

TURKISH COMMANDER IN SYRIA BITTERLY ANTI-ALLY, ANTI-JEW

Has Closed American, English, French and Russian Schools.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, June 29.—Djemal Pasha, Turkish commander in Syria, one of the most influential leaders of the Young Turks, stated recently in an interview called "German policy" that all American, English, French and Russian schools in Syria and Palestine already had been closed, and that he would never allow them to reopen after the war. He regarded this as an indispensable step toward the rooting out of Entente influence in the post-bellum period. Jewish colonization, he declared, was equally injurious and he would do his utmost to oppose it.

New York, June 30.—Captains, engineers and crew of the great New York harbor today demanded an increase in wages, and threatened to strike Monday. The up-shipping in this port unless their requests are met. Captains and engineers ask an additional $2 a month, while the dockhands and firemen want $10 more. Shipping places it will delay commerce at the port and seriously interfere with the dispatch of foodstuffs and munitions to the Entente Allies.

STRENUOUS WORK SOON TELLS ON YOU

Businessmen and Breadwinners the Victims of Nervous Exhaustion.

When worry is added to overwork men soon become victims of nervous exhaustion—neurasthenia—the doctor calls it. Some have no reserve strength in their systems to bear the strain; others overtax their strength, and if you find that you are nervous and not sure of yourself, that you sleep badly, and wake up tired and aching, your nerve are of course, and other signs are inability to take proper interest in your work; your appetite is flakey; your back feels weak, and you are greatly depressed in spirits. One or more of these signs mean that you should take prompt steps to stop mischief by nourishing the nerves with the food they thrive on, and that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have cured thousands of cases of nervous disorders, including nervous prostration, neurasthenia, St. Vitus dance and partial paralysis. Here is an example. Mr. P. H. Cullen, a well-known businessman in Coleman, P. E. I., says: "I owe my present health, if not life itself, to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had always been an active man, and when I began to run down in health paid little attention to it, as I thought it only a temporary weakness. As time passed, however, I found myself growing worse, and consulted a doctor, who said that I was not only badly run down, but that my nervous system was badly shattered. I lost flesh, my appetite was poor, I slept badly and notwithstanding the doctor's treatment grew so weak that I had to leave my business and was confined to the house. Time went on, and my friends were all greatly alarmed for my condition. In this condition I was strongly recommended to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the doctor's medicine was not helping me, I decided to do so. By the time I had used three boxes I could tell that they were helping me. When I had taken eight boxes of the pills I felt able to attend to my business again, and people were surprised to see me out. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken twelve boxes, by which time I was feeling as well as ever I did, and was being congratulated by all my friends on my full restoration to health. I feel now that if I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the outset I would not only have saved much money spent in doctor's bills, but would have had renewed health sooner. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine, and would recommend it to every man who feels weak, nervous or run down."

LONDON PRESS NOT ALL FAVORABLE TO SPEECH OF PREMIER

Post Says He Does Not Understand German People.

NEWS WANTS WAR AIMS

Believes the Allies in Concert Should State Terms of Peace.

New York, June 30.—An Associated Press cable from London this morning says: The speech yesterday of Premier Lloyd George, in which he said the war will come to an end when the Allied armies have reached the aims which they set out to obtain when they accepted the challenge thrown down by Germany, although mainly approved by the morning newspapers, does not escape criticism. The moderate papers comment consist of little more than accurate paragraphs of the premier's statement, but the more extreme press of conservative camps—Radical and Tory—questions some of his dicta. Thus some Conservative papers strongly dissent from his assumption that any difference of opinion exists between the German Government and the German people, and declared the German people were faithful to their Government because it accurately mirrors the spirit of Germany.

German All in It. The Post says the Germans are all in this war up to the neck, and if the premier thinks any change in the system of Government will alter their spirit he knows nothing of the German people. The Post contends that the idea that Germany is driven to war by a tyrannical Government and is groaning for liberation from the Hohenzollern yoke is pure fancy.

Referring to the difficulties of Russia in the East, the Post complains that the British Government is showing indulgence and timidity towards Germany in its attitude, allowing the formation of revolutionary committees to organize disaffection, and says this disaffection has been allowed to win a victory in Ireland.

Daily News' View. At the end of the speech last night Lloyd George finds the speech lacks of expectations and laments the lack of belief in the declaration of war. He says the premier cannot convince Germany by signals from the public platform, and declares that he doubts whether he can wholly convince Russia. "It is essential," continues the Daily News, "that the Allies should state their aims once for all in a declaration drawn up in concert and endorsed by every party to the alliance. Today when the former subjects of the Russian emperor are declared in a statement, the war aims of democracy, the force of which is irresistible, is irresistible."

The News makes the suggestion that war aims be formulated and submitted to Germany in the intimation that if peace is refused on terms proposed, every port and market of the Allies shall be closed to her for a fixed period.

With regard to the premier's reference to Russia some of the editorially paraphrase his utterances, while others commend him for giving a candid and true—i.e., that the Russian approach to victory, but with one exception, none of them is in line with his prediction that Russia will regain its strength and become more formidable than ever.

