sion will be necessary; even in the little time remaining in this session to dispose of the trade agreement in both houses.

If defeat comes, it is said in the senate, the Democrats of the house, after a fairly careful poll by the leading members of the minority, are apparently disposed to accept the treaty and to support it in debate and with their votes. They look on it both as a tariff change in line with Democratic ideas, and as a serious attempt on the part of a Republican president to take the tariff out of politics and elevate it above political dispute.

The McCall bill, after indicating the duties that are to be levied upon Canadian products, proposes that they shall become effective as soon as the president ascertains and issues a proclamation showing that Canada is levying similar duties against American products. The free importation of certain articles is to become operative as soon as the president becomes satisfied that Canada is doing the same to U. S.

Trade Between the Countries.

Figures of the 1910 trade movements between Canada and the U. S. in the more important of the articles named in the pending reciprocity agreement were completed to-day by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. They are:

KILLED BY BANDITS

Young Canadian Meets Death in Mexico.

MEXICO, Jan. 28.—San Juan Evangelista, terminal of a branch of the Tehuantepec Railway, and San Juan, Jalampan, near Coatzacoalcos, are reported in despatches from Vera Cruz to have been occupied by revolutionists under the command of Dr. Enrique Silmenares Rivas, president of a political club in Atoyac, State of Vera Cruz.

Rivas is said to have been at the head of former rebellions in Guatemala, and to have passed several years in Cuba.

An account of murder and savagery, of which an American Mormon family, and a young Canadian, were victims, reached here to-day in a private letter from Dublan, near Casas Grandes. Four bandits attacked and robbed the home of James Mortensen, and brutally mistreated Mrs. Mortensen and a 13-year-old daughter.

Subsequently the latter was shot and killed while preparing a meal at the command of the robbers. An American by the name of Madison, escaped, and in reply to his appeal Marius Cox, a native of Canada, attempted to assist the Mortensens, but fell dead under the fire of the bandits.

RECIPROCITY FACES DEFEAT IN CONGRESS

rates of duty, are at last on the verge of a split.

"The insurgent Republicans, who battled valiantly during the debate on the Payne-Aldrich bill for lower duties, are solidly opposed to the reduction proposed by the agreement.

"An entirely new alignment on the tariff question is impending. In administration circles little difficulty is expected in swinging the manufacturing interests of the east into line. Free raw materials, with a slight reduction on manufactured products, will be acceptable to the manufacturing trade. The argument is already advanced that, with agricultural and food products reduced or admitted free and the manufacturing industries protected, the workingman will still enjoy high wages, while the purchasing power of his wages will be enhanced thru the cheaper costs of the necessaries of life.

A Sectional Question.

"The agreement calls upon a sectional question, which is being furiously discussed in the cloak rooms and halls of congress. The wheat growing states and the fishing and lumber states are combining to resist the alleged injury to their industries. The old cry of the west against the east is being raised.

"On the other hand, the friends of the administration profess to believe this is a temporary storm and will blow over when the agreement is studied with much care. The administration forces are making a strong play on the result of the recent elections, and the lesson they taught. Thy say the people demanded a reduction in the prices of food stuffs and that here is the surest and most expeditious plan to bring it about.

"The Republican party, they say, may as well put up its shutters and give the Democrats a clear field in 1912 if this opposition to reduce the cost of living is not seized now.

"By delaying a report from the ways and means committee the opponents of reciprocity can defeat it at this session. This is essentially a revenue measure, and the house must act first. If the agreement be forced thru the house by the administation, there is again an opportunity in the senate for its opponents to talk it to death, even if the stand-pat element in control of the finance committee should report the agreement out. The time btween now and adjournment is so short that practically unanimous consent must be given to get the agreement thru.

"If an extra session is decided on a more favorable outcome might be looked for, since the Democrats will be in complete charge of affairs in the house."

ALLEGED BICYCLE THEFT

James Turton's Explanation of His Possessions Didn't Satisfy Police.

A bicycle, made up of parts of several bicycles, which James E. Turton was trying to sell on York-street, caught the dubious eye of Detective Murray on Saturday night.

