

CONTENTS

OF

VOLUME I.

PART I.

Sect.		Page
I.	Geographical situation and extent of the Highlands— Celtic kingdom . . . . .	3
II.	System of Clanship—Patriarchal sway of the Chiefs . . . . .	21
III.	Consequences of this system . . . . .	30
IV.	Effects of the want of laws, and of constant agitation and alarms on the character of the people . . . . .	35
V.	Devoted obedience of the Clans—Spirit of independence— Fidelity . . . . .	46
VI.	Arms—Warlike array . . . . .	66
VII.	Highland garb . . . . .	72
VIII.	Bards—Pipers—Music . . . . .	78
IX.	General means of subsistence—Checks on population . . . . .	84
X.	Salutary influence of custom in the absence of laws . . . . .	87
XI.	Love of country—Early associations—Traditional tales and poetry . . . . .	90
XII.	Disinterested, but mistaken, loyalty and fidelity—Con- duct in 1745 . . . . .	96
XIII.	Abolition of Hereditary Jurisdictions—Disarming act— Suppression of the Highland garb . . . . .	110

PART II.

I.	Present state, and changes of character, manners, and personal appearance . . . . .	115
II.	Causes and consequences of these changes . . . . .	134
III.	The ancient peasantry lowered in condition . . . . .	140