BLAMES CONSERVATIVES FOR ALL RAILWAY ILLS

E. M. Macdonald, M. P. for Pictou Has Another Fling at Meighan and Party.

Montreal, March 19.—The real responsibility for the present railway situation lies totally and solely at the doors of the Conservative party and, above all, at the doors of Mr. Meighan, who introduced all its legislation into Parliament in 1913, according to E. M. Macdonald, M. P. for Pictou, N. S., speaking at the Reform Club here Saturday, in an address dealing with the railway problem.

The speaker also ventilated the grievances of the Maritime Provinces in regard to the Intercolonial Railway and freight rates, reiterating the argument that it was a conditionally built railway in relation to Confederation and that the readjustment of rates upon any ordinary basis was unfair to easterners.

Gloucester Mayor Ordered To Trial

Charged That Mayor Wheeler Slandered the American International Race Committee

Gloucester, March 17.—Mayor Percy Wheeler has been ordered to stand trial on the charge that he slandered the American race committee in his inaugural reference to the manner in which the schooner Elita was equipped to compete in the international sailing vessel championship series last fall.

Judge J. O'Brien of Lynn denied motions by counsel for the mayor that the declaration be amended, that the whole matter be dismissed and that a plea in abatement be accepted. He directed that trial be at an early date, to be determined shortly. The committee based its allegation on statements attributed to the mayor that the Elita was equipped for the international race with a main boom longer than usual and with sails that belonged to another vessel.

Heart Taken Out Of Conference To Consider Economics

Europe, It Is Said, Cannot Recover Without Aid of United States.

Paris, March 19.—The absence of the United States from Genoa, together with the recent demand for adjustment of the expenses incurred by the American Army of Occupation, has caused a sensation in Europe. In view of these conditions the conference at Genoa is thus deprived of its chief interest, for it appears that no economic sanction of European reorganization can be attempted without American assistance.

Public opinion naturally seeks the motives which inspire the American Government to decline all co-operation, or, in other words, what are the facts between the lines of these official notes which culminate in an inactive role for the American Government.

If my information and recollections of America are correct, we must look for motives other than those expressed in diplomatic notes to find the real reasons for America's attitude. Everyone knows that after the Washington Conference the American Government intended to invoke other countries at Washington at which economic questions similar to those of the Genoa conference would be discussed.

Of course this would have occurred only after adequate guarantees had been obtained from the Germans and Russians. It was then believed that the American Government was far from inaugurating a policy of indifference toward the rest of the world; that, on the contrary, it was making ready to aid in the general reconstruction of nations which was considered vital to its own interests. This, if I am rightly informed, was in December or in January of this year. It was at this time, however, that the idea of the economic conference was developed at Genoa. I know well that the organizers of the conference for Genoa did all possible to encourage American participation. In order not to offend the United States nor clash with the political majority at that time the organizers made any possible concessions to the League of Nations. And in doing this they even forgot the Latin-American countries, which from the point of view of world reconstruction should be invited to co-operate.

GAY LIFE FOR TWO ENDED BY POISON

Massachusetts Institute of Technology Student Follows His Gay Companion.

Boston, March 18.—Death by poison ended the flight of Otto Eddler Larson, a senior at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from the gay party at which Pauline Virginia Clark, divorced, ended her life early last Thursday morning. His body was found today, in the Fenway, behind the Museum of Fine Arts. Apparently he had been dead only a short time.

He had been a frequent visitor at the expensively furnished Newbury Street apartment of Miss Clark, to whom his friends said he was deeply attached. Last Wednesday night he was one of the guests at a lively party there.

In the early hours of Thursday morning, Miss Clark, who had been laughing and drinking, suddenly collapsed and fell dead. It was found that she had taken poison. Larson, highly excited, seized the bottle in which some of the poison remained, ran from the apartment and notified a physician, who disappeared. No trace of him was discovered until his body was found today.

Two letters, signed by Larson, asserting that Miss Clark had long intended to commit suicide, and that Larson had supplied her with poison, were received by a Boston newspaper and medical examiner Magrath, several hours after his body was found. In the letter to the medical examiner Larson said that Miss Clark requested him, several weeks ago, to procure some poison for her in order that she might take her own life.

"I agreed to do this," the letter continued, "extracting from her the promise that she would not use it until her mother came home. She gave

Sealing Fleet Is Meeting Success On Its Voyage

Fifty Thousand Seals Killed During the First Week—Many Restrictions Removed.