After the arrest, the detective visited the address given by the prisoner and located other parts of bicycles, including one of the "new" cushion handle-bars. The prisoner protsted that he had bought the bicycle from a second-hand dealer and had got the extra pieces from a man on the street. He is charged with vagrancy.

AVOIDING COMBUSTION

Interesting Address of Prof. Lang on Saturday Evening.

Circumstances that produce combustion and means of avoiding them was the subject matter of an interesting and instructive lecture delivered by Prof. W. R. Lang, in the amphitheatre of the chemistry building at the university Saturday night, before an audience of 300 people, composed chiefly of members of the Canadian Institute and the Toronto Fire Insurance Society.

The speaker performed many experiments to illustrate the combustible properties of different substances and gases under ordinary and exceptional conditions. By experiment he proved that metals, such as iron and zinc, which will not burn ordinarily in air, burn quite freely when additional ozygen is provided. In like manner he demonstrated that illuminating gases are combustible in an atmosphere of ordinary air, which also is combustible in an atmosphere of illuminating gas.

He quoted a number of instances where accidents might occur thru unusual ignition of substances and showed how a chloride of potash tablet used for clearing the throat became inflammable when scratched on the side of a safety matchbox.

On Saturday night, Feb. 4, Prof. G. McCurdy will address the institute on the history of gold and silver money in western Asia.

An Elusive Timepiece.

Detective Miller arrested James Stewart of 7 Radenhurst-street, yesterday, charged with stealing a watch two weeks ago. The time-piece was snatched from the hands of James Luke, 247 Wilton-avenue in the Princess Hotel and was sold for 75 cents, since when it has changed hands several times. But Detective Miller finally recovered it and the complainant has identified both it and the accused.

MEXICAN IN TROUBLE.

Aurielo Rocco, 356 Victoria-street, a Mexican, was arrested yesterday by Detective Montgomery on a warrant sworn by Nellie Tuttle, 213 West Queen-street, charging theft of several photos.

Complainant says that Rocco canvassed her for photos for enlargement and did not return them.

A New Idea on The Cause of Colds

PNEUMONIA, LA GRIPPE AND CONSUMPTION, AND A REMINDER OF THE PHENOMENAL AND CONTINUED SUCCESS OF DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Scientists have a new explanation for the great prevalence of colds, la grippe and pneumonia.

They tell us that when we pass out of doors we enter an atmosphere where the humidity averages about 70 per cent. when it might have been as low as 30 in the house or office.

The sudden change from the dry and overheated air of the house to the cold and more moist air of outdoors is a shock to the mucous membranes which induces colds, la grippe or pneumonia.

This evil is largely due to modern methods of heating, and can be overcome by keeping the air moist in building.

But there are colds to be cured, sufferers from la grippe that require treatment, and every day these ailments are developing into pneumonia and consumption. In these cases Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is at hand as a tried and proven medicine of far more than ordinary merit.

You know something of the value of turpentine as a medicine. You know something of the healing and soothing properties of linseed, or flaxseed as it is most commonly called. In Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine these ingredients are so combined with half a dozen others as to make a treatment which is at the same time pleasant to the taste and of most exceptional curative power.

But you need not accept this medicine on theory, or on what we say, for it has been before the people for many years, and each year has witnessed a great increase in the quantity used.

Ask your friends and neighbors about it.

Ask the mothers who have saved the lives of their children when in the clutches of croup.

Ask the men and women who have shaken themselves free from the grasp of la grippe, pneumonia, bronchitis or asthma by its use.

Ask the thousands of people who have learned to trust to this great medicine to cure coughs and colds and prevent such deadly diseases as consumption and pneumonia.

HALL WAS PACKED FOR FINAL SUNDAY MEETING

Over Four Thousand Hear Dr. Chapman—An Appeal to the Young Man.

Last night's meeting in Massey Hall was in itself an answer to those who would like to claim that the campaign in Toronto has not "taken hold" as others have. Disappointed crowds of people lingered around the doors after the 4000 seating capacity of the hall had been filled and the doors closed, while within an eager thong joined in the musical preamble to the service, which was probably the finest yet. There were all kinds of music, the Salvation Army band, and the usual thunder of the hymns, to the fine tenor of Ernest Naftzger, and the childish trebles of six little children, trilling out, "Ask the Saviour to Help You," again and again at the bidding of Mr. Alexander. It was truly a famous night for the singing leader, whose only visible weakness is a fondness for plenty of vibration.

