Mining Stocks And the Public

Editorial in Rossland Miner, Dec. 30th, 1896:

"The best safeguard the public has is the character the men who are at the head of a mining company who shares are offered for sale. When the public puts its money in a bank for safe-keeping, it looks to the men at the head of the bank. Character rises higher even than law itself in such matters."

We are instructed by the Board of Directors of the Gold Ring Consolidated Mining Company, in view of the fact that the money now in the treasury and the interest thereon, is being expended in the organization, and in view, also, of the increasing width of the market, to sell the shares below the 150-cent level, they consider it in the interests of the shareholders to sell the shares at the following price as 20 cents per share. The shares will therefore be

DRAWN FROM THE MARKET

It is only intended to sell two million shares of the stock at present, that being sufficient to pay for the properties now under bond, equip them with machinery and provide ample working capital. The remaining eight million shares in the treasury will not participate in the profits until sold; at any time the syndicate to acquire other first-class properties. Purchasers of syndicate shares at par (ten cents) participate in the profits of every transaction of the company.

Low-Grade Ores, of which there are millions of tons in British Columbia.
Several new processes have been perfected, whereby gold is extracted for ten per cent instead of from 12 to 25 per cent, which turns profit into pay ore, thereby causing gold mining to be a legitimate paying industry.

The company have acquired the largest-est mining brokerage business in the West Coast, thoroughly organized, having an agency system extending throughout the Dominion and elsewhere. The company is the only one in the Dominion in the position to pay all expenses from the start, even if the business should not develop to the volume, which it is confidently expected it will do. The directors are satisfied with this business, and the shareholders.

already acquired in this development of gold in Africa was very much the existence of a group of men connected with the diamond fields, who, convinced of the value of mining districts, were able to obtain the leverage necessary to develop the world. There is no reason to doubt the Gooderham connection and they occupy the same position in the result, in fact to some extent ready to do, in relation to the deposits of the precious metals in Western Canada.