Drop Fifty Bombs on Military Works Near to Jerusalem

LONDON, June 29.—An official report on the situation with the Egyptian expeditionary force was issued this evening as follows:

"The general situation is unchanged. There has been considerable patrol activity, in which we have secured prisoners. Successful air raids have recently been carried out. Six hundred and fifty pounds of bombs were dropped on a supply depot at Tul Keran on June 23, severely damaging rolling stock and station buildings. Bombs weighing 1,180 pounds were dropped on the airfield at Ramleh. On June 26 fifty bombs were dropped on military establishments near Jerusalem."

PORT ELGIN, June 29.—Quite a string of horses are expected here tomorrow in readiness for the big race meet under the auspices of the Dominion Day committee. This is the 25th consecutive celebration in Port Elgin. Last year 6,000 people attended. Assurances have been received by local committee that twenty horses will be on hand. The purses hung up amount to $1,000. All profits go to the Red Cross.

HAVING COMMENCES. BRUSSELS, June 29.—Early having commenced and the crop outlook is very much better than anticipated early in the season.

POLICE PUZZLED OVER IDENTITY OF MAN UNDER ARREST

Prisoner Thought Capt. De Willoughby Not the Man.

MAY BE CHARLES KELLER

Two Adventurers Apparently Using Famous Englishman's Name.

HAMILTON, June 29.—The police this afternoon made the surprising announcement that the man arrested here and who was supposed to be "Capt. Percy Seymour De Willoughby," for whom the English authorities are seeking, is not De Willoughby, but probably Charles D. Keller, another old countryman, wanted for a large sum. Whatley said the police had evidence to show that another man, supposed to be De Willoughby, is still at large. A telegram from Toledo, Ohio, announces that De Willoughby is wanted there, but that the man held here is not the one the Toledo police are after.

RECEIVES WARRANT

The chief today received from Boston a warrant for his prisoner, who is charged by a Boston citizen with obtaining $250 by fraud. An officer is said to be on his way from Boston, and it would not be surprising if the prisoner is deported tomorrow.

Great interest was expressed at the police station tonight over the fact that there must have been two adventures calling themselves De Willoughby. From evidence secured it appears that neither of the men is really named De Willoughby. The Englishman at present held here is a charge of vagrancy from the first assisted that he had not deserted from the British army and had not been cashiered out of the army for passing worthless checks. Evidence secured seems to point to the truth of these allegations.

RUBY IS ONLY 27 BUT HAS LED FIVE MEN TO THE ALTAR

Now in Jail Here, Remanded on Serious Charge.

HUSBAND ALSO IN CELLS

Pair Alleged to Have Evaded Immigration Officers at Falls.

Mrs. Mack Harbin and his much-misnamed wife, Ruby Harbin, were arrested yesterday by Inspector Reynolds of the Dominion Immigration department, charged with a breach of the immigration act. The pair were brought in police court yesterday afternoon and committed to jail.

Mrs. Harbin coyly admitted to Inspector Reynolds that she had promised to love, honor, cherish and obey just exactly five men in the last seven years, and has just passed the 27th milestone.

Last February, the 5th to be exact, the much-married individual was deported at Bridgeport. She sent an S. O. S. call to Harbin, who enlisted at Windsor January 1. The latter took the next train for Niagara Falls, donned his uniform for civies and crossed the border. Rev. Arthur Lowe of Buffalo made him the fifth husband of the girl who seven years ago was Ruby Harbin and who lived from south of the Mason and Dixie Line.

Evaded Authorities. The wedding trip was sort of a bumpy one. Knack spoke to a reporter. The trip to Canada was made in a coal wagon which crossed from the American side to Niagara. The pair having safely evaded the authorities, came on to London. Mrs. Harbin has been employed at the Teacumseh House as a domestic.

It is alleged that her husband has a record in the States and may be deported, although Major Baron Osborn stated yesterday that Harbin had been well behaved since coming to London. "A criminal soldier is better than an ordinary slacker any day," said the major. "What do you think about it?" he asked. "I think so," replied the inspector.

Here is a list of Ruby's sailings on the rough and stormy sea of matrimony.

Got a Divorce. October, 1910, John Chumley, age 60, was down in Tennessee. Ruby was with him for four months and then got a divorce.

Next came Joe Fowler of Smithville, Tennessee, who also called up the banner. Ruby married him, kept him for the matrimonial sweepstakes until 1913, when she fell for Wm. Harbin, a widower, who also lived in the south.

Three months was enough to live with William, and she got another divorce, and like a queen bee flitted on to George O'Neil of Nashville, Tennessee. George apparently didn't last long. Poor George. Her next and final fling was with Ets. Harbin, which has landed her safe behind the bars at Carling street.

DUMA REFUSES TO BE DISSOLVED BY RUSSIAN CONGRESS

Was Powerful Agent in Revolution and Will Stay.

TO PRESERVE FATHERLAND

Soldiers and Workmen of Helsingfors Recognize Kronstadt.

