PRODUCE PRICES.

Hartland Observer:—During the last week there was quite a flurry in the potato market, and in Aroostook county the price doubled. Since things have quieted down and today local dealers are paying seventy-five cents and no one can make any safe conjecture for the future. Farmers may comfort themselves by recalling the year when the prevailing price was forty cents a barrel. Butter today is bringing thirty cents and eggs twenty-five cents; live yeal four cents and wool ten to twelve cents. PRODUCE PRICES.
