The reason there is no settlement to night is because the company refuses to discharge the men brought from other points to take strikers' places. The committee presenting the cause of the power to conclude any agreement, and that propositions considered acceptable could be of a tentative nature only, as a report on the same would have tobe made to the associations of strikers for ratification.

The strikers agreed to waive the question of unionism so far as employes of the company at the time the strike was declared are concerned. The company, on the other hand, refused to discharge the non-union men who have been brought to this city to take the places of the strikers. This is a new phase of the difficulty, and promises to develop far more serious consequences and impediments in the way of settle ment than had been anticipated at any time since the strike was called. It is a matter that had not been considered by the strikers or the public, and puts an entirely new aspect on the situation. The company, it is learned, on the wage question, was willing to increase the wages of the extra men and night-trippers to 19% cents per hour, but refused to establish a uniform rate of 20 cents an hour for all employes, as requested by the strikers.