The story of Paul before Agrippa formed the groundwork of a forceful sermon by Dr. Chapman, the text being taken from Acts xxvi., 28, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian."

He spoke strongly, almost bitterly, against the attitude of many people, and hopeful that as a result of these meetings, they would stop sinning and lead better lives. "Never, you can't," cried the evangelist, stamping his foot. "You cannot until you know Christ."

Herod, the slayer of John the Baptist, Pontius Pilate, and the traitor, Judas Iscariot, all were instanced as men who had been almost persuaded, but for one besetting sin, which they clung to, and which clung to them like "hooks and stays."

"Almost persuaded," he cried, again and again. "God pity you. To-day if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts; turn ye, I plead with you to come to-night. Dr. Torrey gave you this mission, Gypsy Smith gave you his, and I have tried to give you mine. If you don't come to-night your heart may be hardened, and then it's too late."

He told the story of the fatal wreck of the "Royal Charter," which had gone down off Liverpool just at the close of a journey round the world. To Dr. Taylor, a well-known English preacher, fell the painful duty of telling the first mate's wife of the disaster, and of her husband's death.

"Lost, lost," the half-crazed woman cried out, when the news had been broken to her, "lost—and so near home."

"And if you're here to-night almost persuaded," declared the speaker, "you're worse than that."

Following out his policy of aiming chiefly at the reclamation of the young men, Dr. Chapman pleaded with them to go to the after meeting in the lower hall. Nearly 1000 filed from the gallery and orchestra, leaving the women and children behind them, many of whom anxiously awaited the return of their escorts outside, hoping for their conversion.

Ralph Norton spoke to the young men, pleading hard for them to come forward. Nor was his appeal ineffectual, as many stood up and gave the pledge and promise of the Christian life.

Wages of Sin.

The crowd at the men's mass meeting in the afternoon, while not so large as that of the evening, was equally responsive to the message of the speaker, and nearly 800 flocked to the lower hall to hear Dr. Chapman's further appeal. Not so many answered to the call, however, as at previous after meetings, but this was explained when Dr. Chapman asked those present to stand who were already Christians, when nearly half of the crowd responded.

The sermon was another fiery tirade against sin, as full of warning and conviction as only Dr. Chapman can make it. Not one text, but many, from both Old and New Testaments, formed the basis of his appeal, all being used to convict the spellbound men of the impossibility to escape from sin's wages, death. "The wicked shall not remain unpunished." "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "The wages of sin is death." "Be not deceived, God is not mocked, whatsover a man soweth, that shall he reap," and other biblical warnings of a like character were built up and enlarged upon by the speaker with telling effect upon his audience.

Laid on the Colors.

"It seems to me," said the evangelist, "that people get to a fatal place where we begin to think of sin only as an error or as a mistake. I tell you that any minister who minimizes sin will soon forget the atonement, telling people that if they lo their best that will be enough. But the Bible is full of warnings that tell us we may do our best, and yet not reach the goal."

Few men can strike to the conscience of a male audience as can Dr. Chapman. It may be that there are few who would care to even hold in mind the awful results of profligacy, let alone paint the horrible pictures that he can portray. Dr. Chapman laid out in a vivid picture the horrors of a resort at Hot Springs, Ark., where wealthy, but wrethed men, went in the usually vain hope of a cure.

"We fathers would do anything for our children," he declared, broaching into another phase of the subject, "yet if you are sinning and covering it up, you are damning your children, and their children."

His final appeal is always in the same vein. "Tho your sins be as scarlet, they shall be made white as snow."

Many came forward, professing acceptance of Christ, and, at his request, shaking his hand. With an encouraging word, and a touch on the shoulder, they would leave him to start anew in life on a different path, where time alone can tell.

Dovercourt District.

