Leader Addresses Big Conservative Rally - Gives an Earnest Warning of Government Extravagance.

The olive branch was extended with herculean force and lavish hand to the independents of East Toronto by "the organization" at the Riverdale Rink last night. The division had been sown deep with invitations to the Conservative electors to attend a monster united smoker, with the best popular vocal talent. With equal sagacity Mark H. Irish and Ward Two Conservative Association were enrolled in support of the love feast and the necessary effort made to secure the presence of the Deminion and provincial Conservative party. About 3000 were present.

The rink as a result of these efforts to once more get into touch with the rank and file of the party resulted in a great gathering, the climax of more thinking the climax of more of the party resulted in a great gathering, the climax of more enthusiasm if not at its height when addressed by its one-time representative, A. E. Kemp, at least was as veciferous as could be anticipated by his series of national comic war dances as a prelude to the address of the Dominion leader.

Saved it From Disaster Once, but the Consequent Abuse Has Been the Last > Straw, Says Premier.

Sir James Whitney took out his razor last night at the big meeting in Riverdale Rink and slashed the Toronto Electric Light Co. full of long red

The provocation has been very great, and as Sir James said, the worm will turn at last. His statement that the government had interfered to keep the Electric Light Co. from disaster created a sensation, and when he proceeded to denounce the "abuse and blackguardism" with which the company by its agents had assailed the government, the audience had the most iramatic thrill in recent political his-

Sir James, after a tribute to R. L. Borden, said he had a local matter to which he wished to refer and desired to read the first friendly word that had appeared in The Globe for a year. He referred to an editorial article in yesterday's Globe on the electric light and power situation in Toronto, of the following is the portion read by Sir James:

"The second thing, about which there can be no doubt, is the de-termination of the citizens that Toronto shall be connected with Ni-agara by a second power line. When the Electrical Development Company fell into the hands of Mr. William Mackenzie a second line became a vital necessity to the economic safety of the city. Mr. Mackenzie is altogether too enterprising a man to leave in control of the switchboard. The council by making a contract to take at least 6000 horse-power has made possible the building of a branch of the hydro-electric commission's power line to this city. The Globe desires to express its confidence that Sir James Whitney and the members of his cabinet who favor this policy will let no quibbles stand in the way of the hydro-electric commission's operations. A public power line will be of great service all over Southwestern On-tario, and the government must be congratulated upon lending its credit to the enterprise. When the hydro-electric line comes into the city there will no longer be danger of an announcement from Mr. Mac-kenzie or whoever happens to be control of the Electric Light Company that he proposes charge all the traffic will stand. "So far the situation is satisfactory. At this point complexity enters. It will be remembered that Hon. A. G. MacKay laid down the proposition in relation to provincial action that the people of one part of the province should not be called upon to pay for the supplying of cheap power to those of another: in other words, that the operations of the hydro-electric must be carried on entirely at the cost of the municipalities interested. Mr. Beck was disposed to take an opposite view, but the premier quite properly declared that the province, while lending its credit tragedy of two weeks ago.

The tramp theory has broken down at every essential point, and it is no secret that the crown has conducted its investigations with the view that the crime, if crime it was, was confined to the circle of the Kinrade family. The horror of the tragedy has weighed heavily on the public mind for two weeks nearly, and the strain when all those immediately concerned upon all those immediately concerned with the administration or evasion of with the administration or evasion of justice has been so tense that any relief should prove welcome.

While the facts may be dreadful enough it is not so bad to contemplate the result of an act of mania, the deed of one semi-insane or semi-irresponsible, as to have to admit the possibility of sororicide, which the American newspaper correspondents so readnewspaper correspondents so readily did.

Events Analyzed.

As The World suggested yesterday the tragedy must have occurred after 1.25 p.m. when Gertrude Kinrade left for school. If the person who did the deed endeavored to prove an alibi the evidence given points quite clearly to the solution of the mystery.

The day in question was the third Thursday of the month, one of the "at home" days of the Kinrade family, a day on which ordinarily Mrs. Kinrade would have remained at home. She

Mrs. Kinrade was accustomed to lie down in the afternoon, but this day was an exception in this respect also. She swore she did not know whether she did on that day or not, and then said, "I think I was lying down thru

ALBERTA, March 15.—(Special.)—
The Edmonton provincial nominations passed off quietly to-day. Government nominees were placed in all 41 constituencies except Athabaska and Peace River, where elections are deferred. In 13 of these constituencies the Conservatives have no straight party nominees. Five seats have Independents in running, but only two of these are described as Conservatives, and of these Rice Sheppard, opposing Premier Rutherford in Strathcona, has admittedly a poor chance.

In St. Albert the contestants are both pledged to the government and there is no opposition candidate.

This assures the government nine seats without fighting, and several seats, such as the premier's, are a foregone conclusion, so that the return of the government is practically assured, they indeed claiming 33 seats.

The fight has been peculiar, inasmuch as there is no question at issue. The government's rallway policy has
