ATLAS NOT GUILTY OF PROCURING PERJURY

Application For Full Pardon Will Be Made - Judge Riddell Pleased With Verdict.

When at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, after something less than an hour's deliberation, the jury of the criminal assizes brought in a verdict of not guilty, in the now celebrated Atias case, there was the making of a demonstration in court. This took the shape of scattered hand clapping, but was quickly snuffed out by Judge Riddell, who has rushed the hearing thru in record time. thru in record time.

harge were complete by noon and the At the adjournment of court Atlas was made the centre of a congratulatory circle of friends. The prisoner beamed upon them and upon the court at large as he had done thruout the closing hours of the trial when everything was going his way.

After the verdict had been delivered,
Judge Riddell took occasion to find out how they had arrived at their verdict. He was told that 10 of them believed Atlas' story outright, while the other two were doubtful as to whether Risk had been at Gorno Nevolani when Atlas said he paid the money to the widow, but doubted that Atlas had set him up to telling his story. Judge Believed Atlas.

When he had received the verdict, Judge Riddell said to Atlas: "The jury has found you not guilty of this charge, You are now under sentence and I cannot interfere with that. The only relief you can have is thru an application for elemency from

"If you are guilty of what these people say you are, then no punishment is too great for you. Ten of the jury believe your story and I am glad they do. I believe your story. You are remanded into custody."
