness is a thing to be guarded against as much as insufficient preparation.

Mr. D. H. Maclean, an old oarsman of Eton and Oxford experience, who has been present at the Henley regatta for twenty years past, thinks that the Cornell men are undoubtedly a very fine crew and the best He adds: "They are simply an unknown quantity in competing for the grand chal-lenge cup, and if they win we must reconsider our most cherished idea of rowing. Mr. Maclean also expressed the opinion that the Canadians, with the crew of the Argonaut rowing club of Toronto, have a beautiful crew with which to compete for the Stewards challenge cup for fours. He says they are as speedy a lot of men as any he had ever seen.

London, July 4.-The celebration of the Fourth of July in London began with the much advertised "meet" of the American vehicles at 11 o'clock this morning in Hyde Park. Large crowds of people lined the road from Hyde Park corner to the magazine, where the vehicles assembled. The turnout, however, was not a very creditable display. It included about a dozen buggies and phaetons, coupboards and a few carts, making a total of twenty vehicles. During the afternoon visiting Americans, in response to a notice in the newspapers, called at the residence of Mrs. Bayard, wife of United States Ambassador Thomas W. Bayard, and were cordially received by the hostess in the absence of Mr. Bayard, who is still out of town. Over 400 acceptances for the dinner were received by the American society. Hon. The resolution concludes: "Be is therefore resolved that we regard with alarm the possi-bility of the government allowing the present session of parliament to close without having passed a measure ratifying said order in council, as such inaction or abandonment of policy on their part would cause widespread discontent and bitter disappointment amongst, the people who look upon a railway to Hudson's Bay as a vital and immediate public necessity, and would have a most serious tendency to alienate from the Conservative party many of those who now warmly support its wise and progressive administration. (From Our Own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, July 6.—It seems pretty well settled that there is to be no remedial legis. lation this session. The cabinet sat only a short time this morning. The Premier declined to divulge any news of the situation in advance of his official statement in Pariament on Monday. It is believed, however, that the French ministers agreed to the postponement of the remedial measure on condition that a pledge be given of its introduction at an autumn session provided that no advance be made in the settlement of the question by that time.

LOST IN THIBET.

Paris, July 5 .- Very serious fears are enrumored. It is now said that the trouble is tertained in the Royalist circles of France with his eyes and his physicians have re- with regard to the safety of Prince Henry of Orleans, the scapegrace son of the Duc de Chartres, whose travelling companion died under such peculiar circumstances in the far ion day celebration. The committee guaranteed the club $1,000 from the match, provided it were played on some other date than July 1, so as not to interfere with the that the Prince was neither materially nor celebration. This was done and the gate morally responsible for the Baron de Grand-receipts were only $410 at the match. The maison's sudden death, and showing that balance of the guarantee is being sued for.

It seems that when last heard of the Prince, abandoning his intention of returning direct to Europe to face the insinuations against him, to contest his father's application to the courts to legally declare him in-capable of managing his own property and to challengo his cousin, the Duke of Orleans, to fight a duel for the active part which he had taken in the matter, had turned his steps in the direction of Thibet with the ob-ject of returning home through that myste-rious country so renowned for the bitter hatred which prevails against foreigners among the people, and in particular among the fanatic clergy. Thibet until now has been under the nominal suzerainty of the Emperor of China, and was compelled to consider his wishes so far as to send tribute to Peking. But any semblance of authority that there might have been has disappeared since the defeat of the Chinese, and there is no doubt that the people of Thibet feel that they can now massacre foreign travelers as they please without any danger of being called to account by the government at Peking.

Under the circumstances the trip of the Prince through the northern and least known portion of Thibet can only be regarded as an extremely perilous undertaking, all the more so since instead of being accompanied by an experienced explorer, such as M. Bonvallot, who was with him throughout his last Central Asian expedition, he has now no one with him save a couple of young fellows whom nobody knows much about, and whom he picked up young Prince Louis Napoleon in the wilds of Africa. It would clear the situation to a certain extent, since there is no doubt that as a pretender he is far more danger-ous than his cousin, the Duke of Orleans. They have the same fault with
