

They Wear Well Because They're Built Well

BOYS' SHOES

The kind that WEAR

We have boys of our own, so we know how hard it is to keep them shod with the ordinary play or school shoe. But this particular brand of boys' shoes is made just to stand that hard usage that only a boy, the red-blooded kind of youngster, can give footwear.

Only the very toughest cuts of the toughest leathers are used, and the findings, the linings, counters, threads, etc., are selected with this "hard wear" in mind.

We say these are "Boys' Shoes that Wear," and we ask that you let your boy put them to the test.

That Dealing With Russia's Downfall, "The Fall of the Romanoffs," at Lyric

The picture account of the history behind the startling revelations made through the United States War Office lately with regard to the treacherous relations between the former Czar and the Kaiser, is given in the notable film, "The Fall of the Romanoffs." This timely motion picture is the New Year's week feature at the Lyric Theatre.

In dealing with the story, the authors have revealed Russian history for the last fifteen or twenty years. The Russia of the time of the Romanoffs is shown, with its strange laws and their grip upon the common people. The coming and rise to power of Rasputin is shown, and the secrets of the mystic spell which he was able to wind around the Russian court, the influence he was able to bring to bear upon the puppet ruler, forms a fascinating and absorbing sketch.

Illustrious the former confidant of the Czar, and Rasputin appears himself in the picture. He was known as the "Mad Monk," and was able to assist in the exploding of Rasputin's influence, but was exiled for his part in the upsetting of the Czar's plans.

And then comes the revolution, followed by Kerensky's supremacy, and the retreat of the traitors on the battle line, and the struggle for life of the new Russian democracy. The Czarina's participation with her pro-German sentiments for a separate peace is vividly portrayed. The production is decidedly spectacular and very wonderful from many view points. It should be seen.

Evangelical meetings being held in the Charlotte Street Baptist church, West St. John, are being well attended. Professor Duffy, a high class baritone singer, sang several solos yesterday. Evangelist E. W. Kenyon preached at all services.

Mrs. Johnston was very popular, and who had spent many pleasant hours at her well known home, Johnston's Hotel. Personal friends were numerous, and general regret will be felt at the passing of this worthy woman. Of kindly manner, sunny ways and charitable disposition, she endeavored herself to all by whom she was known.

She is survived by five sons and two daughters. The sons are Ezekiel R. of Salmon Arm (B. C.); James H. of Sioux Lookout (Ont.); Crawford R. Guy P. Upper Roy G. of Upper Loch Lomond. The daughters are Mrs. Fred C. Cairns and Mrs. George T. McCafferty, of this city. One sister, Mrs. A. C. Geer, also survives.

P. E. ISLAND SERVICE

(Daily Telegraph.)

The service between the main land and Prince Edward Island needs the attention of the non higher up. The public knows that the demands of war freight have overloaded the I. C. R. It knows that railway passenger service has necessarily been curtailed to some extent owing to war conditions. It knows that the car-ferry terminals were unfinished when winter set in, and that some delay in daily operation is often unavoidable because of ice conditions.

In other words, the public makes allowance for conditions beyond control. But what the responsible ministers should ascertain on behalf of the public is what part of the present wretched service is due to bad judgment and incompetence, and is therefore susceptible of cure, and what part of it is due to causes at present beyond betterment.

To spend from twelve to seventeen hours on a journey from St. John to Charlottetown or from Charlottetown to St. John, with hours of waiting at junction points where no decent provision is made for the comfort of stalled passengers, is to realize fully what such a service means for women and children, or old folk, not to speak of ordinary citizens who harbor the old delusion that the purchase of a ticket means continuous and rapid progress to one's destination.

To the public's natural irritation over the nature of the service itself there is added quite unnecessarily—a sense of injustice and futility because there is not

"WE'VE HAD ENOUGH OF CONFEDERATION"

Change Your Manners if You Want it to Last, Says Le Soleil

Le Soleil of Quebec says:

"We have practiced conciliation since confederation. We have practiced it alone, however, to our detriment. To be duped has become a trade with us, for in our sincerity we have become the plaything of intransigent fakers. The hour is past when we can be made dupes of any longer. You have created a bloc against Quebec, but, contrary to your expectation, a French-Canadian bloc has also been created. This bloc exists, it required time to create it, and many exasperations to cement it, but it is solid and will endure."

"The verdict of Quebec as returned on Monday last merits the admiration of all because our competitors, in spite of many provocations, have given proof of wonderful wisdom. Not only did they sweep from the public life all those individuals who by the favor of the Nationalists in 1911 had deceived them, not only did they brush away all the candidates who represented the extremist point of view, viz., non-participation, but they elected a man who, in spite of the fact that he was a Quebecer, and in Sherbrooke the French-Canadians elected English or Irish members with one opinion and public rights. The public will put up with anything, or almost that, for a time; but there is a limit. Presumably there is some reason which transportation experts regard as imperative which starts a train from Charlottetown at six in the morning, and from St. John at a quarter to seven on one line and at seven on the other. The reason is not a Charlottetown reason in the one case or a St. John reason in the other. The railroad men may be right about it, but they may, on the other hand, be very wrong. The public's representatives, whose influence and whose knowledge of railroad services to the people should be more penetrating, will doubtless soon find time to review all these conditions. If they do, they will find that much of the trouble is not beyond remedy. Sometimes if relief is not prompt the patient dies. In this Island business there is need for speed, and for that resolute of the sort applied by men who are not always impressed by the assertion of subordinates that this or that is "impossible."

A SINNER'S PRAYER.

(By Eliza Hanson in Cartoons Magazine.)

One time when Representative Elston of California, was hunting up in the mountains of his native state, he encountered a mule driver, with his team stuck in the mud, who was the best two-fisted cuss that ever laid a lip to it. Cussing blue was nothing for him; he cursed all the colors of the rainbow, and did it harmoniously, too. Elston went on up the mountain wondering what a blackened person a man who would swear like that must be.

The following day a tree fell on a man in a near-by camp, and Elston went over to the hillside burial. No services had been arranged, not even a prayer. But when those in charge were about to lower into the grave the pine box in which the body reposed, and someone suggested that a few words be spoken, the cussing man stepped forward, removed his hat, and said:

"Lord, we are sending Thee another soul. Thou knowest the burdens it had to bear; be merciful."

That prayer stands today in Elston's opinion as one of the finest masterpieces of English it has been his privilege to hear.
