Corn, Flour, Provision,

And Greery Business,
ON STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLES, My past experience having led me to this conclusion. The man who buys for CASH should certainly have an advantage over the one who buys on Credit,—for then he has not to pay the bad debts made by credit sale.
So ting as I self for CASH ONEY, I shall have no losses for my customers to make up, and I am determined to allow you every advantage this should command, making it an object for you to purchase for money.
I shall buy for eash in the most advantageous variets, either personally or through reliable agents, and shall endeavor at all times to keep well-selected and varied stock on hand
