BUSH RANGERS SEEK AERONAUTS

Search Snow Trails for Sight of Balloonists—"Movies" Ready.

COCHRANE, Ont., Jan. 6.—(By Staff Correspondent, Canadian Press, Limited.) Copyright.—With officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police watching the various outlets from the frozen north, with scouts and runners dispatched by the corps of newspaper correspondents here scouring the different trails which connect ice-bound James Bay with the railway line spanning the north, and with the special train chartered by the reporters and moving steadily northward, the search for the missing balloonists is being conducted with the greatest of haste.

Mounted Police Help. Federal Government assistance in the shape of several broad-shouldered husky officers of Canada's famous mounted police, has been granted the neighboring province of Ontario, and tonight officers are camped at Cochrane, and at Mattice, 10 miles farther west, ready under orders to burn up the telephone wires with the information of the safe arrival of the missing balloonists.

One of the troops, who reached here tonight from Halesbury had intended proceeding along the trail which leads westward to James Bay in hope of meeting the returning party, but orders to this effect were countermanded by the late this evening and the mounted police at Mattice has already notified that there is no word there of the missing balloonists.

Will Rush News. To make certain that the news will be rushed to the outside world at the earliest possible moment, the newspapermen here have instructed a competent and experienced bush ranger to leave Mattice along the Mississauga river, with orders to return at full speed should he meet the balloonists.

WILL BE HARDING'S FIRST LIEUTENANT

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, who will be secretary of state in the cabinet of the president-elect of the United States.

This man is taking with him two Indian guides, familiar with the country and all its ways, and two dog teams, and they will divide some little distance down the stream, one party following the trail of the missing balloonists, and the other the only other route in that section. They have guaranteed to beat the officers into Mattice by some hours, which will give ample time to rush the special train westward along the National iron road and reach Mattice before the three lieutenants can complete that particular stage of their long journey. These parties will travel by night, an adventure not ordinarily undertaken except in urgent circumstances. They have already started on their trip, and may be back to the railroad with the news before daybreak.

How much longer the party will be on the trail is a matter of conjecture. Men here who claim to have talked with the runner who came down from James Bay say he declared the trip took him eleven days, and calculations based on this theory give the balloonists at least half as long again to make the trip.

HERO IN BATTLE DIES AT FROWN OF MOVIE STAR

Lieut. Pat O'Brien Shoots Self at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 6.—Lieut. Pat O'Brien, when in the royal flying corps, was taken prisoner by the Germans, leaped from a train, and got back to the allied lines after seventy-six days of wandering. He was a veteran of four other wars.

The technique of war can be learned, whereas the temperament of a moving picture star is more mysterious. So when the lieutenant failed of reconciliation with his wife, known by the movie fans as "Virginia Dare," though only 30 years old, the war hero killed himself. But first he called himself a "coward," and his adventures had marked him as "hard boiled."

O'Brien's bride a year ago was in another room of the hotel and heard the shot. Lieut. O'Brien came here yesterday from Oakland. He and his wife had been separated and had planned a reconciliation.

He was to have returned to San Francisco last night to receive a decoration from the British Government. O'Brien wrote notes before he ended his life about last midnight with an army of 45 pistol.

A "Broke" Blossom

New York, Jan. 6.—Reel life and real life are turning out to be the same for the dainty Lillian Gish. All through her reel career, the "little movie star" has been doing "heavies." Right now she is doing a "heavy" in a little bit of reel stuff produced by Life.

The fair Lillian is out of a job, "broke," as she humorously admits, and about to sue for a week's salary. In one section of the large Gish apartment are Dorothy, the other half of the famous Gish pair, and her new husband, James Rennie. They are as happy and contented as two "little doves."

On the other side is little Lillian, out of a job, broke, as a result of her first step in reel life, and wondering what she will do next.

Dorothy has always played the "light stuff." She always finds happiness in the "fadeout." Lillian, the abused and beaten-up heroine, has always done the "hard stuff" in "Broke Blossoms."

"I guess I'm out out for that line in everything," she said today. Recently, Lillian left D. W. Griffith, who had made her famous. She had no contact with the noted producer, she says, and when an offer came larger than she had ever imagined, her producer released her from their unwritten agreement so that "she could do well."

FORMER LONDONER APPOINTED CHAIRMAN

Rev. C. E. Jeakins Heads Board of Education at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 6.—Miss Mary Collier, late principal of Victoria school, came within an ace of securing the chairmanship of the board of education at the inaugural meeting this evening. C. E. Jeakins, by only one vote to Rev. C. E. Jeakins, won the honor.

The co-operative buying scheme, it was explained, permits the farmers to obtain their supplies at reduced prices. All kinds of farm products will be handled through the central markets, according to tentative plans, but it is expected particular attention will be given to grain, live stock and dairy products.

CONSERVATIVES PLAN AGGRESSIVE CRITICISM OF FARMER GOVT.

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—Hon. J. Howard Ferguson, recently chosen as leader of the Conservative party of Ontario, held a conference at the Albany Club here this afternoon with the Conservative M.P.'s and discussed the coming sessional program.

It was agreed that they should drop the non-critical attitude of the first session of the new Farmer Legislature, now that the U. F. O.-Labor Government had been in power about fifteen months, and that they should be on the aggressive in future. With this end in view each Conservative member was asked to make a list of lines of attack to be made in the House.

PLAN ESTABLISHMENT OF CO-OPERATIVE MARKETS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 7.—Plans for establishing a chain of co-operative markets and purchasing agencies were under consideration at the opening session of the tenth annual convention of the Farmers' Equity Union here today. Delegates assert the central marketing arrangement offered the best opportunity for eliminating speculation in farm products, and would benefit both consumers and producers.

The co-operative buying scheme, it was explained, permits the farmers to obtain their supplies at reduced prices. All kinds of farm products will be handled through the central markets, according to tentative plans, but it is expected particular attention will be given to grain, live stock and dairy products.

Fasts To Bring Religion to Hubby

Danville, Ill., Jan. 6.—Still refusing to take food because her husband "has no religion," Mrs. Ernest S. Harrington today entered upon the 38th day of her fast. She allowed a physician to examine her, but refused his efforts to administer medicines. She insisted God had told her to fast and pray, and repeated that she was determined to force her husband into the church.

"I will continue fasting and praying until God grants my prayer," she said today. "The Lord talked to me on May 18 and told me to do this, for while my husband is not a bad man, he has no religion, and He said this would be the means of converting him."

The physician who examined the woman said he found her pulse and temperature normal. He also said she had not lost flesh.

"I do not believe in her kind of religion, and besides, I am not ready to join the church," said her husband. "If she wants to starve herself to death, that's her business."

WILL HOLD WOOL FOR ADVANCE IN PRICES

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 7.—Wool growers of three Michigan counties—Cass, Jackson and Saginaw—have decided to keep their wool in storage until a higher price was offered. Representatives of all wool-growing counties of the state are to meet at Lansing tomorrow to decide whether to hold for a longer period, a pool of 60,000,000 pounds created last year.

GREEK JUDGE-ADVOCATE KILLED.

ATHENS, Jan. 6.—A party of soldiers, whose identity or affiliations are not known, last night assassinated Col. Stefan Patzeas, who was the chief judge-advocate of courts-martial under Venizelos. The colonel was killed by shot, opposite the ruins of the old Dionysius Theatre.

Col. Patzeas had acted as judge in celebrated cases of semi-political nature and had incurred much enmity in consequence. He was regarded as a Venizelist, and had received many threatening letters.
