

First Lessons in Composition,

In which the Principles of the Art are developed in connection with the Principles of Grammar; embracing full Directions on the subject of Punctuation; with copious Exercises. By G. P. QUACKENBOS, LL. D. 12mo, 182 pages.

These "First Lessons" are intended for beginners in Grammar and Composition, and should be placed in their hands at whatever age it may be deemed best for them to commence these branches. By a succession of pleasing and ingenious exercises, they teach the young student the use of words, and enable him to express his thoughts chastely, forcibly, and elegantly, to analyze a subject properly, and to produce successively, after given models, letters, descriptions, narrations, biographical sketches, essays, and argumentative discourses.

This work, immediately on its publication, came into general use, and its sale has been steadily increasing ever since. Many teachers who had not before made Composition a regular branch of their course, on account of its dryness, and the want of a proper text-book, found it so easy and pleasant with the aid of these "First Lessons," that they at once introduced it, even among very young classes, with wonderful effect in developing their intellectual powers. The Publishers have yet to learn the first place in which the work has not given entire satisfaction.

From TAYLER LEWIS, LL. D., Prof. of Greek, Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.

"We cannot say that this book is the best of the kind, for we have seen nothing like it. It is at the same time a system of grammar and rhetoric. It commences with the alphabet, and ends with a brief, yet very clear and practical, illustration of some of the highest rules of good writing. It may be studied by the child who has just learned to read, while, at the same time, it might be of no small service to many of the graduates of our colleges."

From RICHARD S. JAMES, Principal of High School, Norristown, Ohio.

"After a careful examination of the book, I am prepared to say that I know of no work equal to it for simplicity of arrangement, correctness of definition, and adaptation to the wants of schools. It is THE WORK."

From G. W. CLARKE, A. M., Asso. Princ. of Mt. Washington Coll. Institute, N. Y.

"It is calculated, in my view (better than any similar work with which I am acquainted), to render a practical knowledge of the English tongue, both more easy to acquire and more easy to impart."

From the late Rector of the Williamsburgh Grammar School.

"For an elementary work on Composition, I know of none in any degree equal to it."

From GEO. E. NEFF, A. M., Pres. Soule Female College, Murfreesboro', Tenn.

"It is the best school-book on this subject that I have seen; I would not do without it for any reasonable consideration."
