KINGSTON. Kingston, Kings county, Oct. 12—The Harvest supper and entertainment held in Kingston hall last Tucsday evening, passed off very successfully. The hall was well filled and even the most fastidious could not fail to feel satisfied with the repast set before them by the ladies of Kingston. After supper a well rendered programme was carried out, the Kingston Cornet Band astisting. During the evening spec-ial attention was paid to the grab-bag, and to the candy, ice cream and lemonadi-tables. The sum of $65.51 was realized. The Kingston Farmers' Institute, No. 23, was held in Kingston hall last Friday evening, and was fairly well attended. The president, Coptain William Shampier, first introduced T. G. Raynor, of Rose Hall (Ont), who gave a very interesting addres so on How to Build Up a Hend or Flock. After discussion on this subject, the presi-dent called on C. F. Alward, of Havelock, whose subject was How to Feed the Dairy whose subject was How to Feed the Dairy Cow, after which arcse a very lively dis-cussion on the advisability of establishing a cheese factory and creamery in Kingston.

The general feeling is that Kingston, The general feeling is that Kingston should have a creamery at once. Miss Henrietta Northrup left on Friday for Newport (R. I.), after spending be-tween three and four months at her old home in Kingston. Mrs. W. E. Scovil and granddaughter, Miss Fannie Fairweather, of Rothesay, are visiting friends in Kingston. Miss Flosse McLaughin, of Seattle, is visiting relatives here.

The temperance people here are beginning to think that the law is a farce for why convict a man and then allow him to go out on the road and peddle rum. The fishermen along Digby Neck and at Brier and Long Islands are very much in-terested in the oil business this season. Oil was manufactured and sold at Trout Ove thirty-five years ago. Owing to the high duty on oil going to the United States and the abundance of pure cod liver oil arriving from Norway, Dig'y county's oil business was not profitable enough to cause an excitement. It is now almost impossible for the big American firms to obtain Norway oil, and they are turning their attention to Nova Stotia. Some of the Digby county dealers are said turning their attention to nova space Some of the Digby county dealers are said to be making a small fortune. The fisher-men at Digby have been receiving from thirty to fifty cents per pail for livers, at Brier and Long Islands sixty cents, and Brier and Long Isla Brar and Long Hamiles sixty cents, and at Contreville the price was at one time eighty cents, brought about by competi-tion among the dealers. The oil is being manufactured at Westport, Trout Cove, Little River, Gulliver's Cove, and Digby and is bringing a big price in the United States. The death of Mrs. J. U. Thomas, which occurred at St. John Tuesday morning, has east a gloom over her large circle of friends in Digby, where she was born, and where she has spent many summers.

The sheering of logs behind islands at present available, should convince our St. John friends, that a dam to be used for the purposes of holding, sorting, and driv-ing logs, is an absolute necessity on this part of the river. The oldest inhabitant has never seen the water so low. in many as never seen the water so low, in man places the river can be crossed by te this unusual state of affairs, happening now year by year, can mean only one thing, and that is, that unless there is sufficient water to drive no logs can go t Fredericton and St. John, and it mean Fredericton and St. John, and it means also that Fredericton and St. John will no longer manufacture lumber. Difficulties are also being experienced in many other ways; here is a dam built across the Alle-gash river, a tributary of the St. John, turning the waters into the Pendissot, which of necessity must lower the supply of the St. John river. We read lately large drives getting into Bangor from dif-ferent branches of the Penobscot but for want of water St. John logs are held up; hat are St. John lumber men doing?