In the Dundas and Dovercourt district a very successful day was held yesterday, Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Goodson holding four services in the different assisting churches and the centre, Wesley Methodist. At 3 a Sunday school meeting was held in Dovercourt Baptist Church, while at 4.15 a mass meeting for men was held in the centre. Many men, both old and young, came forward at this service, accepting Christ as their Saviour. A service in Chalmers Church, which was well attended, the largest of all, a mass meeting of all the other churches in the Wesley Church at 8.30, brought together hundreds of people, many being turned away. Mr. Goodson preached on the sufficiency of Christ, and many decisions were made.

At Walmer Road.

Walmer-road Baptist Church was also the scene of great evangelical activity. Dr. Elliot addressed a gathering of men at 4 o'clock, preaching on "The Black Sheep of the Family." Altho the meeting was especially for men, the gallery was given over to the ladies, who took full advantage of the privilege extended to them. A solo, "Babylon," by Mr. R. Naftzger, was a very fine feature. At the 6.45 service the topic was "Toronto's Most Dangerous Habit," viz., living for amusement and pleasure instead of God. Again Mr. Naftzger delighted the people with a song, "My Jesus, I Love Thee." The church was crowded, several hundred people being turned away.

Appeal to College Men.

Dr. Chapman spoke at Bloor-street Baptist Church at 7 o'clock, making a special appeal to the college students. His sermon was somewhat on the same lines as that of the evening meeting in Massey Hall, his title being "Almost Persuaded."

Spoke to Women.

At the Metropolitan Church Mrs. Alexander addressed a splendid audience of women in the afternoon, impressing upon them the necessity of not only being Christians and living the Christian life, but of bringing others into the fold, and helping them on to the acceptance of the Christ. A large number of decision were made.

Frank Dickson sang "His Love Shall Never Fail," while Miss Laura Beecroft presided at the piano. The ushers, who were volunteers from the Y. W. C. A., wore caps and gowns, adding much to the effectiveness of the service.

The Closing Days.

To-day and to-morrow there will be a great influx of people to the Metropolitan Church to hear the many well-known speakers who will work with the "Institute of Christian Service," in connection with the evangelistic campaign. At 10.15 to-day Dr. Chapman and Dr. A. S. Grant will speak, while in the afternoon Dr. S. P. Rose and Rev. T. B. Kilpatrick, D.D., will address the gathering. Evangelism, down-town problems and matters of college training for evangelism will be discussed. Further meeting will be held on Tuesday.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT SUCCEEDS EARL GREY

out to the representative of the consummation of many loyal hopes.

New Conception of Crown.

The London Express says: "The appointment is a new departure, entirely in consonance with the new conception which has taken place of the crown in imperial life. It is a tribute to all the dominions overseas, and its significance will nowhere be ignored."

Anent the reciprocity agreement it deplores the fact that Britain's best granary has been taken away, and the bond of sentiment alone left.

The News says: "The appointment is a novel experiment. After Grey, to have a governor who realizes it is for ministers and not himself to govern, will be something of a relief. It especially indicates the difference between real and fictitious imperial ties that Canada causes. She has put commerce in a strait jacket. The very hour she repudiates Chamberlain she welcomes Connaught.

A Hard Task.

The Leader says: "Whether Connaught will succeed in bettering the example of Grey is an admittedly hard task. It remains to be seen. He starts under the fairest auspices."

The Times says the appointment will meet with warmest appreciation in both houses. The duke will reach the Dominion at a profoundly significant period. It is gradually being recognised that the tariff arrangement is a momentous departure. We should be the last to believe that Canada's acceptance of America's terms implies any weakening of her allegiance. On the contrary it involves so profound a modification of conditions that the basis of consolidation the trade policy of both must be reconsidered. Canada is only on the threshold of her national life. Britain fust not relax the fibre strengthening and maintaining the imperial system. The Duke of Connaught will take a wide view.

Tariff Reform.

The Chronicle does not believe that Canadian-British trade will be affected by the reciprocity agreement. It makes the tariff reformers naturally angry, but their ambition has always been unrealizable. It will be a bad day for England when she tries to subordinate Canada's best interests. They seem to hold the idea that the dominions should be kept in leading strings, whereas Britain glories in the development of her daughter nations. The agreement, it holds, will help forward the alliance between the United States and Britain.