St. John's, Nfld., March 19.—(By Canadian Press)—The first week of the Newfoundland sealing voyage has ended with excellent prospects for capacity trips, wireless reports saying 50,000 seals had been killed. During the last two years most of the restrictions surrounding this industry have been removed by the local authorities, with intent to make it as productive as possible and the catch take spring promises to enable the chief menhaden on Water street to recoup some of their losses of the last year or two.

This spring for the first time in the history of the seal fishery, airplanes have accompanied the Arctic fleet of the east coast, and have discovered the location of the main herd. The venture was carried out by Major Cotton, in a Martinique machine, and by Captain Bennett, in a Westland. Amongst those present when the great aggregation of seals was sighted was the ubiquitous movie man, who took thousands of feet of film pictures of the white coats at home. The aviators boarded some of the Newfoundland steam sealing fleet and found that most of the ships were doing well. They were so, however, in the main herd of seals, and the aviators refused them the information necessary to guide them there. The aviators wanted a good round sum for their information, but the owners of the ships refused their terms.

"I take the threat, though," said Mr. Guy, "as more in the light of a rallying cry to the members of the organization all over the country, and an attempt at recuperation of the order. However, we are not taking any chances, and will do everything in our power to protect Matthew Bullock."

Rev. Mr. Bullock, the father, is feeling very apprehensive over the Klan's threat to kidnap his son and smother him over the border into North Carolina. He is with his son constantly when the young man is off duty.

WANT REVISION OF HOLDING

Presumption That She Is Substitution of Crime, Under Which Acquired, Called Relic

London, March 18.—Spirited agitation has been started as the result of the decision by Justice Darling, in freeing Mrs. Violet Peel, for the revision of the ancient Saxon law of concealment which presumes that a woman concerned in crime in the presence of her husband acts by his coercion. Mrs. Peel under this law was acquitted on the charge of complicity of back-timing telegrams so as to place her on a horse race after the result was known to her and her husband, a charge of which her husband, Captain Oswald Peel, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment.

Lady Astor says the law is "perfectly ridiculous and out of date. It seems an demands sex equality in the political and professional world she Sergeant Detective Powers Arrives from Toronto With Grant, the Ex-Praecher.

Sergeant Detective Powers arrived in the city yesterday morning from Toronto with Alexander Grant in his custody on the charge of bigamy. Grant, who is thirty-nine years of age, was formerly a Presbyterian minister, and is alleged to have served a pastoral charge of three or four years at McAdam Junction. He is said to have married in Waukegan in 1912, and lived there with his wife until he went overseas with the Canadian forces.

On Feb. 23 he contracted his second marriage with a young girl in Canton whom he took to Toronto with him to live. The warrant was sworn out of the information of his first wife, who is living at St. Andrews. It is rumored that wife No. 1 secured a divorce from Grant across the border, but it is doubtful if such a divorce would be recognized by the Canadian courts.

Clergyman from Centerville Opened Evangelistic Campaign Services With Forceful Addresses.

Three striking and searching messages delivered by the Rev. Henry H. Bell, of Centerville, N. B., in the Tabernacle Baptist Church yesterday at the opening of the evangelistic campaign which he is conducting there this week.

At the morning service the speaker's message was an appeal for all to rally to their part in the task of God. His address "How to Regain Lost Power" to the Sunday school classes in the afternoon at which the attendance was the largest in the history of the school was founded on the story of Sampson.

English Won From Scottish

Three to None Was the Score in the Inter-League Match at Glasgow Saturday.

Glasgow, March 19.—The Inter-league match here Saturday when the English defeated the Scottish three to none, opened quietly, each side earnestly testing the other's goalkeeper. The fine work of the English halves spoiled several Scottish attacks; then the Englishmen got going, their forwards attacking in dazzling style. Chambers, the centre forward scored. The visitors now showed marked superiority in all departments and the Scottish defence proved unequal to the task of stemming their persistent and strenuous attacks. Smith, the English left wing, quickly added a second goal and at the interval the game stood England 2; Scotland 0.

With resumption of play, Scotland showed improvement, but they were pitted against a stonewall defence. Lucas, Wedderburn and Smith, the spurs night, were magnificent. With the addition of the third goal by Chambers, the game was as good as over, but the Scottish defence was harassed to the end of play.