PETROGRAD, June 29.—The Russian Duma will not abide by the resolution recently passed by the congress of soldiers' and workmen's councils calling for its dissolution, says a resolution passed at a private meeting of members of the Duma held to discuss the demand.

"The Duma," says the resolution passed by the members at this meeting, "having powerfully contributed to the abdication of Nicholas and the formation of the provisional revolutionary government, which the entire country immediately recognized, thus showing its confidence in the Duma, and having in this manner acted as a revolutionary institution independently of its position during the old regime, the Duma is of the opinion that it cannot cease to exist as an organ of national representation and will adhere to its patriotic duty of raising its voice, if necessary, to preserve the fatherland from the dangers of civil war and guide it in the right path."

Advices from Helsingfors, Finland, show that the soldiers' and workmen's body there by a vote of 17 to 13 endorsed the past and present action of revolutionary Kronstadt, and that the resolution passed by the Petrograd soldiers' and workmen's organization in this connection "profundly erroneous."

200 BALTIC SAILORS JOIN RUSS ARMY TO INSPIRE ACTIVITY

Bravest of Brave Volunteer as an Example—Proceed to the Front.

PETROGRAD, June 29.—Two hundred sailors from the Baltic fleet have appeared at Riga to join the army and lead in an attack upon the enemy.

Their action, says the newspaper, was taken as the result of a declaration by an officer that "the brave men of the fleet visited Riga, heard this officer's assertions, and repeated it upon returning to Helsingfors. Midskumpner Stuermer, of a torpedo boat, declared he was ready to lead the men of the fleet to the front, and that he was willing to die for their country could be found the whole army would fight."

PREMIER KHUDSEN OF NORWAY

Terrible Experience of Quebec Woman Marooned on Island.

Ottawa, June 29.—Marooned on a lonely rock in the middle of the Gattineau Lakes for two days, with the body of her husband, who had been drowned before her eyes, in full view on the bottom of the lake, and rescued from a probable death through starvation by the arrival of a fishing party which was undertaken by Mrs. Patrick Bruyere of River Desert, Quebec.

The recital of the tragedy furnishes one of the most dramatic narratives which has come down from Northern Quebec in many years.

Patrick Bruyere, who was the game warden for the Bras Coupe district, near Maniwaki, Que., set out on Duck Lake with a canoe with his wife and two children, after proceeding some distance up to the lake, the two got out on a sort of rocky island some distance from shore. A squall passed over the lake, and the canoe, breaking adrift, started to float away. Bruyere, who could not swim, tied a fishing line around his waist and giving the end to his wife, started to wade out in an attempt to reach the canoe. Coming to the end of the line and still not being within reach of the canoe, Bruyere shouted to his wife to let go the line, which she did, and he was left alone on the island.

He made several desperate efforts to reach shore again but being unable to swim and weighed down with his clothes, sank in full view of his wife.

The spot where the tragedy occurred is far removed from human habitation, and there was no response to her frantic calls for assistance and for two days the poor woman, almost insane with grief, sat on the barren rock without nourishment of any kind except a drink of water from the lake, until her dog had been left on shore, with almost human instinct, sensing something wrong, swam out to the rock.

Mr. Bruyere, who was rapidly growing faint, through hunger and grief, found a pencil and some paper in the pocket of her husband's coat, which had been left on the rock, and as a last resort, scribbled the paper around the note to the dog's neck and ordered him home.

The dog did what he was told, and made straight for his home, where a neighbor who happened to be calling at the house, noticed the paper around the animal's neck and opened it.

It was a long time in securing help and getting a boat, found an unfortunate woman, who was in a semi-conscious state, almost famished. The body of Patrick Bruyere was also recovered.

Our Greatest and Grandest Dominion Day

The sound of the cannon will reverberate this year of 1917 with greater reality than upon that momentous day when its tongue first voiced the birth of this great dominion.

Like a stone cast into a placid lake, the ripples have widened and widened, and are today widening and widening, that all the nations are heeding.

In our celebration of this Dominion Day we rejoice that we have been able to give such material assistance to the cause of liberty.

We rejoice in an unselfish affiliation of the world's forward nations; we rejoice that our statesmen have so ably risen to guide us in a great cause. The centuries of progress before us will surely pay homage to this 1917 Dominion Day as the re-birth of a unified Dominion and Empire.

Our Jubilee Celebration

Fifty years ago today the provinces of this part of the North American continent confederated into one great dominion, and the jubilee celebration of this event will be indelibly marked by the part our Canadian troops are taking in the world's history-making events in Europe today—the fight for PEACE, LIBERTY and CIVILIZATION.

This store today renews its pledge of fealty to assist the state and the nation in all undertakings to which our facilities may be assigned, and urges the employees of this store to give freely of their time and their abilities in the service of the nation.

Terrible Experience of Quebec Woman Marooned on Island.

Ottawa, June 29.—Marooned on a lonely rock in the middle of the Gattineau Lakes for two days, with the body of her husband, who had been drowned before her eyes, in full view on the bottom of the lake, and rescued from a probable death through starvation by the arrival of a fishing party which was undertaken by Mrs. Patrick Bruyere of River Desert, Quebec.
